Senate Approves Revised OPA Bill

Presidential Action Today Is Expected

Weary Senate Votes 53-26 To Send Measure To White House

TRUMAN PROBABLY WILL ACCEPT BILL

Price Control Foes Fire Fresh Broadsides At Night Session

WASHINGTON, Thursday, July 25 (AP) — A weary Senate passed the revised OPA bill early today and sent it to President Truman, who is expected to sign it later in the day.

The vote was 53 to 26.

The instant the president's signature makes the bill law, the rent and price ceilings in effect June 30 automatically will be restored except on meat, poultry, dairy products, grain, tobacco, petroleum and certain other items specifically exempt. The OPA, given another year to operate but restricted in its authority, will be prepared to issue some of its new orders by nightfall.

The Senate's approval, completing congressional action, was voted a few minutes after midnight (EST) after a late night session in which the foes of price controls fired fresh broadsides but held no hope of defeating the bill.

O'Daniel Assails Bill

Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex), who filibustered eight hours against the original extension measure which Mr. Truman vetoed, conceded that only "an act of God" could prevent passage of the new one. But he assailed it for two and a half hours.

After he sat down, Sens. Knowland (R-Calif) and Pepper (D-Fla) argued whether the president or Congress was to blame for the lapse of price controls on June 30. Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) protested at 10 p. m. that it was no time "for a speculative debate over who killed cock robin."

The White House announced that the president is set to act quickly, without disclosing what the action will be, and that he will accompany it with a message to Congress. But congressional leaders indicated the measure as it stands is acceptable to Mr. Truman and that he will sign it, and at least two other factors appeared to support the prediction:

Truman May Ask More Funds

1. A member of the House Appropriations committee told a reporter the president will request an additional $25,000,000 for the OPA and the request may be made in the message today. Congress voted $75,-

Arthur Gould, Former GOP Senator, Dies

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., July 24 (AP) — Arthur R. Gould, Republican United States senator from 1926 to 1930 and a pioneer industrialist of rich Aroostook county, died of heart disease at his home today. He was 89.

A self-made millionaire, Gould built hydro-electric plants and railroads that developed the county's lumber industry, powered and lighted its vast potato farms and carried the products to market.

But he admittedly was out of place in official Washington and called his four years in the Senate "a slave's life."

House Votes To "Freeze" Security Tax

Measure Would Prevent Automatic Rise To 2.5 Per Cent Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The House voted today to "freeze" the Social Security old age insurance tax at one per cent on employes' pay and employers' payrolls, preventing an automatic rise to 2.5 per cent against each on January 1.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, makes broad revisions in the Social Security act, including special benefits for veterans. The House decision was taken on a voice vote in which no "nays" were heard.

Cries Of "Gag" Arise

Amid cries of "gag," the House by a 163 to 82 ballot prohibited any amendments to the bill, thus defeating a drive by a group of southern members, led by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn), to increase in poorer states the federal payments to needy aged, blind and dependent children.

The same ban on amendments also blocked any attempt to tack the Townsend old age pension plan to the bill.

The measure:

1. Freezes the old age and survivors insurance tax for another year at one per cent. The Ways and Means committee, which wrote the bill, originally put the tax at 1.5 beginning January 1, but reversed itself and decided to keep the levy at the present level. A special staff of experts employed by Congress had advised that an increase of the tax to 1.5 per cent is necessary to keep the Social Security fund solvent.

Covers Maritime Workers

2. Gives the survivors insurance protection to families of World War II veterans, without cost, for three years.

3. Blankets 200,000 maritime workers under the Social Security unemployment compensation provisions. These workers have not been previously covered.

4. Increases from $20 a month to $25 the amount the federal government will put up to match state contributions for each needy aged person, blind person or dependent child. This makes the maximum amount a needy person can receive, under the 50-50 matching basis, $50 a month instead of the present $40.

The cost to the government of the new provisions including benefits to veterans was estimated by sponsors at slightly over $200,000,000.

PLANE ALMOST RAMS TALLEST BUILDING

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Empire State building officials said today that a twin-engined plane, thundering out of a heavy fog, narrowly missed ramming the 86th floor of the world's tallest building shortly before noon.

O. W. Young, district administrator for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said the plane involved was a United States Coast Guard Lockheed Lodestar, which landed at Floyd Bennett field at 11:52 a. m. after a flight from Washington.

The plane was reported to be based at Elizabeth, N. C.

Francis Powell, manager of the Empire State observatory, said the plane came from the northeast at 11:02 a. m.

"The pilot apparently saw the building in time," Powell said. "He banked steeply, coming within about 200 feet of the terrace here on the roof and leveled off down Fifth avenue."

Flier Is Convicted Of Branding Girl During 17-Hour Hotel Orgy

BOSTON, July 24. (AP)—Lt. Thomas Farrell, 25, decorated army flier, today was convicted of branding 18-year-old Helen Stavrou with lighted cigarets and a razor blade during a 17-hour orgy in a Boston hotel room.

Standing erect in the dock, Farrell displayed no emotion as the Suffolk superior court jury announced its verdict. He walked out smoking a cigaret, under $10,000 cash bail to await sentencing next Monday.

Miss Stavrou, former airfield typist who bared her breasts during the five weeks trial to show an all-male jury her scars, watched the final proceedings from a door way of an attorneys ante room in the side of the court room. Just after the verdicts were announced, she burst into tears and slumped into a chair with her head on a table.

Farrell, veteran of 35 air missions in the Pacific, was convicted specifically on three counts of assault and battery with cigaret and razor blade with intent to "maim, cripple and disfigure." He was acquitted on two other counts—indecent asault and committing unnatural acts. Convictions on the assault counts make him liable for up to 40 years in state prison, court officials said.

Wearing his army uniform decorated with four battle stars, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal, Farrell was confident on acquittal up until the moment the jury returned and jokingly told newsmen that he hoped to spend his vacation this summer at Hampton Beach, popular New Hampshire resort.

Defense Counsel Herbert F. Callahan announced that he would file a motion for a new trial. During a brief discussion at the bench just before court recessed, Callahan made a plea for leniency for Farrell on grounds that the Stavrou girl "collaborated" in any acts that might have been committed.

Assistant District Attorney Edward M. Sullivan, who directed the prosecution, demanded a "substantial state prison" sentence for the army pilot.

President Asks For Funds To Pay Terminal Leave

Truman, Anticipating Passage Of Bill, Requests $2,679,493,000

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Anticipating congressional passage of the terminal leave pay bill, President Truman acted today to place the estimated $2,679,493,000 of cash or bonds in the veteran's hands without delay.

He requested an appropriation of that amount in a special message to congress, indicating that he hopes it may be provided before Congress adjourns.

A White House anouncement explained that "the request was submitted before final passage of the bill in order to give Appropriations committees as much time as possible to consider it."

Bills authorizing terminal leave pay to enlisted men already discharged and to those still in service rolled through both the House and Senate without a single vote recorded in opposition, although some congressmen criticized the proposal.

Confrees Study Bills

They were sent to a Senate-House conference during the day for an adjustment of differences. The conferees expect to work out the final draft by the end of this week.

The principal difference is a provision adopted by the Senate at the administration's request providing for most of the payments to be made in bonds which may not be cashed for five years after the veteran's discharge. House conferees said they will seek to eliminate this plan and provide for cash payments.

The text of the white house announcement follows:

"The president today submitted to Congress a request for an appropriation of $2,679,493,000 to provide for the payment of terminal leave to enlisted members of the armed forces discharged prior to September 1, 1946.

"The request was submitted before final passage of the bill in order to give Appropriations committees as much time as possible to consider it. The estimate is based on the measure as passed by the Senate, which provides lump sum payments in the form of cash and bonds to enlisted men for leave accrued at the rate of two and one-half lays for each month of service, less actual leave taken. Payments are limited to a maximum of 120 days leave.

Average Payments To Be $165

"It was indicated that the average payment will approximate $165, the actual amount depending on length of service, leave taken in service, and pay grade at discharge.

"The Senate bill provides for cash payments to enlisted men discharged prior to January 1, 1943, as well as to those discharged after that date when the amount due is less

British White Paper Accuses Jewish Agency

By ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, July 24 (AP) — A British white paper tonight charged leaders of the Jewish Agency for Palestine with ordering underground acts of violence in a carefully-planned program of sabotage which forced the British government to take firm measures.

The 10-page document, presented by the colonial secretary to Parliament, said evidence gleaned from intercepted communications showed that Hagana, a huge Jewish underground organization, and its permanent military arm, known as Palmach, worked under political control of prominent Jewish Agency members in the program of violence in Palestine carried out "under the guise of the Jewish resistance movement."

Since last autumn, the government charged, the lesser underground organizations — the Irgun Zvai Leumi and the extreme Stern Gang which originated as dissident Jewish factions — worked in co-operation with Hagana's high command on certain of such operations.

A spokesman for the Jewish Agency in London said the Jews had no immediate comment.

The government said the intercepted telegrams linked the Jewish leaders, Moshe Shertok, Bernard Joseph, David Ben Gurion and others with armed attacks by the three Jewish "illegal para-military organizations," Hagana, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern gang.

This material was detailed, the document said, not as a complete statement of all the evidence in possession of the British government, but as showing the basis of British counter-measures late last

Russia Rejects Atom Proposals Offered By U. S.

Gromyko Reiterates Demand For U.N. Security Council Control

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP)—Soviet Russia today flatly rejected the principal points of the United States plan for global supervision of atomic energy and reiterated a demand that full control be vested in the United Nations Security Council, where five powers hold the right to veto.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, categorically refused to accept the proposals of Bernard M. Baruch, United States delegate, for elimination of the veto in atomic matters and for setting up an atomic development authority outside the council.

"Dangerous" Move

In discussing a United Nations memorandum which outlined these and other points, Gromyko declared:

"The United States proposals in their present form cannot be accepted in any way by the Soviet Union either as a whole or in separate parts."

Regarding the veto, Gromyko said:

"I should like to make again clear the position of the Soviet Union that we cannot accept any proposals that would undermine in any degree the principle of the unanimity of the permanent members in the maintenance of peace and security."

He then noted that it would be dangerous and maybe fatal to undermine this principle.

Soviet Newsman Denounces FBI's Redin Case Role

By REMBERT JAMES

MOSCOW, July 24 (AP) — Soviet Jouranlist David Zaslavsky assailed the Federal Bureau of Investigation today as the "American secret police," and charged that its prosecution of the Lt. Nicolai Redin spy case was "a criminal conspiracy" aimed at injuring Soviet-American relations.

Zaslavsky, writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, said the handling of the case by the FBI smacked of the dread czarist Okhrana (secret police) "which resorted to forgery, provocation and perjury."

Redin was acquitted July 17 in Seattle of espionage charges.

Another "Hierarchy"

Journalist Ilya Ehrenburg, writing in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, told the Russian people that "America, which never knew feudalism, has established another hierarchy—a racial one." Continuing a presentation of his impressions of his recent visit to the United States, he said Americans had a caste system "entirely unofficial in the case of Jews, Italians and Chinese, but legalized in the case of negroes."

Zaslavsky's article angrily attacked FBI Chief Edgar Hoover "and his accomplices" for the conduct of the Redin case.

"This conspiracy of secret police and bandits had as its goal the infringement of those friendly relations which the American and Soviet peoples had during the war against the common enemy and

Coffee Will Present His Case At Public Hearings Next Week

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The Senate War Investigating committee arranged today to hear Rep. May (D-Ky) explain on Friday his wartime aid for munitions combine, and simultaneously ordered public hearings next week on Rep. Coffee's (D-Wash) acknowledged receipt of $2,500 from a defense contractor.

Committee Counsel George Meader said that the "arrangements" for May's appearance were made through the Kentucky legislator's counsel, and that Coffee himself had asked for a "full and complete" inquiry in his case.

Coffee has described the $2,500 as a campaign contribution and has said that the Department of Justice has cleared him of any wrongdoing.

Both committee announcements came at the close of a 90-minute session behind closed doors during which the committee agreed to ask the Senate for an additional $65,000 to expand its hunt for corruption in the nation's unprecedented wartime expenditures.

No "Strings" Mentioned

Asked directly whether there were "any strings tied" to the arrangement for May to testify, Meader said that Warren Magee, May's counsel, "didn't mention any, and we didn't agree to any."

May, chairman of the House Military committee, on three previous occasions, has insisted that he be given the right to have his attorney at his side with the power to call

Army Investigates Theft Of Oriental Coins Worth $50,000

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The War department reported tonight that the army's provost marshal general was investigating the theft of gold coins in the Orient valued at more than $50,000.

Two army officers are under investigation, a brief announcement said.

The coins were described as "Oriental" and the theft took place in the Pacific theater. It was disclosed, but other details were withheld.

Col. James R. Pierce, deputy chief of the bureau of public relations, said that "additional facts will be released just as soon as their release will not jeopardize the case."

Fire, Smoke, Steam Rise From Lagoon

AP Writer Aboard Plane Describes Atomic Bomb Explosion

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer
For The Combined American Press

ABOARD B-29 "THE VOICE" OVER BIKINI LAGOON, Thursday, July 25 (AP)—The fantastic power and heat of the world's fifth atomic bomb churned Bikini lagoon into a caldron of flame, smoke and steam today, pitched battleships about like toy boats, but failed to sink most of the capital ships arrayed in the death circle nearest the bomb.

From this plane it was impossible to locate the old battleship Arkansas. She is the only capital ship missing in the target array one hour after the blast. It apparently took less than 20 minutes for the Arkansas to go down. Somewhere between the time the atomic bomb burst and the water and mist was sent spiraling into the sky, the Arkansas disappeared.

Obviously she was badly hurt to sink in 20 minutes or less—if she is indeed sunk. But the miracle to those who watched was that so many of the ships stood up under the blast that was equal to about 60,000 depth charges weighing 600 pounds each.

Carrier Queen Listing

The queen of the carriers, the Saratoga, appeared to be listing but she was still afloat, along with the light carrier Independence, the battleship New York, and the cruisers Pensacola and Salt Lake City.

Crew members aboard our plane gave great cheers when the mists cleared and showed the ships still standing.

For more than 20 minutes the entire fleet had been blotted from view.

Though most of the ships are still afloat, many may have their hulls opened and may be in a sinking condition as this is written, so it is still too early to reach any definite conclusions about the effectiveness of the underwater burst.

Mighty waves rose with the blast in the center of the lagoon, but they did not roll over Bikini island.

In fact, from this ship it looked as though the waves were only two to three feet high when they reached Bikini.

The great dirty mushroom of atomic cloud rose a few thousand feet over the water, but it did not soar into the heavens like the columns from the New Mexico, Hiroshima, or Nagasaki blasts.

Clouds Of Steam And Spray

Ten minutes after the detonation, clouds of steam and spray hung over the lagoon in a wide blanket. Following the first column of water, a mushroom was formed, but

SHAW BELIEVES PEOPLE CAN LIVE TO BE 300

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw believes that people "can and should" live to be at least 300 years old, "the necessary span of a worthwhile human life."

The Irish-born dramatist gave his views on longevity on the eve of his ninetieth birthday (Friday) in an interview with Hayden Church, of the Saturday Review of Literature, at his home at Ayot St. Lawrence, Hertfordshire, England. The interview is published in this week's issue of the Review.

A life-time of three centuries is essential for "political maturity," said Shaw.

"Death is not to be regarded as natural and inevitable," Shaw said. "We die because we do not know how to live, and kill ourselves by lethal habits. Mortality should be confined to murder, suicide and fatal accidents."

Underwater Blast Sinks Four Vessels

Saratago, Arkansas, Oil Barge And LST Are Sent To Bottom

JAPANESE WARSHIP IS BADLY DAMAGED

Many Of Spectacular Events Expected Of Bomb Fail To Occur

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN OFF BIKINI, Thursday, July 25, (AP)—The roaring blast of an atomic bomb, exploded underwater for the first time, sank the great battleship Arkansas and two smaller craft in breathless moments today and dealt mortal wounds to the gigantic aircraft carrier Saratoga.

Broadcasts from the scene said the Saratoga took her final plunge more than seven hours after the bombs exploded at 8:35 a. m., Thursday, Bikini time—(4:35 p. m., Wednesday, Eastern Standard Time.)

The bomb, touched off by radio from beneath a medium landing ship, sent a massive column of water hurtling more than a mile into the blue Pacific sky, and a thick, obscuring cloud of spray and steam that rose to 9,000 feet.

"Sara's" Stack Crushed

Behind that curtain, the Arkansas, a concrete oil barge and a tank-landing ship simply vanished. Others of the 75 ships in the target array in the shallow Bikini lagoon appeared to stand the blast surprisingly well, but as observers drew nearer, they saw that the Saratoga was going down, slowly but steadily, emitting smoke and steam, with her heavy stack crushed; that the Japanese battleship Nagato was listing, as were the battleship New York, the carrier Independence, the destroyer Hughes and the Transport Fallon.

Attempts by two tugs to save the Saratoga by beaching were thwarted by the deadly radiation of the lagoon's waters.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, task force commander, said in his first official report on this second test of an atomic bomb against a fleet that the aircraft carrier Saratoga and the Japanese battleship Nagato had been damaged but other surveys of damage could not be made because it was impossible yet to enter the radioactive waters of Bikini lagoon.

USS New York Down Astern

The battleship New York was down two feet astern and the transport Fallon was listing.

Intense radioactivity in the lagoon's waters was indicated by a

King Juda Sees Blast; Mutters "Big Boom"

ABOARD USS MT. McKINLEY, Thursday, July 25 (AP)—King Juda, of Bikini, witnessed today's atomic bombing of his one-time home lagoon from the topmost deck of this ship and muttered "Big boom!"

The phlegmatic Marshall island native, whose tribe was moved to new homes on Rongerik, looked long through his binoculars, shook his head at his inability to see much but steam clouds, and remarked to an interpreter, "Too far away."

Then, impassively and with absolutely no show of emotion, he turned away.

Major Shuffling Of President's Economic Command Is Imminent

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — A major shuffling of President Truman's economic command is in immediate prospect.

High officials forecast that the president would shift the Office of Economic Stabilization, lately run by Chester Bowles, into the Office of Reconversion Director John R. Steelman. Bowles so recommended when he resigned.

The White House said Mr. Truman hopes to make tomorrow his long-delayed appointment of the three-man Economic Council. It was created by the Employment act and intended to steer the country toward long-range full production, employment and purchasing power.

Privately, administration officials named the following persons as Mr. Truman's tentative choices for the $15,000 jobs on the council:

Winfield W. Riefler, economist, during the war the United States minister to Britain in charge of economic warfare activities.

John D. Clark, former lawyer and director of several businesses, now dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska.

Leon H. Keyserling, general counsel of the National Housing Agency.

Mr. Truman will have three other important selections to make if the pending OPA bill becomes law—and quickly. This is the three-member decontrol board with authority to decide whether major commodities shall come under price control.

Acquisition of the stabilization power would make Steelman top policy man over OPA and the National Wage Stabilization Board. However, Steelman reportedly plans to assign to OPA Administrator Paul Porter as much control over price policy as is consistent with the limitations imposed on OPA by the bill.

House conferees said they will seek to eliminate this plan and provide for cash payments.

The text of the white house announcement follows:

"The president today submitted to Congress a request for an appropriation of $2,679,493,000 to provide for the payment of terminal leave to enlisted members of the armed forces discharged prior to September 1, 1946.

"The request was submitted before final passage of the bill in order to give Appropriations committees as much time as possible to consider it. The estimate is based on the measure as passed by the Senate, which provides lump sum payments in the form of cash and bonds to enlisted men for leave accrued at the rate of two and one-half days for each month of service, less actual leave taken. Payments are limited to a maximum of 120 days leave.

Average Payments To Be $165

"It was indicated that the average payment will approximate $165, the actual amount depending on length of service, leave taken in service, and pay grade at discharge.

"The Senate bill provides for cash payments to enlisted men discharged prior to January 1, 1943, as well as to those discharged after that date when the amount due is less

British White Paper Accuses Jewish Agency

By ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, July 24 (AP) — A British white paper tonight charged leaders of the Jewish Agency for Palestine with ordering underground acts of violence in a carefully-planned program of sabotage which forced the British government to take firm measures.

The 10-page document, presented by the colonial secretary to Parliament, said evidence gleaned from intercepted communications showed that Hagana, a huge Jewish underground organization, and its permanent military arm, known as Palmach, worked under political control of prominent Jewish Agency members in the program of violence in Palestine carried out "under the guise of the Jewish resistance movement."

Since last autumn, the government charged, the lesser underground organizations — the Irgun Zvai Leumi and the extreme Stern Gang which originated as dissident Jewish factions — worked in co-operation with Hagana's high command on certain of such operations.

A spokesman for the Jewish Agency in London said the Jews had no immediate comment.

The government said the intercepted telegrams linked the Jewish leaders, Moshe Shertok, Bernard Joseph, David Ben Gurion and others with armed attacks by the three Jewish "illegal para-military organizations," Hagana, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern gang.

This material was detailed, the document said, not as a complete statement of all the evidence in possession of the British government, but as showing the basis of British counter-measures late last

Flier Is Convicted Of Branding Girl During 17-Hour Hotel Orgy

BOSTON, July 24. (AP)—Lt. Thomas Farrell, 25, decorated army flier, today was convicted of branding 18-year-old Helen Stavrou with lighted cigarets and a razor blade during a 17-hour orgy in a Boston hotel room.

Standing erect in the dock, Farrell displayed no emotion as the Suffolk superior court jury announced its verdict. He walked out smoking a cigaret, under $10,000 cash bail to await sentencing next Monday.

Miss Stavrou, former airfield typist who bared her breasts during the five weeks trial to show an all-male jury her scars, watched the final proceedings from a door way of an attorneys ante-room in the side of the court room. Just after the verdicts were announced, she burst into tears and slumped into a chair with her head on a table.

Farrell, veteran of 35 air missions in the Pacific, was convicted specifically on three counts of assault and battery with cigaret and razor blade with intent to "maim, cripple and disfigure." He was acquitted on two other counts—indecent asault and committing unnatural acts. Convictions on the assault counts make him liable for up to 40 years in state prison, court officials said.

Wearing his army uniform decorated with four battle stars, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal, Farrell was confident on acquittal up until the moment the jury returned and jokingly told newsmen that he hoped to spend his vacation this summer at Hampton Beach, popular New Hampshire resort.

Defense Counsel Herbert F. Callahan announced that he would file a motion for a new trial. During a brief discussion at the bench just before court recessed, Callahan made a plea for leniency for Farrell on grounds that the Stavrou girl "collaborated" in any acts that might have been committed.

Assistant District Attorney Edward M. Sullivan, who directed the prosecution, demanded a "substantial state prison" sentence for the army pilot.

Russia Rejects Atom Proposals Offered By U. S.

Gromyko Reiterates Demand For U.N. Security Council Control

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP)—Soviet Russia today flatly rejected the principal points of the United States plan for global supervision of atomic energy and reiterated a demand that full control be vested in the United Nations Security Council, where five powers hold the right to veto.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, categorically refused to accept the proposals of Bernard M. Baruch, United States delegate, for elimination of the veto in atomic matters and for setting up an atomic development authority outside the council.

"Dangerous" Move

In discussing a United Nations memorandum which outlined these and other points, Gromyko declared:

"The United States proposals in their present form cannot be accepted in any way by the Soviet Union either as a whole or in separate parts."

Regarding the veto, Gromyko said:

"I should like to make again clear the position of the Soviet Union that we cannot accept any proposals that would undermine in any degree the principle of the unanimity of the permanent members in the maintenance of peace and security."

He then noted that it would be dangerous and maybe fatal to undermine this principle.

Under the United Nations Charter, Russia, the United States, Great

Soviet Newsman Denounces FBI's Redin Case Role

By REMBERT JAMES

MOSCOW, July 24 (AP) — Soviet Jouranlist David Zaslavsky assailed the Federal Bureau of Investigation today as the "American secret police," and charged that its prosecution of the Lt. Nicolai Redin spy case was "a criminal conspiracy" aimed at injuring Soviet-American relations.

Zaslavsky, writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, said the handling of the case by the FBI smacked of the dread czarist Okhrana (secret police) "which resorted to forgery, provocation and perjury."

Redin was acquitted July 17 in Seattle of espionage charges.

Another "Hierarchy"

Journalist Ilya Ehrenburg, writing in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, told the Russian people that "America, which never knew feudalism, has established another hierarchy—a racial one." Continuing a presentation of his impressions of his recent visit to the United States, he said Americans had a caste system "entirely unofficial in the case of Jews, Italians and Chinese, but legalized in the case of negroes."

Zaslavsky's article angrily attacked FBI Chief Edgar Hoover "and his accomplices" for the conduct of the Redin case.

"This conspiracy of secret police and bandits had as its goal the infringement of those friendly relations which the American and Soviet peoples had during the war against the common enemy and

Coffee Will Present His Case At Public Hearings Next Week

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The Senate War Investigating committee arranged today to hear Rep. May (D-Ky) explain on Friday his wartime aid for munitions combine, and simultaneously ordered public hearings next week on Rep. Coffee's (D-Wash) acknowledged receipt of $2,500 from a defense contractor.

Committee Counsel George Meader said that the "arrangements" for May's appearance were made through the Kentucky legislator's counsel, and that Coffee himself had asked for a "full and complete" inquiry in his case.

Coffee has described the $2,500 as a campaign contribution and has said that the Department of Justice has cleared him of any wrongdoing.

Both committee announcements came at the close of a 90-minute session behind closed doors during which the committee agreed to ask the Senate for an additional $65,000 to expand its hunt for corruption in the nation's unprecedented wartime expenditures.

No "Strings" Mentioned

Asked directly whether there were "any strings tied" to the arrangement for May to testify, Meader said that Warren Magee, May's counsel, "didn't mention any, and we didn't agree to any."

May, chairman of the House Military committee, on three previous occasions, has insisted that he be given the right to have his attorney at his side with the power to call

Army Investigates Theft Of Oriental Coins Worth $50,000

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The War department reported tonight that the army's provost marshal general was investigating the theft of gold coins in the Orient valued at more than $50,000.

Two army officers are under investigation, a brief announcement said.

The coins were described as "Oriental" and the theft took place in the Pacific theater, it was disclosed, but other details were withheld.

Col. James R. Pierce, deputy chief of the bureau of public relations, said that "additional facts will be released just as soon as their release will not jeopardize the case."

Fire, Smoke, Steam Rise From Lagoon

AP Writer Aboard Plane Describes Atomic Bomb Explosion

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer
For The Combined American Press

ABOARD B-29 "THE VOICE" OVER BIKINI LAGOON, Thursday, July 25 (AP)—The fantastic power and heat of the world's fifth atomic bomb churned Bikini lagoon into a caldron of flame, smoke and steam today, pitched battleships about like toy boats, but failed to sink most of the capital ships arrayed in the death circle nearest the bomb.

From this plane it was impossible to locate the old battleship Arkansas. She is the only capital ship missing in the target array one hour after the blast. It apparently took less than 20 minutes for the Arkansas to go down. Somewhere between the time the atomic bomb burst and the water and mist was sent spiraling into the sky, the Arkansas disappeared.

Obviously she was badly hurt to sink in 20 minutes or less—if she is indeed sunk. But the miracle to those who watched was that so many of the ships stood up under the blast that was equal to about 60,000 depth charges weighing 600 pounds each.

Carrier Queen Listing

The queen of the carriers, the Saratoga, appeared to be listing but she was still afloat, along with the light carrier Independence, the battleship New York, and the cruisers Pensacola and Salt Lake City.

Crew members aboard our plane gave great cheers when the mists cleared and showed the ships still standing.

For more than 20 minutes the entire fleet had been blotted from view.

Though most of the ships are still afloat, many may have their hulls opened and may be in a sinking condition as this is written, so it is still too early to reach any definite conclusions about the effectiveness of the underwater burst.

Mighty waves rose with the blast in the center of the lagoon, but they did not roll over Bikini island.

In fact, from this ship it looked as though the waves were only two to three feet high when they reached Bikini.

The great dirty mushroom of atomic cloud rose a few thousand feet over the water, but it did not soar into the heavens like the columns from the New Mexico, Hiroshima, or Nagasaki blasts.

Clouds Of Steam And Spray

Ten minutes after the detonation, clouds of steam and spray hung over the lagoon in a wide blanket.

Following the first column of water, a mushroom was formed, but

SHAW BELIEVES PEOPLE CAN LIVE TO BE 300

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw believes that people "can and should" live to be at least 300 years old, "the necessary span of a worthwhile human life."

The Irish-born dramatist gave his views on longevity on the eve of his ninetieth birthday (Friday) in an interview with Hayden Church, of the Saturday Review of Literature, at his home at Ayot St. Lawrence, Hertfordshire, England. The interview is published in this week's issue of the Review.

A life-time of three centuries is essential for "political maturity," said Shaw.

"Death is not to be regarded as natural and inevitable," Shaw said. "We die because we do not know how to live, and kill ourselves by lethal habits. Mortality should be confined to murder, suicide and fatal accidents."

Underwater Blast Sinks Four Vessels

Saratago, Arkansas, Oil Barge And LST Are Sent To Bottom

JAPANESE WARSHIP IS BADLY DAMAGED

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN OFF BIKINI, Thursday, July 25. (AP)—The roaring blast of an atomic bomb, exploded underwater for the first time, sank the great battleship Arkansas and two smaller craft in breathless moments today and dealt mortal wounds to the gigantic aircraft carrier Saratoga.

(Broadcasts from the scene said the Saratoga took her final plunge more than seven hours after the bombs exploded at 8:35 a. m., Thursday, Bikini time—(4:35 p. m., Wednesday, Eastern Standard Time.)

The bomb, touched off by radio from beneath a medium landing ship, sent a massive column of water hurtling more than a mile into the blue Pacific sky, and a thick, obscuring cloud of spray and steam that rose to 9,000 feet.

"Sara's" Stack Crushed

Behind that curtain, the Arkansas, a concrete oil barge and a tank-landing ship simply vanished. Others of the 75 ships in the target array in the shallow Bikini lagoon appeared to stand the blast surprisingly well, but as observers drew nearer, they saw that the Saratoga was going down, slowly but steadily, emitting smoke and steam, with her heavy stack crushed; that the Japanese battleship Nagato was listing, as were the battleship New York, the carrier Independence, the destroyer Hughes and the Transport Fallon.

Attempts by two tugs to save the Saratoga by beaching were thwarted by the deadly radiation of the lagoon's waters.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, task force commander, said in his first official report on this second test of an atomic bomb against a fleet that the aircraft carrier Saratoga and the Japanese battleship Nagato had been damaged but other surveys of damage could not be made because it was impossible yet to enter the radioactive waters of Bikini lagoon.

USS New York Down Astern

The battleship New York was down two feet astern and the transport Fallon was listing.

King Juda Sees Blast; Mutters "Big Boom"

ABOARD USS MT. McKINLEY, Thursday, July 25 (AP)—King Juda, of Bikini, witnessed today's atomic bombing of his one-time home lagoon from the topmost deck of this ship and muttered "Big boom!"

The phlegmatic Marshall island native, whose tribe was moved to new homes on Rongerik, looked long through his binoculars, shook his head at his inability to see much but steam clouds, and remarked to an interpreter, "Too far away."

Then, impassively and with absolutely no show of emotion, he turned away.

Major Shuffling Of President's Economic Command Is Imminent

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — A major shuffling of President Truman's economic command is in immediate prospect.

High officials forecast that the president would shift the Office of Economic Stabilization, lately run by Chester Bowles, into the Office of Reconversion Director John R. Steelman. Bowles so recommended when he resigned.

The White House said Mr. Truman hopes to make tomorrow his long-delayed appointment of the three-man Economic Council. It was created by the Employment act and intended to steer the country toward long-range full production, employment and purchasing power.

Privately, administration officials named the following persons as Mr. Truman's tentative choices for the $15,000 jobs on the council:

Winfield W. Riefler, economist, during the war the United States minister to Britain in charge of economic warfare activities.

Leon H. Keyserling, general counsel of the National Housing Agency.

Mr. Truman will have three other important selections to make if the pending OPA bill becomes law—and quickly. This is the three-member decontrol board with authority to decide whether major commodities shall come under price control.

Acquisition of the stabilization power would make Steelman top policy man over OPA and the National Wage Stabilization Board. However, Steelman reportedly plans to assign to OPA Administrator Paul Porter as much control over price policy as is consistent with the limitations imposed on OPA by the bill.

President Signs Bills Providing Water Projects

Signal For Starting $2,000,000,000 Program Will Be Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Two bills authorizing about $2,000,000,000 in flood control, navigation and water power projects were signed today by President Truman but he emphasized he would be slow to signal for a start on the work.

Funds have not been set up for the projects and Mr. Truman said he would request none this fiscal year. He took the bills as primarily to help plan future programs with "no expectation of early appropriations."

Furthermore, the president said in a statement, the new projects offer "many unanswered questions." He won't approve their fund allocations, he said, until they are answered and all federal agencies concerned are agreed on technical features involved.

Observing that the government now has "a shelf of projects that will take us many years to complete," the president said "the program must be re-examined annually" as to current costs and economic merits.

"Financing, whenever made, must be based on budgetary requirements for that period," Mr. Truman said. He repeated his recent declaration that federal expenditures "will be reduced and deferrable construction and public works projects using federal funds will be studied with a view to saving strategic materials and to diminishing inflationary pressures."

Today's authorizations add substantially to the projected construction under jurisdiction of the War department, Mr. Truman noted. He estimated they will pile up waiting river improvement work under that department to about $5,000,000,000.

Underwater Blast

fast destroyer which went inside, within less than a mile of the target center, then turned and rushed out at high speed.

However, planes circling overhead came down within 3,000 feet two hours after the explosion, indicating it was safe at that altitude.

The battleship Arkansas, which like the "Sara" had been placed near the bomb, had vanished when Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead looked down through the clearing mists from an observation plane. Blandy later confirmed that she was sunk.

The only other major ship that appeared to be hurt, Blandy said, was the Nagato, which was listing slightly.

It appeared from this ship that the carrier Independence, which like the Nagato was about a mile from the explosion, also had developed a list.

It was impossible to determine whether the tremendous underwater shock or the terrible impact of the falling tons of water had done this violence.

While Blandy said there was no reason to doubt the efficiency of the first atomic bomb ever detonated under water, the fact remains that many of the spectacular events expected of it did not occur.

No 100-Foot Waves

There was a thunderous roar when it let go, but there were, for instance, no 100-foot waves and the atomic geyser which shot up above the explosion came nowhere near the top predicted altitude of three miles.

The highest waves were 10 feet, not enough even to wash over low Bikini although a nearby islet was engulfed briefly.

Blandy said that at least two of six submerged submarines, whose sturdy hulls had been expected to crack like nutshells under the shock, could be seen from the air, still in their proper submerged position.

Two other submarines, the Parche and the Skate, left on the surface, were still afloat.

Likewise still riding in position were the battleships Pennsylvania, New York and Nevada—the latter the battered bullseye of the mid-air A-bomb explosion July 1.

Troop transports two miles from the explosion were not much hurt and possibly were undamaged. Even those closer in, with their thin hulls, rode serenely.

Many observers aboard the Appalachian reported feeling an underwater shock from the bomb. Others said they felt no shock whatever.

Those who felt it said the shock was less than from ordinary depth charges at considerable distances. They said there were two shocks in close succession. The second would have been an echo of the blast striking the bottom of the lagoon or a later wave circling out through the lagoon entrance.

Planes Check Lethal Rays

Nearly an hour and a half after the explosion, planes were over the lagoon at low altitude checking on the amount of lethal rays rising from the water. Drone boats were picking up water samples.

The atomic mist cloud still was faintly visible, slightly pink, in the distance. It had drifted about 20 miles away from the explosion and probably was not much more than a mile high.

The cloud was formed from a white water column which rose a half-mile wide from the churning waters of the lagoon with the explosion.

The column shot up with incredible speed for nearly a mile, and then started to mushroom to two miles at the top with millions of stalactites of spray hanging down and plunging toward the sea.

As seen across ten miles of sea, these streamers were momentarily a light pink near the tips.

The steam base of the waterspout spread over the entire target fleet in less than a minute—a half-mile high and pure white.

It spread faster than the waves, and the target ships did not appear to move as the misty curtain fell on all except the battleship New York.

Bow on to the press ship, the New York visibly began to careen to starboard. Then the fog hid her.

Waves were still small when they reached the beach.

The total height of the white water and mist cloud was mostly hidden behind natural clouds.

The mist of the clouds lost its whiteness after five minutes and began coming down as slightly dun-colored fog.

The cloud height in one minute and 12 seconds after the blast was 7,800 feet high. The greatest height at two and a half minutes was about 8,400 feet.

The water descended in the form of haze which turned slightly brown as seen from the angle of the Appalachian. One after another each of the big target ships ap- [illegible] of the [illegible] ist.

Conferees Agree On Death Penalty For Violations Of Atomic Security

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Over the protests of scientists, Senate-House conferees agreed today on a death penalty for atomic energy workers who reveal secrets purposedly to damage the nation.

The conferees, working out a bill for domestic atomic energy controls from differing measures passed by the Senate and House, agreed at the same time to modify a House provision which would require the FBI to check on the workers' loyalty.

Still to be hurdled are the major points of difference—involving the issuance of patents and the extent of military representation in the control organization.

After a two-hour session Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), spokesman for the conferees and head of the special Senate comittee that wrote the original bill, told reporters he hopes a final agreement on all differences will be reached tomorrow.

McMahon said the military versus civilian control issue was discussed without a decision. It involves the Senate proposal for a control commission of five civilians and the House's insistence that at least one commissioner be a member of the armed forces.

The agreement on the death penalty was a victory for the House conferees. The Senate had set the maximum penalty for intentional secrecy violations at 20 years' imprisonment and $20,000 fine. The death penalty which the House approved would be optional with juries, however, and would apply only where there was a clear intention to injure the United States.

Despite these stipulations, scientists who worked on the bomb project have objected to severe penalties, expressing fear that they might incur them unwittingly.

The conferees agreed to new language for the House-proposed FBI loyalty check. The House had approved a requirement that the FBI make an affirmative finding of good character before an applicant for employment by the commission could be put to work. As compromised, the provision would require the FBI to make loyalty tests of all applicants but would leave the decision as to employment in the hands of the commission.

Fire, Smoke,

it rapidly deteriorated into a sprawling cloud.

Twelve minutes after the blast the carrier Saratoga, one of the ships nearest to the bomb, was still visible but appeared to be listing slightly to starboard—the side facing the point of the bomb burst.

The water first erupted in a colossal geyser. The column looked perfectly rounded and was dark brown in color as it rose into the heavens.

Suddenly from the base of this water column burst a gigantic, dome-shaped mushroom of smoke, vapor, and water with a dirty brown bottom, churning and boiling.

Concentric circles of vapor ran from this mass and vanished, and the great cloud of vapor which hung like a cap over the cloud mass vanished swiftly in the sun.

All these things happened in the twinkling of an eye. Then from the surface of the sea rose a great mass of steam—banks of steam—which blotted out the fleet and covered it almost in entirety with white fleece through which it was impossible to see.

Nevada Survives Blast

The smoke and mists cleared, and there stood the Nevada—still riding high in the water.

At first sight it appears that virtually all capital ships are still standing, but this will require a more detailed check to make certain of this first survey.

The center of the lagoon is a peculiar green color, indicating that the atomic bomb shattered the floor of the lagoon.

A quick look at the fleet shows that while most capital ships were not sunk, they were thrown out of position by the blast and may be badly mauled under water.

It is too early to jump to conclusions—but from our sky position it looks as if the fleet survived sudden destruction.

But it is obviously badly mauled, and the titanic force of the blast threw the ships around in disarray.

Intruder Kills Matron, Rapes Her Daughter

Young Negro Is Suspect; Nine-State Alarm Is Broadcast

PLANDOME, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—A Long Island North Shore society matron was shot and killed and her 26-year-old daughter was raped and wounded today in their home by an intruder who entered and demanded money.

The victims were Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 50, wife of William John Logan, baking soda firm executive, and Miss Marjory Logan, recently discharged WAC sergeant. The Logans are listed in the social register.

Nassau county police broadcast a nine-state alarm for a suspect whom they described as a young negro with "starey eyes." He was last seen heading towards Port Washington, neighboring community, the broadcast said. It added that he was armed with a nickel-plated revolver.

Girl Tells Story

Police Capt. Stuyvesant Pinnell said Miss Logan told this story:

The man entered the Logan home in the fashionable, residential village of Flower Hill near here shortly before 11 a. m. Mrs. Logan called upstairs to her daughter "will you throw me down $10 I want to pay a debt?"

Miss Logan took a roll of bills amounting to about $100, stripped off a ten dollar bill and threw it down stairs. There was a shot and then the man ran up the stairs, revolver in hand.

"Give me that money," he commanded. Miss Logan did so.

Then, pointing in the direction of her fathers bedroom, he said: "Go in there and take off your clothes."

Miss Logan walked into the room with the man following closely and removed her clothes except for an army fatigue jacket.

After attacking her, the man commanded "sit up" and then shot her in the face. Miss Logah jumped to her feet. The man shot her in the neck and ran.

Runs To Neighbor's Home

Putting on some undergarments, Miss Logan ran screaming to a neighbor's home but when the maid there failed to answer she rushed to another home, where Theodore Klick, a painter, was at work.

Klick helped her into his car and took her to the office of Dr. Joseph Teta in Manhasset. En route, they passed the slayer.

"That's the man who murdered my mother," Miss Logan said, trying to hide on the floor of the car. They continued to the doctor's office and then Miss Logan was taken to the Nassau hospital in Mineola where the bullets were removed. Her condition was described as fair.

Markey Spent $970.72 In Successful Campaign

FREDERICK, Md., July 24. (AP)—D. John Markey, Walkersville, reported today in a statement filed with Clerk of Court Ellis C. Wachter that he spent $970.72 in his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Markey listed receipts as follows: $800 from P. A. Markey, $200 from Harry Miskin, and smaller contributions from P. R. Winebrener, W. L. Brann, Clyde Loose, P. J. Arendes, E. Austin James, Roy Leatherman, Hugh V. Gittinger, Charles P. Staley and Guy Anders.

Expenditures were all for printing and advertising, except the following items: Filing fee, $270; transportation, $230; telephone, $56; postage, $45.

and cross-examine witnesses and subpoena records.

On its part, the committee has said only that it would extend to May the same privileges he grants to witnesses which appear before the House Military committee. In the past, these have not included the privileges May now seeks.

In the three sensation-packed weeks of public hearings before the Senate committee, May's name has been repeatedly linked to the activities—both business and social—of the munitions combine which Chairman Mead (D-NY) has termed a "paper empire."

May Acknowledged Aid

High-ranking army officers and Secretary of War Patterson have testified to his intervention in behalf of the closely-linked network of 19 midwest concerns which received more than $78,000,000 of government business during the war.

May himself has acknowledged the aid. But he has said it was not for any personal profit, but solely to aid the war effort.

The Friday hearing was fixed for 9 a. m.—an hour earlier than the committee's usual meeting time. May had declined to appear earlier this week on the grounds that he was too busy with his legislative chores, but pledged himself to show up "at an early date." The committee countered only yesterday with an offer to meet "morning, noon or night" at May's convenience.

In declining to attend then, May was within his constitutional rights which prevent a member of House or Senate from being summoned to such hearings while Congress is in session. Committee members held, however, that he could be called as soon as Congress adjourned.

Gromyko Hits U. S. Statement

Gromyko was especially strong in his opposition to a United States statement that existing organs of the United Nations are not empowered to deal with questions relating to control, declaring that "the Soviet Union feels such conclusions cannot be justified."

He added that the Charter grants the council full powers and rights to deal with such matters and the council "is able and has full powers."

In discussing the plan for an atomic development authority which would make decisions relating to control, Gromyko said the Security council should make all final decisions. He termed the A. D. 000,000 to run the OPA for the year, a cut of some $30,000,000 below budget estimates. The committee member, who may not be identified, said Mr. Truman will contend that this will not be enough to run OPA until the new Congress convenes in January and has time to consider a supplemental fund.

2. High officials, also asking anonmity, reported Mr. Truman plans to name Reconversion Director John R. Steelman as stabilization director, succeeding Chester Bowles, in addition to Steelman's present duties. This course was recommended by Bowles when he resigned.

The OPA, which then will be established for another year, already was at work on orders renewing temporarily most of the price ceilings which lapsed June 30. Exceptions will include a number of items specifically exempted from controls.

House Passes Bill, 210-142

Senate leaders took final passage for granted, following the House's 210 to 142 vote for approval yesterday. And Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) indicated the measure is acceptable to the president.

Both friends and foes of price control were unenthusiastic, however—the former feeling that the bill does not go far enough, the latter that it goes too far. Additional debate along these lines delayed the final vote, despite the volumes already spoken on the controversy.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) expressed his dissatisfaction but announced that he was voting for the measure "rather than have no bill at all."

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) assailed it as "a conglomeration of a lot of compromises put together in a price control act that is no price control act at all." He added that it constitutes a "surrender of power to the bureaucrats to such an extent as we've never given before, even in time of war."

Barkley acknowledged that the measure as it finally emerged from a Senate-House conference committee is, with two or three exceptions, "in substance the same" as the bill that drew a veto. He explained, however, that it was necessary to make some concessions in order to get any bill at all."

which still remain at present, despite all efforts of the American pro-fascist and reactionary," the article said.

"No 'Case Of Redin'"

Under the headline "Black Deed of the American Secret Police," Zaslavsky wrote:

"There is and was no 'case of Redin.' There is the case of the American secret police and it is known that part of the American press prefers to keep quiet about it. With this it determines its share of participation in a filthy conspiracy against democracy itself."

"Now we can see again the 'Okhrana,' which has long since disappeared from our lives, in the role of provocateurs and plotters against the people. The dirty work of the American 'Okhrana,' which is operating with impunity and insolence, is directed against the international collaboration of the states united in the struggle against fascism—humanity's worst enemy."

Zaslavsky said Redin had been treated "shockingly, in a way not permissible in any country, and certainly not in a country pretending to be democratic."

President Signs Bills Providing Water Projects

Signal For Starting $2,000,000,000 Program Will Be Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Two bills authorizing about $2,000,000,000 in flood control, navigation and water power projects were signed today by President Truman but he emphasized he would be slow to signal for a start on the work.

Funds have not been set up for the projects and Mr. Truman said he would request none this fiscal year. He took the bills as primarily to help plan future programs with "no expectation of early appropriations."

Furthermore, the president said in a statement, the new projects offer "many unanswered questions." He won't approve their fund allocations, he said, until they are answered and all federal agencies concerned are agreed on technical features involved.

Observing that the government now has "a shelf of projects that will take us many years to complete," the president said "the program must be re-examined annually" as to current costs and economic merits.

"Financing, whenever made, must be based on budgetary requirements for that period," Mr. Truman said. He repeated his recent declaration that federal expenditures "will be reduced and deferrable construction and public works projects using federal funds will be studied with a view to saving strategic materials and to diminishing inflationary pressures."

Today's authorizations add substantially to the projected construction under jurisdiction of the War department, Mr. Truman noted. He estimated they will pile up waiting river improvement work under that department to about $5,000,000,000.

Underwater Blast

fast destroyer which went inside, within less than a mile of the target center, then turned and rushed out at high speed.

However, planes circling overhead came down within 3,000 feet two hours after the explosion, indicating it was safe at that altitude.

The battleship Arkansas, which like the "Sara" had been placed near the bomb, had vanished when Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead looked down through the clearing mists from an observation plane. Blandy later confirmed that she was sunk.

The only other major ship that appeared to be hurt, Blandy said, was the Nagato, which was listing slightly.

It appeared from this ship that the carrier Independence, which like the Nagato was about a mile from the explosion, also had developed a list.

It was impossible to determine whether the tremendous underwater shock or the terrible impact of the falling tons of water had done this violence.

While Blandy said there was no reason to doubt the efficiency of the first atomic bomb ever detonated under water, the fact remains that many of the spectacular events expected of it did not occur.

No 100-Foot Waves

There was a thunderous roar when it let go, but there were, for instance, no 100-foot waves and the atomic geyser which shot up above the explosion came nowhere near the top predicted altitude of three miles.

The highest waves were 10 feet, not enough even to wash over low Bikini although a nearby islet was engulfed briefly.

Blandy said that at least two of six submerged submarines, whose sturdy hulls had been expected to crack like nutshells under the shock, could be seen from the air, still in their proper submerged position.

Two other submarines, the Parche and the Skate, left on the surface, were still afloat.

Likewise still riding in position were the battleships Pennsylvania, New York and Nevada—the latter the battered bullseye of the mid-air A-bomb explosion July 1.

Troop transports two miles from the explosion were not much hurt and possibly were undamaged. Even those closer in, with their thin hulls, rode serenely.

Many observers aboard the Appalachian reported feeling an underwater shock from the bomb. Others said they felt no shock whatever.

Those who felt it said the shock was less than from ordinary depth charges at considerable distances. They said there were two shocks in close succession. The second would have been an echo of the blast striking the bottom of the lagoon or a later wave circling out through the lagoon entrance.

Planes Check Lethal Rays

Nearly an hour and a half after the explosion, planes were over the lagoon at low altitude checking on the amount of lethal rays rising from the water. Drone boats were picking up water samples.

The atomic mist cloud still was faintly visible, slightly pink, in the distance. It had drifted about 20 miles away from the explosion and probably was not much more than a mile high.

The cloud was formed from a white water column which rose a half-mile wide from the churning waters of the lagoon with the explosion.

The column shot up with incredible speed for nearly a mile, and then started to mushroom to two miles at the top with millions of stalactites of spray hanging down and plunging toward the sea.

As seen across ten miles of sea, these streamers were momentarily a light pink near the tips.

The steam base of the waterspout spread over the entire target fleet in less than a minute—a half-mile high and pure white.

It spread faster than the waves, and the target ships did not appear to move as the misty curtain fell on all except the battleship New York.

Bow on to the press ship, the New York visibly began to careen to starboard. Then the fog hid her.

Waves were still small when they reached the beach.

The total height of the white water and mist cloud was mostly hidden behind natural clouds.

The mist of the clouds lost its whiteness after five minutes and began coming down as slightly dun-colored fog.

The cloud height in one minute and 12 seconds after the blast was 7,800 feet high. The greatest height at two and a half minutes was about 8,400 feet.

The water descended in the form of haze which turned slightly brown as seen from the angle of the Appalachian. One after another each of the big target ships ap- [illegible] of the [illegible] hist.

Conferees Agree On Death Penalty For Violations Of Atomic Security

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Over the protests of scientists, Senate-House conferees agreed today on a death penalty for atomic energy workers who reveal secrets purposedly to damage the nation.

The conferees, working out a bill for domestic atomic energy controls from differing measures passed by the Senate and House, agreed at the same time to modify a House provision which would require the FBI to check on the workers' loyalty.

Still to be hurdled are the major points of difference—involving the issuance of patents and the extent of military representation in the control organization.

After a two-hour session Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), spokesman for the conferees and head of the special Senate comittee that wrote the original bill, told reporters he hopes a final agreement on all differences will be reached tomorrow.

McMahon said the military versus civilian control issue was discussed without a decision. It involves the Senate proposal for a control commission of five civilians and the House's insistence that at least one commissioner be a member of the armed forces.

The agreement on the death penalty was a victory for the House conferees. The Senate had set the maximum penalty for intentional secrecy violations at 20 years' imprisonment and $20,000 fine. The death penalty which the House approved would be optional with juries, however, and would apply only where there was a clear intention to injure the United States.

Despite these stipulations, scientists who worked on the bomb project have objected to severe penalties, expressing fear that they might incur them unwittingly.

The conferees agreed to new language for the House-proposed FBI loyalty check. The House had approved a requirement that the FBI make an affirmative finding of good character before an applicant for employment by the commission could be put to work. As compromised, the provision would require the FBI to make loyalty tests of all applicants but would leave the decision as to employment in the hands of the commission.

Fire, Smoke,

it rapidly deteriorated into a sprawling cloud.

Twelve minutes after the blast the carrier Saratoga, one of the ships nearest to the bomb, was still visible but appeared to be listing slightly to starboard—the side facing the point of the bomb burst.

The water first erupted in a colossal geyser. The column looked perfectly rounded and was dark brown in color as it rose into the heavens.

Suddenly from the base of this water column burst a gigantic, dome-shaped mushroom of smoke, vapor, and water with a dirty brown bottom, churning and boiling.

Concentric circles of vapor ran from this mass and vanished, and the great cloud of vapor which hung like a cap over the cloud mass vanished swiftly in the sun.

All these things happened in the twinkling of an eye. Then from the surface of the sea rose a great mass of steam—banks of steam—which blotted out the fleet and covered it almost in entirety with white fleece through which it was impossible to see.

Nevada Survives Blast

The smoke and mists cleared, and there stood the Nevada—still riding high in the water.

At first sight it appears that virtually all capital ships are still standing, but this will require a more detailed check to make certain of this first survey.

The center of the lagoon is a peculiar green color, indicating that the atomic bomb shattered the floor of the lagoon.

A quick look at the fleet shows that while most capital ships were not sunk, they were thrown out of position by the blast and may be badly mauled under water.

It is too early to jump to conclusions—but from our sky position it looks as if the fleet survived sudden destruction.

But it is obviously badly mauled, and the titanic force of the blast threw the ships around in disarray.

Bonds will be dated on the first days of January, April, July, or October following the date of discharge, and will be paid five years thereafter together with interest at two and one-half per cent for each year.

"Although the task of processing the claims of more than 16,000,000 former members of the armed forces was admitted to be large and difficult, represenatives of the War, Navy and Treasury departments expressed the belief that procedures could be perfected at an early date and the major portion of the payments could be made by June 30, 1947."

Intruder Kills Matron, Rapes Her Daughter

Young Negro Is Suspect; Nine-State Alarm Is Broadcast

PLANDOME, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—A Long Island North Shore society matron was shot and killed and her 26-year-old daughter was raped and wounded today in their home by an intruder who entered and demanded money.

The victims were Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 50, wife of William John Logan, baking soda firm executive, and Miss Marjory Logan, recently discharged WAC sergeant. The Logans are listed in the social register.

Nassau county police broadcast a nine-state alarm for a suspect whom they described as a young negro with "starey eyes." He was last seen heading towards Port Washington, neighboring community, the broadcast said. It added that he was armed with a nickel-plated revolver.

Girl Tells Story

Police Capt. Stuyvesant Pinnell said Miss Logan told this story:

The man entered the Logan home in the fashionable, residential village of Flower Hill near here shortly before 11 a. m. Mrs. Logan called upstairs to her daughter "will you throw me down $10 I want to pay a debt?"

Miss Logan took a roll of bills amounting to about $100, stripped off a ten dollar bill and threw it down stairs. There was a shot and then the man ran up the stairs, revolver in hand.

"Give me that money," he commanded. Miss Logan did so.

Then, pointing in the direction of her fathers bedroom, he said: "Go in there and take off your clothes."

Miss Logan walked into the room with the man following closely and removed her clothes except for an army fatigue jacket.

After attacking her, the man commanded "sit up" and then shot her in the face. Miss Logan jumped to her feet. The man shot her in the neck and ran.

Runs To Neighbor's Home

Putting on some undergarments, Miss Logan ran screaming to a neighbor's home but when the maid there failed to answer she rushed to another home, where Theodore Klick, a painter, was at work.

Klick helped her into his car and took her to the office of Dr. Joseph Teta in Manhasset. En route, they passed the slayer.

"That's the man who murdered my mother," Miss Logan said, trying to hide on the floor of the car. They continued to the doctor's office and then Miss Logan was taken to the Nassau hospital in Mineola where the bullets were removed. Her condition was described as fair.

Markey Spent $970.72 In Successful Campaign

FREDERICK, Md., July 24. (AP)—D. John Markey, Walkersville, reported today in a statement filed with Clerk of Court Ellis C. Wachter that he spent $970.72 in his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Markey listed receipts as follows: $500 from P. A. Markey, $200 from Harry Miskin, and smaller contributions from P. R. Winebrener, W. L. Brann, Clyde Loose, P. J. Arendes, E. Austin James, Roy Leatherman, Hugh V. Gittinger, Charles P. Staley and Guy Anders.

Expenditures were all for printing and advertising, except the following items: Filing fee, $270; transportation, $230; telephone, $56; postage, $45.

and cross-examine witnesses and subpoena records.

On its part, the committee has said only that it would extend to May the same privileges he grants to witnesses which appear before the House Military committee. In the past, these have not included the privileges May now seeks.

In the three sensation-packed weeks of public hearings before the Senate committee, May's name has been repeatedly linked to the activities—both business and social—of the munitions combine which Chairman Mead (D-NY) has termed a "paper empire."

May Acknowledged Aid

High-ranking army officers and Secretary of War Patterson have testified to his intervention in behalf of the closely-linked network of 19 midwest concerns which received more than $78,000,000 of government business during the war.

May himself has acknowledged the aid. But he has said it was not for any personal profit, but solely to aid the war effort.

The Friday hearing was fixed for 9 a. m.—an hour earlier than the committee's usual meeting time. May had declined to appear earlier this week on the grounds that he was too busy with his legislative chores, but pledged himself to show up "at an early date." The committee countered only yesterday with an offer to meet "morning, noon or night" at May's convenience.

In declining to attend then, May was within his constitutional rights which prevent a member of House or Senate from being summoned to such hearings while Congress is in session. Committee members held, however, that he could be called as soon as Congress adjourned.

Gromyko Hits U. S. Statement

Gromyko was especially strong in his opposition to a United States statement that existing organs of the United Nations are not empowered to deal with questions relating to control, declaring that "the Soviet Union feels such conclusions cannot be justified."

He added that the Charter grants the council full powers and rights to deal with such matters and the council "is able and has full powers."

In discussing the plan for an atomic development authority which would make decisions relating to control, Gromyko said the Security council should make all final decisions. He termed the A. L. A. proposal independent of the Security council and would have almost full autonomy. This cannot be reconciled with the Charter of the United Nations."

Physician Says Warts Usually Just Disappear

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It used to be thought that the best way of removing warts was by means of charms. This superstition was given the color of truth and the reputation of many a dealer in magic was aided by the fact that warts have a way of coming all at once in crops and then, suddenly, disappearing.

Today, we know that warts are due to an infection with a virus, the common name given to any of the smallest of disease-producing organisms, those tiniest of troublemakers, so minute that they can pass through the pores of a porcelain filter.

Attacks Children

The virus which causes warts most often attacks children. Many grown-ups can remember how as youngsters they were teased about picking up toads because their hands were covered with warts. Yet which of them could say when or how the warts disappeared.

This is something which should be remembered by parents of today who are considering having their children treated for these blemishes. Warts of all kinds tend to vanish without leaving a trace even when no treatment is given. If the treatment is painful, it is well to think twice, particularly if the child has a number of warts. In this case the first treatment is likely to be the last because the child will rebel.

Unsightly Clusters

Sometimes warts appear in unsightly clusters on the face and certain warts are definitely painful. In these instances, parents, quite naturally, want to know if they can be removed.

There are good treatments, but before the right one can be selected it is necessary to know just what sort of wart is to be dealt with. Three types occur in children. One, known as verucca vulgaris, is usually located on the back of the hands and fingers but may be around the lips, eyelids, and nostrils. A second, called verucca plana occurs on the hands or face as small, smooth, flat growths.

Generally they come in numbers. Verucca plantaris or plantar wart, the third variety, occurs on the sole of the foot, causing pain.

Carbon Dioxide Snow

In the case of verucca vulgaris applying carbon dioxide snow will usually get rid of them. In verucca plantar it may be best to avoid treatment altogether, since they usually disappear sooner or later without treatment. If, however, there is some anxiety on the part of the parents about getting rid of the warts, the application of silver nitrate or picric acid by the physician will usually remove the growths. Sometimes taking some preparation containing mercury, as prescribed by the doctor, will also prove satisfactory.

In the case of plantar warts, treatment with X-ray will usually bring immediate relief from pain and cause the warts to disappear. According to many physicians, this is the only satisfactory treatment for plantar warts.

McKeldin Tears Lid Off Political Pot

Republicans and Democrats of Maryland have completed the convention formalities of nominating their candidates for governor, United States senator, attorney general and comptroller. Delegates who attended the state gatherings have scattered to their bailiwicks to prepare for the coming battle. In other words the chips are down and the opposing candidates are girding themselves for the strenuous campaign ahead.

The Republican candidate for governor, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, however, lost no time in tearing off the political pot's lid to elaborate on the various planks in the GOP platform. His enthusiastic acceptance of the policies his party will stand for in the campaign which will come to a climax on November 5, left little to be desired in a man who must champion the interests of all the people of Maryland.

His vigorous approach to those policies dispelled any doubt that might have existed as to Republican chances this fall. He has been received wholeheartedly by the rank and file of not only his own party members but by unestimated thousands of those of the opposing political party.

And it is a well known fact that Republicans are united as never before, and full of fire and determination to make certain that Candidate McKeldin's declaration: "It's time for a change" is realized next November.

Mr. McKeldin, in his call to the voters to bring about that change, did not pull any of his punches. He indicated the opposition in no uncertain terms for its "scandalous and disgraceful" spending in the Democratic primary little more than a month ago, for what he declared "purchase of political preferment." This two-fisted attack immediately raised the question in many minds whether a candidate who fails to lift a finger against such reckless outpouring of money, to gain political position, would be just as careless in the use of the taxpayers' money should he become custodian of it.

It was refreshing, also, to learn that Mr. McKeldin deplores the piling up of what he considers unnecessary, unneeded surplus in the state treasury at the expense of the taxpayers; and his declaration that only that which might be required for the proper functioning of government will be tolerated should the voters of Maryland recognize in him his sincerity of purpose and send him to the governor's chair at Annapolis.

He had no hesitancy in advocating, as a step looking to the cleansing of the body politic and decentralizing of authority, that the Baltimore Police Department be unshackled from domination by the state administration, and be returned to the municipality it is sworn to serve, unfettered by political meddling.

His pledge to correct abuses of the election laws of the state; his intentions to see that the mental institutions of Maryland are put in order and high standards of care and attention are re-instituted; advocacy of a constitutional amendment to forbid the governor to succeed himself; legislation placing on the state part of the responsibility of meeting the housing crisis; continued rent control to prevent wholesale evictions while housing remains scarce, and his declaration that the interests of veterans would be his constant concern, are just a few of many reforms to be desired.

They should prove to be incentives to voters to help him make good his contention that "it is time for a change," and we believe they will be.

In Canada, they are weeding the Reds out of Parliament. One member who sent war secrets to Russia has been given a six-year sentence to repent his folly.

Celebrated Error In Job Prediction

After the celebrated error the War Manpower Commission made in predicting that there would be 8,000,000 unemployed in the spring of 1946, government economists have been understandingly shy about indulging in prophecies on the future level of employment. But some of the officials of the Civilian Production Administration are now cautiously predicting that there will be a manpower shortage in the fall and it looks as though they may be right this time.

There are several strong reasons for believing that the relatively full employment which the country is enjoying now will continue and expand for several months. Industrial production, hampered by the wave of strikes in the first half of this year, is getting into full swing. Demobilization of the armed forces is nearing completion and the bulk of the 10,000,000 veterans released has been readily absorbed into civilian jobs.

Additional workers will be needed as the housing program gets under way. And, except for the women who have left war industry and the troops still being demobilized, there is no large pool of workers visible to fill the jobs opening up.

The only eventuality that could upset these calculations would be another wave of strikes. If that happens the promising upward surge in employment and production can be nipped. Whether this will happen depends largely on the attitude which labor leaders adopt during the months ahead. It is encouraging to find some of them showing a sober desire to keep demands for higher wages from getting out of hand.

A vice president of the American Optometric association blames 15 per cent of highway accidents on defective vision. Leaving 85 per cent for not looking where you're going.

Behind Russia's Iron Curtain

Russia's recent diplomatic pyrotechnics, in the opinion of some observers, have been staged by the Communist inner circle to divert the minds of the masses from unsatisfactory conditions at home. Much of the Soviet manpower still is in foreign lands. It is needed badly by a nation whose economy was shattered by war and which is being pieced back together all too slowly.

Among other factors of unrest are the hordes of veterans who have been permitted to return. They have had a glimpse of the comforts of life in other countries. Other peoples with whom they had been in contact were not to be feared and distrusted so much as they had been taught to believe. Apparently, then, the Kremlin is faced with the dilemma of returning soldiers to help rebuild the country or keeping them on "occupation duty" because they might become soil for an opposing political bloc.

A developing conflict between the Kremlin and the army may explain the latest shakeup in military commanders, in which war idol Zhukov was relegated to an obscure post. But discipline from the top may not serve to bring 12 million other Russian soldiers back into the strict party line.

Many of the candidates for office in the elections this fall seem to be trying for victory through hot air power.

Truman's Worry Appears Misplaced

President Truman seems to be borrowing trouble. He is reported to be worrying because the government cannot or has not done enough for the average veteran. This veteran, the nation's chief executive says, does not want a GI loan to go to college, build a house, buy a farm or go into business fr himself. He wants a job with an opportunity for advancement, and such jobs are far too few.

Now let us examine the President' worries.

More veterans are now trying to go to college than the colleges can handle. The demand for new houses far exceeds the capacity of the building industry. If the majority of veterans wanted GI loans for these purposes, it really would be a situation to worry about.

As for jobs, it would be fine if every veteran could get exactly the job he wants. The veteran deserves the best possible break. But there are jobs of some sort available in most communities—a condition which has not always existed; a condition, in fact, that government economists thought would not exist during the reconversion period.

The President should be concerned about veterans, but it seems to us that he might better devote his worrying to basic problems that need solving to improve the well-being of the country as a whole, including the veterans.

Meat prices in one eastern city have dropped below previous OPA levels. Score one round for that old standby, supply and demand.

Gardening In Midsummer

Any gardener will admit that the last week in July is not exactly the most delightful time to work in the vegetable plot. The heat and humidity bring out the sweat in streams, flies, mosquitoes and chiggers attack any unprotected area of skin, and generally it is much more pleasant to lie in the shade on the lawn sipping a long, cool, refreshing drink.

But the experienced hand knows that to get the most produce out of his garden he must not only work in July but work hard—and fast. For there are many crops that, sown by August 1, will mature before cool weather. But if he waits longer, the opportunity may be lost.

Some gardeners say, with luck, there is time to get out cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower plants. Then there are the root crops, notably beets and carrots. Turnips can be planted, and with them lettuce, radishes, spinach and kale.

This is a formidable array but it testifies to the importance of July in the gardener's schedule. If he makes every chance count he will have his rows yielding until frost comes—and even later, for there are several vegetables on the list that do not mind a nip or two.

Maybe there are a lot of things most gardeners would rather do. But at a time when every pound of food helps deprive the nation's food shortage of a little of its threat, there are a few spare time activities that give a man a deeper sense of satisfaction. This year especially it is a good feeling to get hot, bitten, and dusty in a garden under the end-of-July sun. Or perhaps it just seems so writing an editorial in a cool office, sitting in the breeze of a powerful fan.

U. S. ENVOY TO ITALY

General Tire Company Got E-Award After Army Discovered Fraud; Role of Rep. May's Nephew With Firm Proposed; Truman's Intervention in K. C. Politics Backfires

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 24. — The Mead Committee, which has done such an excellent job of probing Congressman May and war profiteering, might do a little further digging into phony E-awards and possible connections with the Kentuckian who still chairmans the House military affairs committee.

Specifically, they might examine an E-award given to General Tire and Rubber Company, the very same company which got May's nephew out of the Army after he had been in only nine days, and is still paying him a juicy salary.

If the Mead committee should probe deeply enough they would unearth the following amazing facts:

General Tire and Rubber had a contract with the Army to make pneumatic floats for the Army engineers. These were big rubber bags which were inflated with air and used to hold up pontoon bridges. The famous crossing of the Rapido River in Italy and almost every military crossing of water was done by pontoon bridges supported by rubber floats. These rubber floats, of course, had to be absolutely airtight.

—o—

However, when General Tire floats were tested by the Army engineers —in advance of acceptance—it was discovered that General Tire employes would deliberately pump up the floats during the night, thus deceiving Army inspectors.

The floats were required to maintain a certain pressure for 24 hours, and when the pressure would go down, General Tire people would pump them up while Army inspectors weren't around.

This fraud finally was discovered, and a report very critical of General Tire was filed by Army engineers. The Army also secured confessions from about twenty General Tire employes.

Despite this discovery of deliberate fraud, General Tire later was awarded the much coveted E, supposed to go only to companies performing the highest war service.

Furthermore, not only was the fraud hushed up, but afterward, General Tire and Rubber company was given a lush contract at Huntington, W. Va., where Congressman May's nephew, William H. May, occupied a mysterious but very profitable role, working for General Tire.

How much, if anything, the chairman of the Military affairs committee had to do with this is not known. However, the whole thing would bear investigation. In another case, it is known that May pulled wires to get an E for his friends, the Erie Basin Company, overriding the recommendation of Army officers who opposed the E.

In the case of General Tire, several Army engineers who knew the real truth about the rubber pontoon floats, were vigorously opposed to the E award. But their recommendation also was overridden.

Old-line Democrats back in Jackson County, Mo., are dead certain that President Truman's public endorsement of Enos Axtell coupled with CIO-PAC support has virtually assured the renomination of Kansas City's Roger C. Slaughter in the Missouri primary August 6. They are equally certain that a Republican will defeat Slaughter in the final elections.

Albert L. Reeves, Jr., Republican son of a Harding-appointed Federal District Judge in Kansas City, is the man expected to win out next November.

Truman's old friends back home are really sore. They say he injected the nation's highest office into the dirtiest political fight Missouri has had in twenty years, at a time when Democratic leaders were attempting to promote harmony among the various factions.

For years FDR tried to purge his home Congressman, GOP Ham Fish, and finally accomplished it with Republican and Tom Dewey support. Truman, therefore, felt he had a right to intervene in Kansas City home politics.

Here's how the whole thing happened:

Shortly after Jerome Walsh, former OPA attorney, announced he would oppose Slaughter, CIO-PAC of Kansas City and other local labor unions indicated they would support Walsh's campaign. No public endorsement was made, however.

Truman, apparently figuring PAC support would do more harm than good, sent word back home to dig up another candidate. It was his brother, J. Vivian Truman — who has a habit of balling things up—who selected Axtell, virtually an unknown in county politics. Axtell is from rural Jackson County and once served as an assistant county prosecutor. Truman pressured James Pendergast and the powerful Democratic machine in Kansas City endorsed Axtell's candidacy.

This turn of events and the ditching of the PAC pleased the President—that is, until PAC voted 14 to 6 to drop Walsh and hop on the Axtell bandwagon. Which it did.

Note—Support for Rep. Slaughter is terrific among women's organizations. Mrs. Nell Donnelly Reed, wife of the late Senator Jim Reed, a bitter Roosevelt-hater, is leading the "keep Slaughter in Congress" movement.

—o—

Senatorial colleagues of Montana's Burt Wheeler refused to believe up to the very end that Wheeler stood in real danger of defeat. Final tipoff that he was in trouble was Wheeler's statement, in reply to an attack by Jimmy Roosevelt, that FDR had asked Wheeler to be his Vice-Presidetial running mate in 1940..... Typical reaction to this was Majority Leader Alban Barkley's comment: "That's one lie nobody in the entire country will believe."..... Sponsors of effective atomic-energy control are suspicious of the timing of developments far from Capitol Hill. The Canadian spy story broke just at the height of the struggle within the Senate committee over civilian or military control, the Canadian report on spy operations was released while the House Military Affairs Committee was butchering the bill, and the announcement that the Army was firing five workers at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., came just as the bill was heading into a stormy trip through tht House. The last was particularly suspicious because it was timed so perfectly to influence House votes.

Capital observers credit Senator Jim Mead of New York with a new investigating verve which may out-Truman Truman . . . Significant new venture in radio: 350 local streetcar and traction companies throughout the U.S.A. are inaugurating a coast-to-coast radio program. Working under the American Transit Association, they represent 23 billion annual streetcar riders.... No men from the Dallas Naval Air Station were permitted to attend church the other Sunday. Officially speaking, they were not barred from attending church, merely barred from taking a bus into town. Since there was no chaplain at the station, it amounted to the same thing. Lieut. Comdr, Leif Johnson issued the order.

ADAM AND EVE IN THE GARDEN OF EDEN

OPA Being Considered By Congress Worse Than One President Vetoed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 24 — The OPA bill now being considered by Congress in final form is worse than the one President Truman vetoed. It is worse for industry, worse for consumers, and worse for the country as a whole.

The President logically should veto it. The reasons he gave before apply even more so from his viewpoint to the pending measure. A resolution to continue rent control is all that is really needed. The country would make far better progress if the OPA legislation, with the exception of rent control, were killed altogether.

Under the new measure, many of the food products which enter into the cost of living are to come from under controls before the end of the year. This means the workers will become restless and demand wage increases to meet the costs of living and strikes will ensue.

Industry Will Suffer

As for industry it will suffer because the formula puts profit control into the hands of the OPA with instructions virtually to squeeze the increased costs out of current profits. This will mean that some businesses will not be able to see reasonable profits ahead and this will slow up production. General rules, applying equally to high and low cost producers, means demoralization of particular industries.

Unless there is a free market and an incentive to produce goods, the United States cannot have its postwar recovery. Unless the cost of living is kept down by the laws of supply and demand, wages will remain unstabilized.

Politically, of course, the Republicans gain by the confusion. The administration naturally will wish the country to believe that it achieved something by the veto and by the rewriting of the legislation. The administration, however, will ensnare itself by that strategy. For if the OPA bill is hailed as better than its predecessor, the nation will assume that the President won out and hence the cost of living should be kept down, whereas, under the measure, it really cannot be.

Nation Not Aware of OPA Sanctions

Actually the nation has not been fully informed on the many increases in prices which the OPA had to sanction on account of wage increases early this year. All this was camouflaged in the hope of getting a renewal of OPA authority and to hide the effects of the President's policy in encouraging an 18-cent-an-hour increase in wages. The pattern set by Mr. Truman was copied widely in industry, irrespective of the merit of the increase in individual categories. As a consequence, the inflationary spiral set in motion by the President had to be met by granting increases through the OPA.

The idea that wage costs can rise but prices cannot is the doctrine of those who want to sabotage the private enterprise system and encourage state Socialism or Communism. Many labor union leaders who want to take over the management of industry with councils such as the Soviet Union uses are fighting price increases and contending that wage costs can go up just the same.

Fallacious Impressions Created

The OPA controversy has created some fallacious impressions. Consumers have been led to believe that Congress is anxious to send upward the cost of living. Actually Congress had been trying to get rid of controls that operate against increases in production and a balance of supply and demand.

It will be noted that Senator Taft, Republican leader, signed the conference report. He has always insisted that some price control was better than none. He fought to get for industry a chance to apply prices to cover costs, but he did not succeed. The formula is such that industry is bound to be injured.

But Mr. Taft and the other Republicans can argue next autumn that Mr. Truman got his price control measure and prices are still high and goods are still short and black markets shall flourish. The political strategy of the Republicans is understandable. They want Mr. Truman to shoulder the blame for the nation's economy under an extended OPA. But Mr. Truman isn't up for renomination until 1948 and meanwhile the country will have to voice its protest in other ways.

Democrats To Be Hurt Most

The chances are that the Democratic party in Congress will be hurt most by Mr. Truman's failure to accept the advice of his own leaders a month ago and sign the bill that he vetoed. The economic loss of the last month to the nation as a whole is not offset by any appreciable gains to be derived from the new OPA bill. Mr. Truman would be well advised to veto the bill and carry the issue to the country in the coming campaign. It's self-defense politics for him.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

For hours I have been looking out upon the many varieties of natural beauty. The floating clouds, ever changing in form and much in substance. For example, for a brief period some of these clouds got heavy, and so dripped their moisture to the thirsty earth. Then the sun shone and huge shadows patterned the distant fields, giving emphasis to the greens of the forest and the silvered ripples of the lake.

Everything about me in this peaceful spot—where for a few weeks I rest, read, write, roam the rocky shore, and walk the soft, mossy earth—is a lesson to me. There is movement everywhere — but these movements are quiet ones like the soft strains of a violin at nightfall. Medicine to the mind, to every organ of the body, and to the soul.

The city has small charm for me. I feel most at home where crowds are absent, and where there is no scramble for gain and position. Nature thrives. There are always natural replacements. There is no quarrelling, nor is there among the stars, which hold their position, each one important to itself.

I plucked a lady's-slipper in the woods as exquisite as any hothouse orchid. There it was—alone among the huge forest of hemlocks. Had it but a voice, it would have uttered eloquence in terms of quiet, peace, and of the giving of its beauty all alone, though no man should have known or seen.

We become natural discoverers in nature. And our obedience to natural laws uplifts us to higher ground. We are ourselves, without boast or show. Harmony is the highest note in nature. And the night's stillness is like a benediction. Nature's breath is pure everywhere, and it's life-lifting.

The shimmering of the early sunlight, its rays dodging among the green foliage, and its warmth drawing out growth everywhere, is an inspiring sight. Here the birds sing at dawn, as I do in my heart—for this is a little heaven, in which I search and find myself—as anyone can who has the will to search, as I did, for some secluded spot in which to learn to live.

"IT SAYS HERE" By Bob Hope

I attended the Invitational Motion Picture Golf Tournament at the California Country Club last week, along with all the other Hollywood golfers. Those movie stars really play a fast game of golf. . . . How can you beat them when their agents come along and take ten percent off their scores?

There was quite a turnout of celebrities there and even W. C. Fields showed up to "sink a few." . . . But when someone mentioned "tee" he left in a hurry. Naturally, my natty, Caddy Crosby was on hand. There's one guy who doesn't worry about getting on the green. . . . He just takes out his wallet and spreads the stuff around.

You could tell the golfers were all actors. Dennis O'Keefe, for instance, did a one-night stand at the ninth hole. I didn't do so well, myself. I won't say I was on that course long, but now I know what they mean by "The Green Years." But I love golf. . . . Where else can you find eighteen places to hide an egg?

There were several thousand spectators in the gallery and you should've heard the reception they gave me. . . . It was the only "birdie" I got that day.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 25 (CP)—Now that President Truman has signed the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill, Washington is awash with speculating about the possibility of a similar loan to the Soviet Union.

The talk in the capital is for a loan somewhere around $1,000,000,000 for the Russians.

However, political observers are certain that the prospects for a Russian loan just now are as dim as the vistas of understanding between the Washington and Moscow governments.

They say that it is extremely unlikely that the president would ask Congress at this time to appropriate any money for the Russians. And there is not sufficient money left in the Export-Import Bank to furnish a loan of the size that Marshall Stalin would desire.

Even if the money could be taken from the bank, where no legislation would be necessary, the administration reportedly would be reluctant to move in that direction.

As Secretary of State Byrnes and other key officials have repeatedly said and shown, the era of "appeasing" Russia is past. The government is not bellicose, simply determined not to be pushed around by the playful Russian bear.

Further, if Mr. Truman and Byrnes wanted to give money to Russia and were forced to go through Congress, there is little chance that the Senate and the House would approve any such transaction.

—o—

Food officials in Washington look for continued shortages of meats, fats, cheese, butter, evaported milk, canned and dried fruit, sugar and some cereal products despite price jumps following OPA's death.

They say that the demand for these food items is high even though the prices likewise are up, and that the supply is insufficient to furnish all the public could buy.

However, agriculture department officials feel there will be a relatively plentiful supply of milk, eggs, poultry, fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, frozen foods, fresh and frozen fish and canned vegetables.

Meat prices are expected to rise more than the average food prices this summer.

Agricultural officials say meat prices may be stabilized at about 15 to 20 per cent above the OPA ceiling by this fall. Much of the increase would replace the loss of government subsidies.

However, the livestock feed shortage is still serious and will discourage meat production.

—o—

Senators received a pointed object lesson at a hotel-restaurant near the Capitol during a luncheon recess of a bitterly-contested committee battle over the OPA revival bill.

Members of the Senate banking committee adjourned to the restaurant for lunch after a long session.

It was the fourth day without price ceilings and the menu carried this legend: Sirloin steak—previously priced at $1.85—$4.00. The printed price had been crossed out and the new price written in with ink.

In a corner of the restaurant was a large sign which stated in bold letters: "Our OPA ceilings."

Needless to say, the senators had plenty of comment to make on this situation.

And it might be only a coincidence, but the deadlocked committee returned to work and reached a compromise.

OPA As Campaign Issue Destined And Intended

By MARK SULLIVAN

Assuming, as it commonly is, that President Truman will sign the compromise measure extending the Office of Price Administration, and whether he does or not, the issue will have a part in the campaign now beginning for elections to Congress in November. Whatever the outcome about OPA, this was destined by the circumstances, and intended, by groups who took part in the OPA struggle.

Due to the changing forms the controversy took, it is going to be difficult to say who was responsible for what. In the early phase, was Congress responsible for the suspension of OPA on July 1st, because of the nature of the extension bill it wrote? Or was President Truman responsible, because he vetoed that bill? During early July, a frequent question, not answered, was, "who killed cock-robin?" With revival of the bird, assignment of responsibility becomes even more complex. There is even dispute about the effect of the July 1st suspension on prices. For that is be-fogged by an accompanying condition—no one was able to know whether the suspension might be final, or whether OPA would be renewed in some form not possible to anticipate. And throughout the whole fight from the beginning, there was lack of comprehension of just what was involved.

After the long fight was over, after Congress had written one measure extending price control, after President Truman had vetoed that, and after Congress had written a compromise measure designed to meet much of the President's objections—after all that there must have been many who wondered just what it was all about, just what the issue. The people had been sprayed with propaganda and pelted with slogans, more effective for stirring emotion than for conveying whole-truths.

As nearly as anywhere else, and as compactly as was possible, the issue, and the outcome, were put in words by Republican Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. He was a leader of those who, in the not always exact terminology of heated argument, were called "anti-OPA." Except a small number, they were not that. As to a large majority, their position was that under conditions as they exist, it was necessary to continue OPA for a limited time and with some reduction of scope and authority. As put in summing-up words by Senator Taft:

"It is a little too soon to take off the controls. Another six to six to eight months, however, should see the restoration of normal production and then we ought to take off the controls."

There was an underlying issue. It can be identified by examining the final compromise bill. While it is called properly, a bill for control of prices, it places very strong emphasis on ultimate de-control. Basically and for the long-term, it is a de-control bill:

A definite date is fixed for the termination of OPA, June 30, 1947. Even before that date, removal or revision of price ceilings can be ordered by a new agency established outside OPA. The new agency is called, significantly, a "Price De-Control Board."

Outside OPA, and limiting it, the Secretary of Agriculture is given authority to determine what agricultural items should have price controls over them. These, and every other price control, to be finally terminated before June 30, 1947.

Subsidies are to be drastically reduced, and terminated within nine months, before April 1, 1947.

Rent controls would be maintained.

What Congress Intended

De-control is what Congress intended. The majorities who thus voted and brought about gradual de-control, added to the number who wanted de-control immediately, were very large. De-control was the overwhelming determination of Congress. Congress went on the principle that, in peace-time, government controls over the industrial and agricultural life of the country, except a bare minimum, is unsound. Congress believes that maximum of free enterprise is the best way to produce maximum of goods. Beneath that, Congress holds that free enterprise is America's economic system.

That is a real principle and issue. It appears in many controversies besides the one over OA.

The rich rewards go to the employe who is so busy trying to do more and better work that he hasn't time to thing about advancement.

McKeldin Tears Lid Off Political Pot

Republicans and Democrats of Maryland have completed the convention formalities of nominating their candidates for governor, United States senator, attorney general and comptroller. Delegates who attended the state gatherings have scattered to their bailiwicks to prepare for the coming battle. In other words the chips are down and the opposing candidates are girding themselves for the strenuous campaign ahead.

The Republican candidate for governor, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, however, lost no time in tearing off the political pot's lid to elaborate on the various planks in the GOP platform. His enthusiastic acceptance of the policies his party will stand for in the campaign which will come to a climax on November 5, left little to be desired in a man who must champion the interests of all the people of Maryland.

His vigorous approach to those policies dispelled any doubt that might have existed as to Republican chances this fall. He has been received wholeheartedly by the rank and file of not only his own party members but by unestimated thousands of those of the opposing political party.

And it is a well known fact that Republicans are united as never before, and full of fire and determination to make certain that Candidate McKeldin's declaration: "It's time for a change" is realized next November.

Mr. McKeldin, in his call to the voters to bring about that change, did not pull any of his punches. He indicated the opposition in no uncertain terms for its "scandalous and disgraceful" spending in the Democratic primary little more than a month ago, for what he declared "purchase of political preferment." This two-fisted attack immediately raised the question in many minds whether a candidate who fails to lift a finger against such reckless outpouring of money, to gain political position, would be just as careless in the use of the taxpayers' money should he become custodian of it.

It was refreshing, also, to learn that Mr. McKeldin deplores the piling up of what he considers unnecessary, unneeded surplus in the state treasury at the expense of the taxpayers; and his declaration that only that which might be required for the proper functioning of government will be tolerated should the voters of Maryland recognize in him his sincerity of purpose and send him to the governor's chair at Annapolis.

He had no hesitancy in advocating, as a step looking to the cleansing of the body politic and decentralizing of authority, that the Baltimore Police Department be unshackled from domination by the state administration, and be returned to the municipality it is sworn to serve, unfettered by political meddling.

His pledge to correct abuses of the election laws of the state; his intentions to see that the mental institutions of Maryland are put in order and high standards of care and attention are re-instituted; advocacy of a constitutional amendment to forbid the governor to succeed himself; legislation placing on the state part of the responsibility of meeting the housing crisis; continued rent control to prevent wholesale evictions while housing remains scarce, and his declaration that the interests of veterans would be his constant concern, are just a few of many reforms to be desired.

They should prove to be incentives to voters to help him make good his contention that "it is time for a change," and we believe they will be.

In Canada, they are weeding the Reds out of Parliament. One member who sent war secrets to Russia has been given a six-year sentence to repent his folly.

Celebrated Error In Job Prediction

After the celebrated error the War Manpower Commission made in predicting that there would be 8,000,000 unemployed in the spring of 1946, government economists have been understandingly shy about indulging in prophecies on the future level of employment. But some of the officials of the Civilian Production Administration are now cautiously predicting that there will be a manpower shortage in the fall and it looks as though they may be right this time.

There are several strong reasons for believing that the relatively full employment which the country is enjoying now will continue and expand for several months. Industrial production, hampered by the wave of strikes in the first half of this year, is getting into full swing. Demobilization of the armed forces is nearing completion and the bulk of the 10,000,000 veterans released has been readily absorbed into civilian jobs.

Additional workers will be needed as the housing program gets under way. And, except for the women who have left war industry and the troops still being demobilized, there is no large pool of workers visible to fill the jobs opening up.

The only eventuality that could upset these calculations would be another wave of strikes. If that happens the promising upward surge in employment and production can be nipped. Whether this will happen depends largely on the attitude which labor leaders adopt during the months ahead. It is encouraging to find some of them showing a sober desire to keep demands for higher wages from getting out of hand.

A vice president of the American Optometric association blames 15 per cent of highway accidents on defective vision. Leaving 85 per cent for not looking where you're going.

Behind Russia's Iron Curtain

Russia's recent diplomatic pyrotechnics, in the opinion of some observers, have been staged by the Communist inner circle to divert the minds of the masses from unsatisfactory conditions at home. Much of the Soviet manpower still is in foreign lands. It is needed badly by a nation whose economy was shattered by war and which is being pieced back together all too slowly.

Among other factors of unrest are the hordes of veterans who have been permitted to return. They have had a glimpse of the comforts of life in other countries. Other peoples with whom they had been in contact were not to be feared and distrusted so much as they had been taught to believe. Apparently, then, the Kremlin is faced with the dilemma of returning soldiers to help rebuild the country or keeping them on "occupation duty" because they might become soil for an opposing political bloc.

A developing conflict between the Kremlin and the army may explain the latest shakeup in military commanders, in which war idol Zhukov was relegated to an obscure post. But discipline from the top may not serve to bring 12 million other Russian soldiers back into the strict party line.

Many of the candidates for office in the elections this fall seem to be trying for victory through hot air power.

Truman's Worry Appears Misplaced

President Truman seems to be borrowing trouble. He is reported to be worrying because the government cannot or has not done enough for the average veteran. This veteran, the nation's chief executive says, does not want a GI loan to go to college, build a house, buy a farm or go into business fr himself. He wants a job with an opportunity for advancement, and such jobs are far too few.

Now let us examine the President' worries.

More veterans are now trying to go to college than the colleges can handle. The demand for new houses far exceeds the capacity of the building industry. If the majority of veterans wanted GI loans for these purposes, it really would be a situation to worry about.

As for jobs, it would be fine if every veteran could get exactly the job he wants. The veteran deserves the best possible break. But there are jobs of some sort available in most communities—a condition which has not always existed; a condition, in fact, that government economists thought would not exist during the reconversion period.

The President should be concerned about veterans, but it seems to us that he might better devote his worrying to basic problems that need solving to improve the well-being of the country as a whole, including the veterans.

Meat prices in one eastern city have dropped below previous OPA levels. Score one round for that old standby, supply and demand.

Gardening In Midsummer

Any gardener will admit that the last week in July is not exactly the most delightful time to work in the vegetable plot. The heat and humidity bring out the sweat in streams, flies, mosquitoes and chiggers attack any unprotected area of skin, and generally it is much more pleasant to lie in the shade on the lawn sipping a long, cool, refreshing drink.

But the experienced hand knows that to get the most produce out of his garden he must not only work in July but work hard—and fast. For there are many crops that, sown by August 1, will mature before cool weather. But if he waits longer, the opportunity may be lost.

Some gardeners say, with luck, there is time to get out cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower plants. Then there are the root crops, notably beets and carrots. Turnips can be planted, and with them lettuce, radishes, spinach and kale.

This is a formidable array but it testifies to the importance of July in the gardener's schedule. If he makes every chance count he will have his rows yielding until frost comes—and even later, for there are several vegetables on the list that do not mind a nip or two.

Maybe there are a lot of things most gardeners would rather do. But at a time when every pound of food helps deprive the nation's food shortage of a little of its threat, there are a few spare time activities that give a man a deeper sense of satisfaction. This year especially it is a good feeling to get hot, bitten, and dusty in a garden under the end-of-July sun. Or perhaps it just seems so writing an editorial in a cool office, sitting in the breeze of a powerful fan.

General Tire Company Got E-Award After Army Discovered Fraud; Role of Rep. May's Nephew With Firm Proposed; Truman's Intervention in K. C. Politics Backfires

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 24. — The Mead Committee, which has done such an excellent job of probing Congressman May and war profiteering, might do a little further digging into phony E-awards and possible connections with the Kentuckian who still chairmans the House military affairs committee.

Specifically, they might examine an E-award given to General Tire and Rubber Company, the very same company which got May's nephew out of the Army after he had been in only nine days, and is still paying him a juicy salary.

If the Mead committee should probe deeply enough they would unearth the following amazing facts:

General Tire and Rubber had a contract with the Army to make pneumatic floats for the Army engineers. These were big rubber bags which were inflated with air and used to hold up pontoon bridges. The famous crossing of the Rapido River in Italy and almost every military crossing of water was done by pontoon bridges supported by rubber floats. These rubber floats, of course, had to be absolutely airtight.

—o—

However, when General Tire floats were tested by the Army engineers—in advance of acceptance—it was discovered that General Tire employes would deliberately pump up the floats during the night, thus deceiving Army inspectors.

The floats were required to maintain a certain pressure for 24 hours, and when the pressure would go down, General Tire people would pump them up while Army inspectors weren't around.

This fraud finally was discovered, and a report very critical of General Tire was filed by Army engineers. The Army also secured confessions from about twenty General Tire employes.

Despite this discovery of deliberate fraud, General Tire later was awarded the much coveted E, supposed to go only to companies performing the highest war service.

Furthermore, not only was the fraud hushed up, but afterward, General Tire and Rubber company was given a lush contract at Huntington, W. Va., where Congressman May's nephew, William H. May, occupied a mysterious but very profitable role, working for General Tire.

How much, if anything, the chairman of the Military affairs committee had to do with this is not known. However, the whole thing would bear investigation. In another case, it is known that May pulled wires to get an E for his friends, the Erie Basin Company, overriding the recommendation of Army officers who opposed the E.

In the case of General Tire, several Army engineers who knew the real truth about the rubber pontoon floats, were vigorously opposed to the E award. But their recommendation also was overridden.

Old-line Democrats back in Jackson County, Mo., are dead certain that President Truman's public endorsement of Enos Axtell coupled with CIO-PAC support has virtually assured the renomination of Kansas City's Roger C. Slaughter in the Missouri primary August 6. They are equally certain that a Republican will defeat Slaughter in the final elections.

Albert L. Reeves, Jr., Republican son of a Harding-appointed Federal District Judge in Kansas City, is the man expected to win out next November.

Truman's old friends back home are really sore. They say he injected the nation's highest office into the dirtiest political fight Missouri has had in twenty years, at a time when Democratic leaders were attempting to promote harmony among the various factions.

For years FDR tried to purge his home Congressman, GOP Ham Fish, and finally accomplished it with Republican and Tom Dewey support. Truman, therefore, felt he had a right to intervene in Kansas City home politics.

Here's how the whole thing happened:

Shortly after Jerome Walsh, former OPA attorney, announced he would oppose Slaughter, CIO-PAC of Kansas City and other local labor unions indicated they would support Walsh's campaign. No public endorsement was made, however.

Truman, apparently figuring PAC support would do more harm than good, sent word back home to dig up another candidate. It was his brother, J. Vivian Truman — who has a habit of balling things up—who selected Axtell, virtually an unknown in county politics. Axtell is from rural Jackson County and once served as an assistant county prosecutor. Truman pressured James Pendergast and the powerful Democratic machine in Kansas City endorsed Axtell's candidacy.

This turn of events and the ditching of the PAC pleased the President—that is, until PAC voted 14 to 6 to drop Walsh and hop on the Axtell bandwagon. Which it did.

Note—Support for Rep. Slaughter is terrific among women's organizations. Mrs. Nell Donnelly Reed, wife of the late Senator Jim Reed, a bitter Roosevelt-hater, is leading the "keep Slaughter in Congress" movement.

—o—

Senatorial colleagues of Montana's Burt Wheeler refused to believe up to the very end that Wheeler stood in real danger of defeat. Final tipoff that he was in trouble was Wheeler's statement, in reply to an attack by Jimmy Roosevelt, that FDR had asked Wheeler to be his Vice-Presidetial running mate in 1940..... Typical reaction to this was Majority Leader Alban Barkley's comment: "That's one lie nobody in the entire country will believe."..... Sponsors of effective atomic-energy control are suspicious of the timing of developments far from Capitol Hill. The Canadian spy story broke just at the height of the struggle within the Senate committee over civilian or military control, the Canadian report on spy operations was released while the House Military Affairs Committee was butchering the bill, and the announcement that the Army was firing five workers at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., came just as the bill was heading into a stormy trip through tht House. The last was particularly suspicious because it was timed so perfectly to influence House votes.

Capital observers credit Senator Jim Mead of New York with a new investigating verve which may out-Truman Truman . . . Significant new venture in radio: 350 local streetcar and traction companies throughout the U.S.A. are inaugurating a coast-to-coast radio program. Working under the American Transit Association, they represent 23 billion annual streetcar riders.... No men from the Dallas Naval Air Station were permitted to attend church the other Sunday. Officially speaking, they were not barred from attending church, merely barred from taking a bus into town. Since there was no chaplain at the station, it amounted to the same thing. Lieut. Comdr, Leif Johnson issued the order.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

For hours I have been looking out upon the many varieties of natural beauty. The floating clouds, ever changing in form and much in substance. For example, for a brief period some of these clouds got heavy, and so dripped their moisture to the thirsty earth. Then the sun shone and huge shadows patterned the distant fields, giving emphasis to the greens of the forest and the silvered ripples of the lake.

Everything about me in this peaceful spot—where for a few weeks I rest, read, write, roam the rocky shore, and walk the soft, mossy earth—is a lesson to me. There is movement everywhere — but these movements are quiet ones like the soft strains of a violin at nightfall. Medicine to the mind, to every organ of the body, and to the soul.

The city has small charm for me. I feel most at home where crowds are absent, and where there is no scramble for gain and position. Nature thrives. There are always natural replacements. There is no quarrelling, nor is there among the stars, which hold their position, each one important to itself.

I plucked a lady's-slipper in the woods as exquisite as any hothouse orchid. There it was—alone among the huge forest of hemlocks. Had it but a voice, it would have uttered eloquence in terms of quiet, peace, and of the giving of its beauty all alone, though no man should have known or seen.

We become natural discoverers in nature. And our obedience to natural laws uplifts us to higher ground. We are ourselves, without boast or show. Harmony is the highest note in nature. And the night's stillness is like a benediction. Nature's breath is pure everywhere, and it's life-lifting.

The shimmering of the early sunlight, its rays dodging among the green foliage, and its warmth drawing out growth everywhere, is an inspiring sight. Here the birds sing at dawn, as I do in my heart—for this is a little heaven, in which I search and find myself—as anyone can who has the will to search, as I did, for some secluded spot in which to learn to live.

ADAM AND EVE IN THE GARDEN OF EDEN

OPA Being Considered By Congress Worse Than One President Vetoed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 24 — The OPA bill now being considered by Congress in final form is worse than the one President Truman vetoed. It is worse for industry, worse for consumers, and worse for the country as a whole.

The President logically should veto it. The reasons he gave before apply even more so from his viewpoint to the pending measure. A resolution to continue rent control is all that is really needed. The country would make far better progress if the OPA legislation, with the exception of rent control, were killed altogether.

Under the new measure, many of the food products which enter into the cost of living are to come from under controls before the end of the year. This means the workers will become restless and demand wage increases to meet the costs of living and strikes will ensue.

Industry Will Suffer

As for industry it will suffer because the formula puts profit control into the hands of the OPA with instructions virtually to squeeze the increased costs out of current profits. This will mean that some businesses will not be able to see reasonable profits ahead and this will slow up production. General rules, applying equally to high and low cost producers, means demoralization of particular industries.

Unless there is a free market and an incentive to produce goods, the United States cannot have its post-war recovery. Unless the cost of living is kept down by the laws of supply and demand, wages will remain unstabilized.

Politically, of course, the Republicans gain by the confusion. The administration naturally will wish the country to believe that it achieved something by the veto and by the rewriting of the legislation. The administration, however, will ensnare itself by that strategy. For if the OPA bill is hailed as better than its predecessor, the nation will assume that the President won out and hence the cost of living should be kept down, whereas, under the measure, it really cannot be.

Nation Not Aware of OPA Sanctions

Actually the nation has not been fully informed on the many increases in prices which the OPA had to sanction on account of wage increases early this year. All this was camouflaged in the hope of getting a renewal of OPA authority and to hide the effects of the President's policy in encouraging an 18-cent-an-hour increase in wages. The pattern set by Mr. Truman was copied widely in industry, irrespective of the merit of the increase in individual categories. As a consequence, the inflationary spiral set in motion by the President had to be met by granting increases through the OPA.

The idea that wage costs can rise but prices cannot is the doctrine of those who want to sabotage the private enterprise system and encourage state Socialism or Communism. Many labor union leaders who want to take over the management of industry with councils such as the Soviet Union uses are fighting price increases and contending that wage costs can go up just the same.

Fallacious Impressions Created

The OPA controversy has created some fallacious impressions. Consumers have been led to believe that Congress is anxious to send upward the cost of living. Actually Congress had been trying to get rid of controls that operate against increases in production and a balance of supply and demand.

It will be noted that Senator Taft, Republican leader, signed the conference report. He has always insisted that some price control was better than none. He fought to get for industry a chance to apply prices to cover costs, but he did not succeed. The formula is such that industry is bound to be injured.

But Mr. Taft and the other Republicans can argue next autumn that Mr. Truman got his price control measure and prices are still high and goods are still short and black markets shall flourish. The political strategy of the Republicans is understandable. They want Mr. Truman to shoulder the blame for the nation's economy under an extended OPA. But Mr. Truman isn't up for renomination until 1948 and meanwhile the country will have to voice its protest in other ways.

Democrats To Be Hurt Most

The chances are that the Democratic party in Congress will be hurt most by Mr. Truman's failure to accept the advice of his own leaders a month ago and sign the bill that he vetoed. The economic loss of the last month to the nation as a whole is not offset by any appreciable gains to be derived from the new OPA bill. Mr. Truman would be well advised to veto the bill and carry the issue to the country in the coming campaign. It's self-defense politics for him.

"IT SAYS HERE" By Bob Hope

I attended the Invitational Motion Picture Golf Tournament at the California Country Club last week, along with all the other Hollywood golfers. Those movie stars really play a fast game of golf. . . . How can you beat them when their agents come along and take ten percent off their scores?

There was quite a turnout of celebrities there and even W. C. Fields showed up to "sink a few." . . . But when someone mentioned "tee" he left in a hurry. Naturally, my natty, Caddy Crosby was on hand. There's one guy who doesn't worry about getting on the green. . . . He just takes out his wallet and spreads the stuff around.

You could tell the golfers were all actors. Dennis O'Keefe, for instance, did a one-night stand at the ninth hole. I didn't do so well, myself. I won't say I was on that course long, but now I know what they mean by "The Green Years." But I love golf. . . . Where else can you find eighteen places to hide an egg?

There were several thousand spectators in the gallery and you should've heard the reception they gave me. . . . It was the only "birdie" I got that day.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 25 (CP)—Now that President Truman has signed the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill, Washington is awash with speculating about the possibility of a similar loan to the Soviet Union.

The talk in the capital is for a loan somewhere around $1,000,000,000 for the Russians.

However, political observers are certain that the prospects for a Russian loan just now are as dim as the vistas of understanding between the Washington and Moscow governments.

They say that it is extremely unlikely that the president would ask Congress at this time to appropriate any money for the Russians. And there is not sufficient money left in the Export-Import Bank to furnish a loan of the size that Marshall Stalin would desire.

Even if the money could be taken from the bank, where no legislation would be necessary, the administration reportedly would be reluctant to move in that direction.

As Secretary of State Byrnes and other key officials have repeatedly said and shown, the era of "appeasing" Russia is past. The government is not bellicose, simply determined not to be pushed around by the playful Russian bear.

Further, if Mr. Truman and Byrnes wanted to give money to Russia and were forced to go through Congress, there is little chance that the Senate and the House would approve any such transaction.

—o—

Food officials in Washington look for continued shortages of meats, fats, cheese, butter, evaported milk, canned and dried fruit, sugar and some cereal products despite price jumps following OPA's death.

They say that the demand for these food items is high even though the prices likewise are up, and that the supply is insufficient to furnish all the public could buy.

However, agriculture department officials feel there will be a relatively plentiful supply of milk, eggs, poultry, fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, frozen foods, fresh and frozen fish and canned vegetables.

Meat prices are expected to rise more than the average food prices this summer.

Agricultural officials say meat prices may be stabilized at about 15 to 20 per cent above the OPA ceiling by this fall. Much of the increase would replace the loss of fovernment subsidies.

However, the livestock feed shortage is still serious and will discourage meat production.

—o—

Senators received a pointed object lesson at a hotel-restaurant near the Capitol during a luncheon recess of a bitterly-contested committee battle over the OPA revival bill.

Members of the Senate banking committee adjourned to the restaurant for lunch after a long session.

It was the fourth day without price ceilings and the menu carried this legend: Sirloin steak—previously priced at $1.85—$4.00. The printed price had been crossed out and the new price written in with ink.

In a corner of the restaurant was a large sign which stated in bold letters: "Our OPA ceilings."

Needless to say, the senators had plenty of comment to make on this situation.

And it might be only a coincidence, but the deadlocked committee returned to work and reached a compromise.

OPA As Campaign Issue Destined And Intended

By MARK SULLIVAN

Assuming, as it commonly is, that President Truman will sign the compromise measure extending the Office of Price Administration, and whether he does or not, the issue will have a part in the campaign now beginning for elections to Congress in November. Whatever the outcome about OPA, this was destined by the circumstances, and intended, by groups who took part in the OPA struggle.

Due to the changing forms the controversy took, it is going to be difficult to say who was responsible for what. In the early phase, was Congress responsible for the suspension of OPA on July 1st, because of the nature of the extension bill it wrote? Or was President Truman responsible, because he vetoed that bill? During early July, a frequent question, not answered, was, "who killed cock-robin?" With revival of the bird, assignment of responsibility becomes even more complex. There is even dispute about the effect of the July 1st suspension on prices. For that is be-fogged by an accompanying condition—no one was able to know whether the suspension might be final, or whether OPA would be renewed in some form not possible to anticipate. And throughout the whole fight from the beginning, there was lack of comprehension of just what was involved.

After the long fight was over, after Congress had written one measure extending price control, after President Truman had vetoed that, and after Congress had written a compromise measure designed to meet much of the President's objections—after all that there must have been many who wondered just what it was all about, just what the issue. The people had been sprayed with propaganda and pelted with slogans, more effective for stirring emotion than for conveying whole-truths.

As nearly as anywhere else, and as compactly as was possible, the issue, and the outcome, were put in words by Republican Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. He was a leader of those who, in the not always exact terminology of heated argument, were called "anti-OPA." Except a small number, they were not that. As to a large majority, their position was that under conditions as they exist, it was necessary to continue OPA for a limited time and with some reduction of scope and authority. As put in summing-up words by Senator Taft:

"It is a little too soon to take off the controls. Another six to six to eight months, however, should see the restoration of normal production and then we ought to take off the controls."

There was an underlying issue. It can be identified by examining the final compromise bill. While it is called properly, a bill for control of prices, it places very strong emphasis on ultimate de-control. Basically and for the long-term, it is a de-control bill:

A definite date is fixed for the termination of OPA. June 30, 1947.

Even before that date, removal or revision of price ceilings can be ordered by a new agency established outside OPA. The new agency is called, significantly, a "Price De-Control Board."

Outside OPA, and limiting it, the Secretary of Agriculture is given authority to determine what agricultural items should have price controls over them. These, and every other price control, to be finally terminated before June 30, 1947.

Subsidies are to be drastically reduced, and terminated within nine months, before April 1, 1947.

Rent controls would be maintained.

What Congress Intended

De-control is what Congress intended. The majorities who thus voted and brought about gradual de-control, added to the number who wanted de-control immediately, were very large. De-control was the overwhelming determination of Congress. Congress went on the principle that, in peace-time, government controls over the industrial and agricultural life of the country, except a bare minimum, is unsound. Congress believes that maximum of free enterprise is the best way to produce maximum of goods. Beneath that, Congress holds that free enterprise is America's economic system.

That is a real principle and issue. It appears in many controversies besides the one over OA.

The rich rewards go to the employe who is so busy trying to do more and better work that he hasn't time to thing about advancement.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S Patent Office)

So somebody's hurt you—yes? Lied about you . . . .tricked you . . . . made a fool of you?

And you're angry, hurt, longing for revenge. Every time you think about it, you grow more furious.

Well, that's natural. Ever since you were born you've seen people acting like that . . .hurting each other . . .getting even with each other. . .blaming other people for their bad luck. So why shouldn't you do the same?

Because it isn't getting you anywhere—that's why. You aren't getting even when you return spite for spite. . .when you let the Other Fellow's malice poison your whole life. You're just playing into his hand. You're just giving him power and importance.

Hating Is Stupid Business

Ever stop to think how stupid all this business of hating really is? Hate's actually a sort of boogie man that we conjure up out of our own fear and ignorance and resentment. It hasn't any life in itself unless we give it life.

Hate can't hurt us unless we ourselves let it.

Hate is only as important as we ourselves make it.

Others let it knock them out in the first round.

Sure—there's lots of meanness in this world. There are scads of stupid, dishonest, spiteful people who delight in hurting others. . . critters who are just spoiling for a fight. And you can waste your whole life obliging them if you're that kind of a sap. But why should you be?

ACTUALLY THERE IS ONLY ONE PERSON WHO CAN DO YOU ANY DEEP OR LASTING HARM. THAT PERSON IS YOURSELF.

All the viciousness on earth can't harm you unless you give it power over you.

How can you give it power? By fearing it. By letting it take possession of your imagination. By thinking that it's stronger than you are.

Just Sit Tight

You're like a man besieged in a fort, surrounded by enemies. As long as you stay in that fort, with the entrance barred, you're safe. But the minute you lose your head and open the door, you're a dead pigeon, partner.

That isn't just sweet talk. It's basic truth. Each one of us is a fortress unto himself with all the demons in hell trying to get in. I don't know why life should be like that but it is and there's no use kidding yourself that a miracle is going to happen to make life sweet and safe for your personal benefit. There's just one thing you can do for your own safety and happiness and that is —SIT TIGHT AND KEEP THAT DOOR SHUT.

All kinds of grief can happen TO you—bad breaks beyond your control. But nothing can completely demoralize your life unless you let it happen IN you.

You and you alone control the keys of your own spirit. Anger cannot shake you, spite cannot break you, unless you let them gain control. So stop thinking about the Other Fellow and what he's done. Stop licking your wounds and planning revenge. There's just one question for you to decide—and quick. WHO'S BOSS? YOU OR HATE?

Margaret V. Eckhart Is Bride Of Lt. J. W. Faulk

Descendent Of Eckhart Founders Is Wed In Fort Houston Chapel

Miss Margaret Virginia Eckhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Eckhart, 1627 Glenmount avenue, Akron, O., became the bride of Lt. John William Faulk, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John William Faulk, Crowley, La., July 20.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Eckhart, descendants of the founders of Eckhart; and Mrs. Ottilie Logsdon, Eckhart, and the late Owen Logsdon. Having spent many summer vacations here, she is well known in Allegany county.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 4:30 p. m., in the post chapel at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, with Capt. F. W. Niermann, chaplain, officiating. Bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra of white tapers decorated the chapel; Robert Reed played the traditional marches and a program of nuptial music.

Miss Barbara Faulk, Crowley, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and Miss Agnes Cota, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Patricianne Baldridge, Iowa City, Iowa, were the bridesmaids. Dr. Faulk served as his son's best man and Lt. Sam Gallup, Fort Houston, was the usher.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white nylon marquisette gown. A design of seed pearls adorned the bodice, made with long fitted sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist. Her full skirt ended in a sweeping train. A rolled crown wound in pearls held her finger tip length veil of net and a bridal bouquet, centered with a white orchid, completed her costume. Her attendants were all dressed alike in white moire and net gowns fashioned with a fitted moire bodice and full net skirt. With them they wore long white gloves, and white net hats trimmed in flowers matching their colonial bouquets. Silver rhinestone pins, gifts of the bride, were their only ornaments.

Mrs. Eckhart chose a turquoise two piece suit, with white accessories for her daughter's wedding, with it she wore a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. Faulk was attired in a white print dress with which she wore white accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kent State university, Kent, O., where she received her B. S. degree in education, and was a member of the Cardinal Key, honorary women's club; did post graduate work at the university of Akron, and received her Master's degree from the University of Iowa. She is also a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Chi Delta Phi, national women's literary honorary society.

She was formerly director of the department of speech correction of schools in Rochester, Minn., conducted speech clinics at the University of Iowa and now is assisting in aural rehabilitation clinics at Borden General hospital, Chickasha, Okla.

Lt. Faulk received his B. S. degree from Louisiana university, and his medical degree from Tulane university. He is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity and Kappa Sigma, social fraternity. Serving as a first lieutenant in the medical corps the bridegroom was first astationed at Borden General hospital and now is on duty at Fort Sam Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckhart entertained with a reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at the Gunter hotel, San Antonio, Texas, following the ceremony. After which Lt. and Mrs. Faulk left for a wedding trip to Lost Valley, Bandeira, Texas. For traveling the bride chose a black linen suit with matching accessories. With it she wore a platinum filigree pin with a diamond and sapphire, gift of the bridegroom. Upon their return they will reside at 701 Grayson avenue, San Antonio.

The bride entertained her attendants at a luncheon July 19 in the colonial room of the Menger hotel, San Antonio. The rehearsal dinner was served in the patio that evening, with her parents as hosts.

Miss Wilma Ryan Selects Aug. 31 For Wedding Date

Bridegroom's Brother To Officiate At Ceremony In Local Church

Miss Wilma Miller Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvey R. Ryan, Hazen road, has chosen August 31 as the date for her marriage to Wilbur Reese Parker, son of R. Reese Parker, 306 Fayette street, and the late Mrs. Parker.

The Rev. Robert H. Parker, Baltimore, brother of the bridegroom, will officiate at the wedding ceremony, which will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in Centre Street Methodist church.

Mrs. Walter Hering, Washington, D. C., will be her sister's matron of honor and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Dwight Rose, Centerville, Pa., another sister of the bride, and Miss Betty L. Hare, city. Sylvia and Sharon Parker, nieces of the bridegroom, will be the little flower girls.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegany high school and Catherman's Business school. She is active in 4-H work, being a leader of the Union Grove Club, a member of the Junior Extension and Maryland All Stars. She has won numerous prizes in food preservation and was state champion in 1935.

Miss Ryan is a member of Maryland Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, the WSCS and the Young Adult class of Elliott Memorial church.

Mr. Parker is a graduate of Allegany high school, where he was a member of the Glee Club; and of American university, Washington, D. C., where he was affiliated with Phi Epsilon Alpha, was a member of the school Mixed Chorus and the Male quartet.

A veteran of five years service in the army, of which 22 months were spent in the ETO, where he was captain of ordnance attached to the Seventh army, Mr. Parker received his discharge last December and now is associated in business with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Fillmore Bartlett celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary with a dinner at their home, Valley road, Tuesday night. A bouquet of assorted summer flowers centered the table.

The former Miss Virginia Cartwright, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Cartwright, Buckhannon, W. Va., became the bride of Millard F. Bartlett, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bartlett, Elkins, W. Va., July 23, 1894, at Buckhannon, with the Rev. Francis Boyd officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett are the parents of four children, Mrs. Viva Graham, Mrs. Earl S. Wilson, Mrs. Oscar Wilson and James A. Bartlett, all of Cumberland. They have nine grandchildren, with three discharged veterans, Pvt. Durwood B. Graham, Pfc. James Howard Graham, who served overseas three months; and T. Sgt. Elected Officers Named Delegates To National Convention In Sept.

Letters of commendation will be sent by the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland, Incorporated, to Republican United States senators who voted in favor of the Women's Rights amendment to the Constitution, it was decided at the summer business meeting of the federation yesterday morning. The meeting, held on the porch of the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, was conducted by Mrs. W. David Tilghman, state federation president.

Mrs. Lula E. Powell, Baltimore, national committeewoman, read a telegram which she received from Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the World Woman's Party, and Miss Anita Pollitzer, president of the National Woman's Party, stating certain senators gave "notable support" to the amendment.

Individual federation members were also urged to write letters to the Republican senators, expressing their views.

Elected officers of the federation, named last November, were appointed by Mrs. Tilghman to serve as voting delegates at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Republican Women, to be held in Philadelphia September 25, 26 and 27.

Margaret V. Eckhart Is Bride Of Lt. J. W. Faulk

Miss Margaret Virginia Eckhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Eckhart, 1627 Glenmount avenue, Akron, O., became the bride of Lt. John William Faulk, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John William Faulk, Crowley, La., July 20.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Eckhart, descendants of the founders of Eckhart; and Mrs. Otillie Logsdon, Eckhart, and the late Owen Logsdon. Having spent many summer vacations here, she is well known in Allegany county.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 4:30 p. m., in the post chapel at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, with Capt. F. W. Niermann, chaplain, officiating. Bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra of white tapers decorated the chapel; Robert Reed played the traditional marches and a program of nuptial music.

Miss Barbara Faulk, Crowley, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and Miss Agnes Cota, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Patricianne Baldridge, Iowa City, Iowa, were the bridesmaids. Dr. Faulk served as his son's best man and Lt. Sam Gallup, Fort Houston, was the usher.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white nylon marquisette gown. A design of seed pearls adorned the bodice, made with long fitted sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist. Her full skirt ended in a sweeping train. A rolled crown wound in pearls held her finger tip length veil of net and a bridal bouquet, centered with a white orchid, completed her costume. Her attendants were all dressed alike in white moire and net gowns fashioned with a fitted moire bodice and full net skirt. With them they wore long white gloves, and white net hats trimmed in flowers matching their colonial bouquets. Silver rhinestone pins, gifts of the bride, were their only ornaments.

Mrs. Eckhart chose a turquoise two piece suit, with white accessories for her daughter's wedding, with it she wore a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. Faulk was attired in a white print dress with which she wore white accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kent State university, Kent, O., where she received her B. S. degree in education, and was a member of the Cardinal Key, honorary women's club; did post graduate work at the university of Akron, and received her Master's degree from the University of Iowa. She is also a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Chi Delta Phi, national women's literary honorary society.

She was formerly director of the department of speech correction of schools in Rochester, Minn., conducted speech clinics at the University of Iowa and now is assisting in aural rehabilitation clinics at Borden General hospital, Chickasha, Okla.

Lt. Faulk received his B. S. degree from Louisiana university, and his medical degree from Tulane university. He is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity and Kappa Sigma, social fraternity. Serving as a first lieutenant in the medical corps the bridegroom was first astationed at Borden General hospital and now is on duty at Fort Sam Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckhart entertained with a reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at the Gunter hotel, San Antonio, Texas, following the ceremony. After which Lt. and Mrs. Faulk left for a wedding trip to Lost Valley, Bandeira, Texas. For traveling the bride chose a black linen suit with matching accessories. With it she wore a platinum filigree pin with a diamond and sapphire, gift of the bridegroom. Upon their return they will reside at 701 Grayson avenue, San Antonio.

The bride entertained her attendants at a luncheon July 19 in the colonial room of the Menger hotel, San Antonio. The rehearsal dinner was served in the patio that evening, with her parents as hosts.

Girl Asks Advice On Love Affair With Married Man

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am very much in love with a married man. He loves me, too, I know, because he told me so.

His wife does not know that I have been going out with him frequently. He is waiting to see how his marriage will work out, and has asked me to wait for him.

I have no interest in other boys, and would not want to go out with them. What should I do?

M.C.

Playing with married men is playing with fire, M.C., and the chances are just about nine out of ten that any girl who does so will get badly burned.

I hope that your confidence in this man is not misplaced, but I wonder if you know how often, in the world, married men tell young girls that they love them, that they are planning to get a divorce and will marry them, when they have no intention of doing any such thing but merely wish to carry on a passing flirtation, if nothing more serious. While this man has not said definitely that he plans to get a divorce, he is holding the possibility before your eyes, and it is even meaner business to ask you to wait until he makes up his mind. If he were really in love with you, he would hardly be hesitating in any such fashion.

If you really want to know what I think you should do, it's to stop seeing this man at once, and refuse to see him any more while he still has a wife. I may be wrong, but my guess is that he means to keep right on living with the one he's got now.

Letters Are Unanswered

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young girl of 17 and am deeply in love with a boy of 18. He is in the navy and stationed right here in my town.

We had a date for a certain evening, and before that evening he was put on night duty. He wrote me a very lovely letter explaining why he couldn't keep the date. I answered his letter and wrote two more after that, but he hasn't even answered one of them yet. I am awfully worried, because I believe I must have written something in one of the letters that has made him turn against me.

I have known him two months, and I saw him three times before he was put on night duty. I love him dearly and I go to bed in tears every night. I have just come to the point where I don't care what happens any more. Please help me.

HEARTBROKEN

I am sorry that I couldn't answer your letter by the date you asked me to in your postscript.

But I am hoping that by now you have either heard from your sailor, or have made up your mind that it is silly to cry your eyes out over a man you have seen only three times. Far better to dry your tears and start looking around for another boy friend.

I do not believe you said anything in any of your letters to offend this boy. I'm afraid it's much more likely that he just wasn't interested enough to follow up the acquaintance, and if you're a smart girl you'll act on that theory unless he comes around and tells you differently. Don't cheapen yourself by keeping on writing to a boy who makes no response.

Girl Asks Advice On Love Affair With Married Man

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am very much in love with a married man. He loves me, too, I know, because he told me so.

His wife does not know that I have been going out with him frequently. He is waiting to see how his marriage will work out, and has asked me to wait for him.

I have no interest in other boys, and would not want to go out with them. What should I do?

M.C.

Playing with married men is playing with fire, M.C., and the chances are just about nine out of ten that any girl who does so will get badly burned.

I hope that your confidence in this man is not misplaced, but I wonder if you know how often, in the world, married men tell young girls that they love them, that they are planning to get a divorce and will marry them, when they have no intention of doing any such thing but merely wish to carry on a passing flirtation, if nothing more serious. While this man has not said definitely that he plans to get a divorce, he is holding the possibility before your eyes, and it is even meaner business to ask you to wait until he makes up his mind. If he were really in love with you, he would hardly be hesitating in any such fashion.

If you really want to know what I think you should do, it's to stop seeing this man at once, and refuse to see him any more while he still has a wife. I may be wrong, but my guess is that he means to keep right on living with the one he's got now.

Letters Are Unanswered

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young girl of 17 and am deeply in love with a boy of 18. He is in the navy and stationed right here in my town.

We had a date for a certain evening, and before that evening he was put on night duty. He wrote me a very lovely letter explaining why he couldn't keep the date. I answered his letter and wrote two more after that, but he hasn't even answered one of them yet. I am awfully worried, because I believe I must have written something in one of the letters that has made him turn against me.

I have known him two months, and I saw him three times before he was put on night duty. I love him dearly and I go to bed in tears every night. I have just come to the point where I don't care what happens any more. Please help me.

HEARTBROKEN

I am sorry that I couldn't answer your letter by the date you asked me to in your postscript.

But I am hoping that by now you have either heard from your sailor, or have made up your mind that it is silly to cry your eyes out over a man you have seen only three times. Far better to dry your tears and start looking around for another boy friend.

I do not believe you said anything in any of your letters to offend this boy. I'm afraid it's much more likely that he just wasn't interested enough to follow up the acquaintance, and if you're a smart girl you'll act on that theory unless he comes around and tells you differently. Don't cheapen yourself by keeping on writing to a boy who makes no response.

Four Persons Treated In Local Hospital

John Seaders, 19, Bowie 1, was admitted to Allegany hospital Tuesday afternoon for treatment of a possible fracture of the right leg. He told attaches he was struck by a large stone while working in a quarry.

Mrs. Carl B. Sherred, Fort Cumberland hotel, was treated Tuesday morning in Allegany hospital for lacerations on the left knee and upper lip suffered, she told attaches, when she fell on Baltimore street.

Treated in Allegany hospital Tuesday evening were Robert Dale Bennett, 9, 461 Columbia street, for a laceration of the right ear suffered when he was struck by a falling board and "Chuck" Martens, Bedford road, who was struck in the stomach with a softball.

Strangely enough the fellow most in need of advice doesn't want it.

City's Recreation Facilities Praised

Recreational activities provided for young people in Cumberland are of substantial help in curbing juvenile crime, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney and president of the Police Boys club, said yesterday.

Harris said 250 boys are taking part in activities of the club, which was organized in 1939 by local officers, adding that the program "unquestionably is doing much good."

The club has a program of summer camping, football, baseball, softball, swimming, gym work in the high schools, a Christmas dinner, and talks on citizenship. It has a membership of 250 and operates on a budget of $1,400, which is raised by voluntary contributions.

Other programs which have developed to a great extent in recent years are those of Central YMCA, Scout organizations, the Salvation Army and city playgrounds. The "Y" operates the Rec club with 1,600 members, a Teen-age club operates at the Masonic temple, SS. Peter and Paul has the Chick club, and at St. Patrick's a social center is operated.

In the summer the YMCA, the Scout groups and the Kiwanis club operate camps with hundreds attending.

"Money used for a juvenile program is well spent," Harris said. "It is better to make corrections early than to have crime develop later and then result in a great cost to the state. Juvenile crime is not bad here, although some people think otherwise. A study of the records will show that conditions are improving."

Capt. L. M. Bairstow Returns Here To Command Recruiting

Capt. L. M. Bairstow, army recruiting officer, arrived here Tuesday afternoon to take charge of the local station, Union street building. He left here in April and was succeeded by Capt. N. S. P. Stitt, who was transferred last week to Baltimore.

Lt. George J. Gocke, who has been second in command here for some time, and was acting commanding until Capt. Bairstow arrived Tuesday, has left for temporary duty at Winchester, Va., where he will have charge of recruiting in that area. He expects to be reassigned to Cumberland in about 30 days.

Capt. Bairstow said yesterday that Lt. Col. John J. Shettle, officer in charge of recruiting for the Baltimore district, has issued an order for a special effort in recruiting former members of the Women's Army Corps for assignment to the European theater.

Those eligible for reenlistment and foreign assignment include WAC personnel having experience as stenographers, general clerks, statistical clerks, teletype - writer operators, clerk typists, administrative NCO's, telephone switch-board operators, cryptographic technicians and supply clerks.

HIT-SKIP CHARGE — George White, theatrical producer of "Scandals" fame, is charged with negligent homicide in San Diego, Calif., after his automobile allegedly killed two pedestrians. White was arrested several miles from the scene of the accident.

River Board Will Meet Next Week

Mark Roe, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Board, announced yesterday that he has called a meeting for next Wednesday night at 7:30 at the City Hall auditorium to which the public is invited.

State Senator Harold Sothoron, from the Eastern Shore, who serves on the Interstate Commission of the Upper Potomac River Basin, will be the guest speaker at the meeting and will bring interested people in this section up to date on the overall picture in regard to pollution and other similar matters as they relate to the Potomac river.

The meeting called by Mr. Roe for Wednesday is a part of the board's program announced at the recent meeting of the commission at New Germany to expand the scope of the program, and to focus the attention of the general public on the project by gaining a more representative cross-section to the board's membership.

Mr. Roe stressed the point that next week's meeting will be open to all and said that Sothoron, one of the driving leaders in the program, has promised to give the audience full details on all work accomplished since the meeting at New Germany.

Chairman Roe said he has sent a number of form letters inviting people in important positions in the community to attend the meeting.

Ethel Short Sues Local Cab Company

Ethel L. Short, this city, has filed suit by titling in circuit court, against Fred W. Jenkins, trading as the Astor Cab Company. Her counsel, Edward J. Ryan, said the action results from an accident while she was a passenger in taxicab, which was involved in mishap on a city street.

Ryan didn't indicate the amount of damage to be asked by the plaintiff.

Asking for a writ of habeas corpus to regain the custody of a minor son, George H. Wilson, Williams road, has filed a petition against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eva B. See, also of Williams road.

His attorney, Ryan, said the child, George H. Wilson, Jr., 5 is "illegally detained" at the See home. Chief Judge Williams A. Huster set July 31, as the date for the hearing.

Selected Industrials And Rails Get Back On Feet In Stock Market

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Selected industrials and rails got back on their feet in today's stock market with timid support generally attributed to the belief Tuesday's slump may have been overdone and that the list was in technical shape for a good comeback.

Steels led an early recovery but failed to follow through and extreme advances of fractions to a point or more were reduced in the majority of instances at the close. The minus column was well populated. Dealings tapered after a fairly active forenoon and transfers dwindled to 1,170,000 shares from 1,690,000 on the selloff the day before which was the top volume since last May 29.

Youngstown Sheet jumped two points on a boosted quarterly, cut this to one-fourth and finished up one at $74. G. R. Kinney common added two at $24 following declaration of the first dividend since 1931. Union Pacific tacked on 2⅝ at $147.75 on only 300 shares, Public Service on New Jersey $8 preferred two at $130 and Douglas Aircraft 2¼ at $83.

Rail issues rounded out an erratic session in the bond market by once more sliding to a new average low for the year.

Action centered in issues of carriers in reorganization. Off to a bad start, they tried a mid-session rally which lacked carrythrough and closed with losses in the majority.

Monon 4½ posted one of the widest losses, down two at 53. Also lower were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 66½, Rock Island convertibles at 33½, Missouri Pacific "F" 5s at 91⅛, New York Central "A" 4½s at 91⅝, Frisco "A" 4s at 53⅝, and Seaboard Airline incomes at 78¼.

In the foreign list Sao Paulo stamped 6s jumped five to 59. Lower were issues of Australia, Argentine, and Brazil.

Long-term United States governments moved up 1-32 to 3-32 in the over-the-counter market with the Victory loan December 2½s at 103 7-32 bid.

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Selected industrials and rails got back on their feet in today's stock market with timid support generally attributed to the belief Tuesday's slump may have been overdone and that the list was in technical shape for a good comeback.

Steels led an early recovery but failed to follow through and extreme advances of fractions to a point or more were reduced in the majority of instances at the close. The minus column was well populated. Dealings tapered after a fairly active forenoon and transfers dwindled to 1,170,000 shares from 1,690,000 on the selloff the day before which was the top volume since last May 29.

Youngstown Sheet jumped two points on a boosted quarterly, cut this to one-fourth and finished up one at $74. G. R. Kinney common added two at $24 following declaration of the first dividend since 1931. Union Pacific tacked on 2⅝ at $147.75 on only 300 shares, Public Service on New Jersey $8 preferred two at $130 and Douglas Aircraft 2¼ at $83.

Rail issues rounded out an erratic session in the bond market by once more sliding to a new average low for the year.

Action centered in issues of carriers in reorganization. Off to a bad start, they tried a mid-session rally which lacked carrythrough and closed with losses in the majority.

Monon 4½ posted one of the widest losses, down two at 53. Also lower were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 66½, Rock Island convertibles at 33½, Missouri Pacific "F" 5s at 91½, New York Central "A" 4½s at 91⅝, Frisco "A" 4s at 53¾, and Seaboard Airline incomes at 78¼.

Sales of $4,562,000 compared with $4,670,000 Tuesday.

Overseas Veteran Divorces Girl He Wed In England

Declares He Wouldn't Have Married "If Wife's Conduct Was Known"

An ex-soldier who declared he "never would have married" if he had known of his wife's character, was granted an absolute divorce yesterday from an English girl whom he married nine months ago while serving with the army in Scunthorpe, England.

In testimony given in circuit court here, Donald R. McCleaf, 21, stated that he married Maphis L. Hyke, 24, daughter of a captain in His Majesty's Navy, October 6, 1945, while he was serving overseas with the army. Shortly after he was married, McCleaf declared, "some of his buddies" told him that they had been "going with his wife, but didn't know she was married."

Girl Was Divorcee

McCleaf said just before his marriage, he told the English girl that he had never been married and she assured him that she was single too. Later, the ex-soldier stated, he discovered an English divorce paper in his wife's room and asked her about it. "She then admitted that she had previously been married to a Fred Hyke, but he had divorced her May 14, 1945, for "misconduct."

After this incident, McCleaf said, he was told by numerous friends that they had been "out with his wife," and on each occasion she had declared she was divorced.

Since returning to this country, the former serviceman declared, he received a letter from his wife saying "she would never come to America, and he may as well get a divorce."

McCleaf a Baltimore and Ohio worker, who resides at 220 Union street, said no children were born of the marriage, and declared he had continued to live with his wife until November 27, 1945, when he went to town on a late pass and found his wife with another man.

The final decree was signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster. E. M. Horchler represented the plaintiff.

Seafers Wagner, Ridgeley, W. Va., was granted an absolute divorce from Mrs. Minnie Wagner. Her attorney, Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., said they were married August, 1923, and have a son. Desertion was alleged. Earl E. Manges was counsel for the complaintant.

Detrick Gets Divorce

Judge Huster also granted a divorce to Harry Detrick, 24, Ridgeley, from Mrs. Ruth Detrick. The wife was awarded the custody of a minor child. Detrick, a veteran of World War II, said they were married February 27, 1941, and he entered service in November, 1943. His attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said the wife found "other attractions" while Detrick was in the service.

Mrs. Anna P. Hyde, 501 Necessity street, has filed suit for an absolute divorce from Walter C. Hyde. Her counsel, Morgan C. Harris, said they were married December 16, 1936, in Winchester, Va.

Chief Judge Huster has ordered Hyde to pay his wife $15 a week pending the decision of the case, and also restrained him from entering the home or molesting her in any way.

ment interpreted to mean what it says instead of in the light of ancient customs and limitations on their liberty," Mayor McKeldin said.

He pointed out that 98 years ago this month representatives of American women met in convention at Seneca Falls and drew up their bill of rights.

"The struggle to achieve those rights has been going on ever since, and every step forward has been a gain for humanity," he stated.

In impromptu remarks after delivering his prepared address, Mayor McKeldin warned against the idea that "everybody should be rich."

"That is not the American way of life," he said. "The true way is to work hard and save money. As the little boy said who was sliding downhill on one ski, 'You can have a lot of fun on one ski if you ain't got two.'"

Receives Silver Pin

In a more serious vein, he concluded, "This is a workers' republic. The platform of the Republican party is to keep the republic working for every American."

At the conclusion of his address, Mayor McKeldin presented Mrs. Tilghman with a sterling silver pin in the shape of a miniature elephant, symbol of the GOP, in recognition of her services as temporary chairman at the state convention.

Mrs. Tilghman presided and introduced Mrs. Arianna Blizzard, candidate for the House of Delegates from the Fifth legislative district of Baltimore city, and chairman of the federation speakers' bureau, who in turn introduced the speakers. Mrs. David M. Steele, president of the local club, extended greetings.

Brief talks were given by George Cochran Doub, Owings Mills, Republican candidate for attorney general; Alexander T. Grier, Salisbury, Republican candidate for comptroller; and Edmund A. Glenn, congressional candidate from the Fifth district. John T. Fey, William H. Geppert and Noel Speir Cook, Republican nominees for the House of Delegates, were introduced.

Try some new tricks with hash. Spread half the hash in a greased baking dish, cover with layer of sliced cooked beets. Place remaining hash on top, spread lightly with a bit of chili sauce and bake in a moderate oven until brown. For another variation, put a layer of sliced hard-cooked eggs in the middle. To remove grass stains make this careful distinction between white and colored washables. White cottons or linens: Rub with grease (cooking fat or oil) and wash in hot suds; bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide or alcohol; rinsing well afterward. BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and grown-ups may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong!

Watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself—especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it. After centuries of distress caused by Pin-Worms, a highly effective way to deal with them has been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug called gentian violet.

This special drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

So if you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

Heavy Equipment Damaged Street, Commissioner Says

Damage has been done to Oldtown road, over which G. C. Sensabaugh, Inc., Cumberland contracting firm, has been moving heavy stone crushing machinery, Commissioner Myers G. Light said yesterday.

Replying to accusations made Tuesday by French Sensabaugh that Cumberland officials have been "standing in the way of progress" and have shown" discrimination," Light said that anyone who makes an examination of Oldtown road can see that bricks were smashed down and chipped.

He was substantiated in this opinion by City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer who said some damage was done, apparently Tuesday morning when the firm "moved what appears to have been a heavy screen with 18-inch steel wheels over the route before daylight."

Rizer testified Tuesday at a hearing at police court where G. C. Sensabaugh was charged with violation of City Ordinance 1530, sub section P, that apparently no damage had been done.

Damaged After Arrest

However, Rizer said yesterday that the damage was apparently done Tuesday before daylight when Sensabaugh moved a heavy piece of equipment "after he was arrested." No damage was done prior to that time, Rizer said.

G. C. Sensabaugh, president of the firm which he manages in conjunction with his four veteran sons was found guilty of violating the ordinance which covers movement of heavy equipment over city streets. Sentence was suspended with the court ruling that Sensabaugh had been acting in good faith and had offered to put up a bond covering any damage.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and grown-ups may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong!

Watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself—especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it. After centuries of distress caused by Pin-Worms, a highly effective way to deal with them has been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug called gentian violet.

This special drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

So if you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Heavy Equipment Damaged Street, Commissioner Says

Damage has been done to Oldtown road, over which G. C. Sensabaugh, Inc., Cumberland contracting firm, has been moving heavy stone crushing machinery, Commissioner Myers G. Light said yesterday.

Replying to accusations made Tuesday by French Sensabaugh that Cumberland officials have been "standing in the way of progress" and have shown" discrimination," Light said that anyone who makes an examination of Oldtown road can see that bricks were smashed down and chipped.

He was substantiated in this opinion by City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer who said some damage was done, apparently Tuesday morning when the firm "moved what appears to have been a heavy screen with 18-inch steel wheels over the route before daylight."

Rizer testified Tuesday at a hearing at police court where G. C. Sensabaugh was charged with violation of City Ordinance 1530, sub section P, that apparently no damage had been done.

Damaged After Arrest

However, Rizer said yesterday that the damage was apparently done Tuesday before daylight when Sensabaugh moved a heavy piece of equipment "after he was arrested." No damage was done prior to that time, Rizer said.

G. C. Sensabaugh, president of the firm which he manages in conjunction with his four veteran sons was found guilty of violating the ordinance which covers movement of heavy equipment over city streets. Sentence was suspended with the court ruling that Sensabaugh had been acting in good faith and had offered to put up a bond covering any damage.

Increased Study In Agriculture Is Planned Here

H. M. McDonald, State Supervisor, Visits Area As Part Of State Tour

H. M. McDonald, recently appointed state supervisor of agriculture, visited this county yesterday as part of a state tour "to increase the scope of agriculture instruction in schools wherever possible and to set up new departments."

McDonald, a native of Barton and also a graduate of that high school, explained "now that the war is over great hope is held for expanding the agricultre teaching facilities."

He conferred with County School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp and James House, agricultural and vocation director in the school system, and was given a complete picture of the present setup for agriculture study in the county schools.

McDonald, whose appointment was recently announced by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, is a graduate of the University of Maryland and holds a master's degree from Columbia university.

After serving in World War I, the new supervisor made his home in Baltimore and more recently was principal of Sparks high school.

Both House and Kopp expressed hope of an intensified agricultural program in the county high schools. House explained that such schools Fort Hill and Allegany are centralized points in the sense that many of the students come from rural areas and it is therefore important that agricultural subjects be taught.

Kopp said yesterday "we consider it our duty to give the students these subjects in order to retain a fair proportion of our students in the basic work of farming," and added, that he is hopeful House will be able to devote more time to the city schools in the future.

House explained that the Kiwanis club of Cumberland has given impetus to the present work by donation of two pigs to start "pig-rings" in the county.

A Berkshire hog given by the club was awarded to Osborne Ayres, of Mt. Pleasant, a Fort Hill student, and a Hampshire hog also donated by the Kiwanis Club, was awarded to Sheldon Bible, Mexico Farms, also a Fort Hill student.

An Ohio Improved Chester hog donated by the Future Farmers of America Foundation, an organization financed by a number of large industries, was awarded to George Hartley, a student who lives at Little Orleans.

Grand Jury Will Try GI's Alleged Slayer

ELKTON, Md., July 24 (AP) — Manslaughter charges were placed against Benjamin Hitchens, 50, today by Magistrate James Weinroth in the fatal shooting of Staff Sgt. Samuel Manooshian, Worcester, Mass.

The soldier, stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., was killed last July 20 at the Hitchens home where he had been invited for supper by Hitchens's widowed daughter.

Hitchens was released on $1,500 bail for action of the September term of the grand jury, which convenes September 16 in Elkton.

Justice Department Okays Steel Mill Sale

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The Justice department today approved the $65,000,000 sale of government steel mill facilities at Homestead, Duquesne and Braddock, Pa., to the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, a subsidiary of United States Steel.

The transfer, biggest single cash sale of surplus property in the history of the War Assets Administration, was announced by WAA June 25. It was subject to the Justice department's ruling on whether the deal would violate anti-monopoly statutes.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark has ruled that sale of the property, which was built to operate in conjunction with the adjacent Carnegie-Illinois plants, would not violate the anti-trust laws, a WAA spokesman said.

Pay, Price Hikes Costly To B. And O.

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — Wage and prce increases during the first six months of the year cost the Baltimore and Ohio railroad approximately half its cash reserves, Roy B. White, president of the road, told the Interstate Commerce Commission today in support of American railroads' plan for a 25 per cent freight rate boost.

White testified that the B. and O. handled the heaviest traffic in its peacetime history during the first half of 1946, but added the road expended an additional $17,000,000 from its reserves to meet increased prices and wages.

"Had all the 1946 wages increases been in effect for the full six months," White said, "and had the prices of fuel and materials which now prevail been in effect then, the deficit would have been more than $19,000,000."

White said the results of "depletion" of the road's working capital had postponed work on the road and a "forced reduction" of 10,436 full-time positions, of which 7,672 were maintenance men.

The ICC already has granted emergency rate increases, which White said "averaged about seven per cent" on his road.

One Fatal Traffic Mishap In County

One person was killed and ten others hurt in 16 motor accidents in Allegany county last month, according to a report by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. Elever persons have been fatally injured in this county since January 1.

The victim, Mrs. Leona Himmelwright, 47, wife of Raymond H. Himmelwright, of Mt. Savage, was fatally hurt when the car in which she was riding crashed against a concrete wall near St. Patrick's Hall in Mt. Savage on June 16. Twe others were seriously injured in the mishap.

Of the 1,221 traffic accidents investigated in the state, 740 occurred in Baltimore. The total number of mishaps resulted in the death of 36 persons and the injury of 665. Thirty-six per cent of the fatalities were pedestrians, a reduction in number from the usual 50 per cent.

The years traffic toll is now 198 as compared with 191 for the same period last year, an increase of four per cent.

Maryland motor fatalities since V-J Day now is more than nine per cent of the total number of state men and women who lost their lives while serving in the Army in World War II. Maryland's Army dead in the war had been listed by the War Department at 4,356.

In a period from August, 1945, through June, 398 pedestrians and motorists were killed in automobile accidents.

WARSAW (AP)—The government is abolishing the "deliveries in kind" system under which millions of peasants were required to pay their taxes in provisions instead of money.

The plan, devised after the provisional government came to power a year ago, caused much discontent among peasants. Government officials, too, never succeeded in making full collections.

The council of ministers, announcing abolition of the system, said the collected foodstuffs had contributed greatly to keeping large towns and cities supplied.

With the end of it, peasants can sell their goods in the "free market."

Thanked For Sweater

Mrs. C. E. Smith, Davis, received the following letter from the recipient of a sweater she knit sometime ago. The letter reads: "It is only now that I can thank you for the nice sweater which the American Red Cross handed us. The slip we found with your name on showed you as author.

"My nine-year-old daughter was very happy to have the fine sweater which is very much use to her, for she has not many clothes, and especially not so warm and good ones.

"We are bombed out, and my husband who was persecuted by the Nazis, was six years out of position. Now is he, who is a doctor of law as I am, an official of the Austrian government in a small town in upper Austria. We have two daughters, and the greater one was the happy receiver of the nice sweater. Thanking you again, believe me Madam.

Very sincerely yours"

(DR.) JUTTA JUNGWIRTH.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD, July 24—It's British star, Ann Todd, for "The Paradine Case"—David Seiznick's movie loudly touted as the possible screencomeback for Greta Garbo. That's the top news this morning—David O. having completed arrangements several days ago to borrow the English actress from J. Arthur Rank. Fact is, the deal is so far along, transportation has been arranged, and the charmer who clicked so solidly with James Mason in "The Seventh Veil" will be in Hollywood in three weeks for her American debut.

Many people have commented on the striking resemblance between Miss Todd and Garbo, but oddly enough, she will not play the character of "Mrs. Paradine" which G. G. was supposed to assume before taking off for Sweden. Ann's part is that of Gregory Peck's wife with Mrs. Paradine still open for another top name star. Another import for the same picture is Sir Cedric Hardwicke—hurrying to finishing "Nicholas Nickelby" in London to be here on starting time.

William Holden may have been a bit on the blue side, but it paid him to wait for Paramount to get just the right story for his first picture since his service discharge. Bill co-stars with Joan Caulfield in "Dear Ruth", the Norman Krasna stage hit about the kid who writes love letters to a soldier, signs her older sister's name, and gets cupid royally tangled up in the mischief. The role puts Holden right back in uniform again as the bewildered G. I. Sidney Lanfield directs the Paul Jones production which gets going the middle of August.

There's more to Broadway producer Al Bloom's visit to Hollywood than to talk stage plays with movie stars. He has completed plans to set up an independent production company to make a single feature length film starring Paul Muni, Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield and other top film names with profits to be turned over to the American Palestine committee. Bloom, following a series of conferences with distinguished American Christians and Jews, is negotiating for the purchase of the stage play, "Let Them Live!" by Leon Gutterman for the movie.

Now that Robert Wilder's "Written On the Wind" has followed William Dozier from RKO to International pictures—what do you bet he isn't handed the story of high life in a tobacco family to produce? and if Mr. Dozier does make it—he has a perfect cast right in his own family. His sister-in-law, Olivia de Havilland, would be perfect for the torch singer who marries the tobacco scion, and his bride, Joan Fontaine, a natural for the madcap daughter of the spoiling millions. This tip is absolutely free—just out of the kindness of my heart.

Chatter in Hollywood: No wonder Joan Crawford is tops with Hollywood's cameramen! When she walked into the Cabana Club the other night with Clark Gable (choking the startled onlookers on their hors d'ouevres) she was so sure that the photographers would make a field day of the date, she invited four of the lens boys to share their table. Now that's nice cooperating—a pleasant relief from the camera smashing antics now and then. The next night, Joan looking like a dream in a big floppy hat with roses on the brim, showed up at the same place with her two children in tow.

Hollywood in shorts: Tony Martin still hospitalized, so grateful to Phil Harris for last minute subbing on his radio show, he sent him beautiful cuff links. Has anybody pointed up that Phil, who did a swell job, is married to Alice Faye, once Tony's wife?; the beautiful Lorena Danker mocambeauing with Carl Leserman last night; sympathy goes to Ann Blyth, a broken hearted little girl over the death of her mother on Monday; Eddie Buzzell's pretty niece, Gloria, has been in Hollywood two weeks and had four picture offers—a tres pretty 18-year-older she is too; Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball will make his "personals" tour in one of those new town and country cars which EVERYBODY seems to have all of a sudden; the Laguna Beach playhouse drawing the weekend crowds. Connie Moore, Zachary Scott, Gig Young and the Mike Curtizes were on hand to see Keenan Wynn summer stock perform in 20th Century". By the way, John Lucas, Bess Meredith's son is the producer; 20th chose a nice time to extend Helen Walker's contract—her birthday; D. D. West (that's a gal, son) who used to go with Larry Tierney, has been receiving telephone calls daily from Maxie Rosenbloom in Chicago; Garwood Van and his ork head for England as soon as they finish the Arrowhead engagement; it's Red Skelton's birthday tonight; Gabriel Pascal, due here in 10 days to huddle with Gracie Fields about "Mrs. Warren's Profession"—which may be made here, instead of London, by the way. That's all today.

MIZE'S HOMER SINKS CARDS; DODGERS NOSE OUT CUBS, 2-1

Giant Slugger's Wallop Wins Game In Ninth, 3-1; Brooklyn Takes Full Game Lead

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Johnny Mize hammered a 420-foot home run with one on in the last half of the ninth inning to give the New York Giants a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals tonight before 36,344 fans. The defeat dropped the Redbirds one full game behind the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers who whipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Mickey Witek opened the Giants' half with a single and after Willard Marshall popped out, Mize blasted a 2-2 serve far into the upper right-centerfield stands for his 20th homer and the ball game.

Koslo hurled steadily for his 11th win, giving up only five hits. Doubles by Stan Musial and George Kurowski accounted for the Red Birds lone run in the sixth. The giants' first market came in the second when Koslo walked with the bases full. Box:

DODGERS EDGE CUBS

BROOKLYN, July 24 (AP) — Scoring both their runs in the first inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 2-1 tonight as Joe Hatten held the third place Bruins to six hits while the Brooks tagged Hooks Wyse for 11 safeties.

The victory, witnessed by 30,677 cash customers, gave the Brooks undisputed possession of first place in the National League, one full game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, who fell out of a tie when they were beaten by the Giants in another arc-light contest.

Brooklyn scored both runs in the opening frame on a single by Ed Stanky, a double by Ed Stevens and a pass to Bob Ramazzotti after the Brooks had filled the bases. The Cubs' tally came in the third and was unearned. It resulted from a single by Don Johnson, a wild throw by Stevens and Phil Cavarretta's outfield fly. Box:

PHILADELPHIA, July 24 (AP)—Jim Tabor's sixth home run of the year with Charlie Gilbert aboard in the third inning gave the Philadelphia Phils a 2 to 0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight before 22,025 paid.

Schoolboy Rowe, who defeated the Pirates, 3 to 1, and allowed only three hits the last time he faced them, gave up seven hits for his tenth victory of the season against four setbacks.

Rowe spiked his starting opponent, Nick Strincevich, in the fifth while the Pirate pitcher was making a putout but Strincevich remained in the game until the eighth when he was removed for a pinch hitter.

Two were out in the third when Gilbert reached first on an error. Then Tabor homered into left field. Score:

Clark, Silvestri Defeated In Public Links Tournament

Medalist And Runner-Up Lose To Holt, Gunkle in Denver Tests

By BEN FUNK

DENVER, July 24 (AP) — Smashing upsets featured the National Public Links Golf Tournament today as the record-busting medalist, Jimmy Clark of Long Beach, Calif., and the runner-up, Bob Silvestri of San Francisco, were booted out in the first round of match play.

Marshall Holt, a long, lean, 34-year-old cooking utensil salesman from Clark's home town, eliminated the ex-Marine sharpshooter 2 and 1, and James Gunkle, Denver wholesale supply company employe, ousted Silvestri, 1 up on the 19th hole.

Never a tournament winner and until recently just an average golfer, Holt admitted modestly that his putter "was working pretty well." He confided that "Jimmy always beats me at home, but he was off today."

Clark, whose 134 in the qualifying round broke his own U.S.G.A. record for medal competition, blew four strokes over par as his tee and iron shots went wild, and declared "I couldn't do anything right" as he stalked angrily off the course. Holt qualified at 150.

Gunkle, just out of the navy after four years of service as an aviation radioman, fought Silvestri to a draw over the regulation route, then dropped a birdie four on the 19th for his victory.

The 1940 king of the public links, Robert C. Clark of St. Paul, Minn., was put out, 5 and 4, by Michael Stefanchik, 32-year-old Gary, Ind., steel worker and former Indiana Open champion. Clark won just one hole, the 12th, where he had his only birdie of the day.

Bel Air Bookies Are Fined $900

Upswing In Bookmaking Follows Crackdown In Baltimore

BEL AIR, Md., July 24 (AP)—Magistrate T. Leo Sullivan, of Bel Air, levied fines today of $600 and costs against Frank Possidente and $300 and costs against Harry E. Jackins, both of Baltimore, on charges of bookmaking at the Bel Air racetrack this afternoon.

The men were arrested by Sheriff Charles T. Stephens and Deputies J. Vaughn McMahon and Jay Blevins, of Harford county.

Stephens said he expected a rise in attempted bookmaking activities at the Bel Air meeting this season because of what he termed a crackdown on bookies by the Baltimore Police Department.

Because bookies were lying low in Baltimore, the sheriff said, an upswing in bookmaking had been anticipated at the Bel Air track. He added also that the size of the crowd of 12,000 at today's Inaugural event made it difficult for fans to get to betting windows and led to their placing bets with the bookies.

CHANDLER WINS 15th

ST. LOUIS, July 24 (AP) — Spud Chandler scored his 15th victory of the season tonight as the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Browns 5 to 3 but Joe Page had to be called on to snuff out a ninth-inning rally in which the Browns had scored one run and loaded the bases with two out.

Chandler, touched for three hits and two runs in the second, had allowed but one other hit until the ninth when the Browns counted on an error and a single and proceeded to fill the bases on a walk and a hit batsman. The southpaw, Page, was called in when the Browns inserted a left handed hitter, Walt Judnich, into the lineup to bat for Sam Zoldak. Immediately Red McQuillen, a right handed batsman, was substituted for Judnich. He popped out. Score:

Appellate Court Invalidates Race Ruling Presuming Guilt In Drugging Of Thoroughbreds

Section Destroyed Right Of Trainer Byers To Establish Innocence, Is Court's Opinion

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 24 (AP)—A Maryland Court of Appeals opinion, disclosed today, invalidated a State Racing Commission rule presuming guilt in administering drugs to horses, and declared, "if this is just, then the term unjust is without meaning."

In thus scoring Section D of Rule 146, the court held the section destroyed the right of Horse Trainer J. Dallet (Dolly) Byers to establish his innocence of racing commission charges.

Although the court struck down the section, which presumed complicity or carelessness in a trainer if evidence showed a horse was drugged with 48 hours of a race, it made clear the commission's broad powers to regulate racing still held good.

"It may make such rules, regulating the conduct of trainers, jockeys, and owners and generally regulate all matters pertaining to horse racing in order that they may be conducted fairly, decently and cleanly, but may not revoke a license except for cause."

Conviction of Byers under the rule, the commission had held, was sufficient to suspend his license to train horses at commission-supervised tracks for one year.

License Was Suspended

He had been declared guilty after saliva taken from "Cosey," a steeplechaser, was found to contain benzedrine after a race at Pimlico November 14, 1945. His license was then suspended.

The high court also made public today an opinion in a companion case. This was an appeal by W. L. Brann and Sylvester W. Labrot, horse owners, and Edward A. Christmas and Clay Sutphin, trainers.

The appellants sought a hearing in a lower court on their suit to restore their licenses unconditionally and award two purses of $2,200 due Brann and Labrot for victories at Pimlico race track last November 19.

In this case the Court of Appeals declared that the horsemen should have their day in court and that the racing commission should be required to answer their supplemental bill of complaint.

Their original bill was answered by the racing commission, and thereafter Judge Emory H. Niles of the Baltimore Circuit Court declared the rule unconstitutional.

The commission restored the horesmen's licenses conditionally, but continued to withhold the purses. From this situation the horsemen sought further relief, which was denied.

The high court reversed the lower court decree and remanded the case for further action.

Byers Given Clean Bill

"No facts or circumstances surrounding the stabling, care and attention given the horse after it had arrived at Pimlico is to be considered. The appellee's reputation as a clean, straight, decent jockey and trainer, which he has borne among the racing world for years and which was attested to by many witnesses of high standing is not to be considered in determining his guilt or innocence.

"In fact, the commission attested to the appellee's fine record, as will appear from the remarks made by its chairman, contained in the record. All this, like so much chaff, is to be blown away as waste in the operation of the machinery set up under this paragraph. This irrebuttable presumption destroyed the right of the appellee to offer evidence to establish his innocence.xxx

"The commission is a creature of the legislature and the legislature does not possess the power under the state constitution to prevent one from making a defense to a charge brought against him by subetituting an irrebuttable presumption for facts. Such a law would be arbitrary, illegal, capricious and hence unconstitutional x x x"

Court Powers Cited

The opinion, however, cautioned courts in dealing with racing commission orders: "The court has power to correct errors in law, but it cannot substitute its discretion for the discretion of the commission where there is evidence that reasonably justifies the commission's findings, even though the court may disagree with the commission.

It further said the courts might correct abuses of discretion but "must take care not to interfere with such administrative discretion, where discretion is clearly conferred."

It declared inoperative the commission stipulation on licenses that they might be summarily revoked.

Graziano-Zale Fight Is Set For Sept. 27

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP)—The postponed middleweight title fight between Champion Tony Zale and Challenger Rocky Graziano, already scheduled for September 26, was set back an additional day, until September 27, today, because the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashonah, falls on the earlier date.

In the event of rain on the 27th, the fight will be held in Yankee Stadium on the 28th. This would have a major bout fought on a Saturday, something which rarely has occurred in fistic history.

Harry Cooper To Play In $50,000 Tourney

CHICAGO, July 24. (AP)—A 4-under par 68 practice round today convinced Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Oahu club, Honolulu, pro, that his bruised foot had mended sufficiently to allow his participation in the $50,000 All-American golf tournament tomorrow.

A top golfer on the mainland before going to Honolulu two years ago, Cooper hurt his foot during the Victory Open last week and had feared he would not be able to play in the Tam O'Shanter show.

Cooper went out one-under par 35 and blazed the back nine 3-under par 33.

FRIDAY GAME
Jerry's vs. DeMolay (Stitcher)

Lover's Leap Service Station tossers launched the second half campaign in the Midget Baseball League with a 3 to 2 victory over Don and Bud's Confectionery at Stitcher Field.

Louie Arnone was the victor over Jackie Klosterman in a close and interesting mound duel which was decided in the fourth inning when True doubled, advanced to third on Clark's single and scored on a wild throw by Price. It was Arnone's fourth win in as many starts. He fanned seven, issued two free tickets and let the Confectioners down with three hits, one a double by Bob Price. Klosterman was touched for six hits, including a triple by Joe Reissig and doubles by True and Devault.

Lover's Leap took a 2-0 lead in the third frame when Reissig smashed a triple, McIntyre was hit by a pitched ball, Reissig registered the first run on a wild throw and Devault hammered home the other tally with a timely single.

Giant Slugger's Wallop Wins Game In Ninth, 3-1; Brooklyn Takes Full Game Lead

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Johnny Mize hammered a 420-foot home run with one on in the last half of the ninth inning to give the New York Giants a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals tonight before 36,344 fans. The defeat dropped the Redbirds one full game behind the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers who whipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Mickey Witek opened the Giants' half with a single and after Willard Marshall popped out, Mize blasted a 2-2 serve far into the upper right-centerfield stands for his 20th homer and the ball game.

Kosio hurled steadily for his 11th win, giving up only five hits. Doubles by Stan Musial and George Kurowski accounted for the Red Birds lone run in the sixth. The giants' first market came in the second when Koslo walked with the bases full. Box:

Clark, Silvestri Defeated In Public Links Tournament

By BEN FUNK

DENVER, July 24 (AP) — Smashing upsets featured the National Public Links Golf Tournament today as the record-busting medalist, Jimmy Clark of Long Beach, Calif., and the runner-up, Bob Silvestri of San Francisco, were booted out in the first round of match play.

Marshall Holt, a long, lean, 34-year-old cooking utensil salesman from Clark's home town, eliminated the ex-Marine sharpshooter 2 and 1, and James Gunkle, Denver wholesale supply company employe, ousted Silvestri, 1 up on the 19th hole.

Never a tournament winner and until recently just an average golfer, Holt admitted modestly that his putter "was working pretty well." He confided that "Jimmy always beats me at home, but he was off today."

Clark, whose 134 in the qualifying round broke his own U.S.G.A. record for medal competition, blew four strokes over par as his tee and iron shots went wild, and declared "I couldn't do anything right" as he stalked angrily off the course. Holt qualified at 150.

Gunkle, just out of the navy after four years of service as an aviation radioman, fought Silvestri to a draw over the regulation route, then dropped a birdie four on the 19th for his victory.

The 1940 king of the public links, Robert C. Clark of St. Paul, Minn., was put out, 5 and 4, by Michael Stefanchik, 32-year-old Gary, Ind., steel worker and former Indiana Open champion. Clark won just one hole, the 12th, where he had his only birdie of the day.

Bel Air Bookies Are Fined $900

Upswing In Bookmaking Follows Crackdown In Baltimore

BEL AIR, Md., July 24 (AP)—Magistrate T. Leo Sullivan, of Bel Air, levied fines today of $600 and costs against Frank Posidente and $300 and costs against Harry E. Jackins, both of Baltimore, on charges of bookmaking at the Bel Air racetrack this afternoon.

The men were arrested by Sheriff Charles T. Stephens and Deputies J. Vaughn McMahon and Jay Blevins, of Harford county.

Stephens said he expected a rise in attempted bookmaking activities at the Bel Air meeting this season because of what he termed a crackdown on bookies by the Baltimore Police Department.

Because bookies were lying low in Baltimore, the sheriff said, an upswing in bookmaking had been anticipated at the Bel Air track. He added also that the size of the crowd of 12,000 at today's Inaugural event made it difficult for fans to get to betting windows and led to their placing bets with the bookies.

CHANDLER WINS 15th

ST. LOUIS, July 24 (AP) — Spud Chandler scored his 15th victory of the season tonight as the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Browns 5 to 3 but Joe Page had to be called on to snuff out a ninth-inning rally in which the Browns had scored one run and loaded the bases with two out.

Chandler, touched for three hits and two runs in the second, had allowed but one other hit until the ninth when the Browns counted on an error and a single and proceeded to fill the bases on a walk and a hit batsman. The southpaw, Page, was called in when the Browns inserted a left handed hitter, Walt Judnich, into the lineup to bat for Sam Zoldak. Immediately Red McQuillen, a right handed batsman, was substituted for Judnich. He popped out. Score:

Appellate Court Invalidates Race Ruling Presuming Guilt In Drugging Of Thoroughbreds

Section Destroyed Right Of Trainer Byers To Establish Innocence, Is Court's Opinion

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 24 (AP)—A Maryland Court of Appeals opinion, disclosed today, invalidated a State Racing Commission rule presuming guilt in administering drugs to horses, and declared, "if this is just, then the term unjust is without meaning."

In thus scoring Section D of Rule 146, the court held the section destroyed the right of Horse Trainer J. Dallet (Dolly) Byers to establish his innocence of racing commission charges.

Although the court struck down the section, which presumed complicity or carelessness in a trainer if evidence showed a horse was drugged with 48 hours of a race, it made clear the commission's broad powers to regulate racing still held good.

"It may make such rules, regulating the conduct of trainers, jockeys, and owners and generally regulate all matters pertaining to horse racing in order that they may be conducted fairly, decently and cleanly, but may not revoke a license except for cause."

Conviction of Byers under the rule, the commission had held, was sufficient to suspend his license to train horses at commission-supervised tracks for one year.

License Was Suspended

He had been declared guilty after saliva taken from "Cosey," a steeplechaser, was found to contain benzedrine after a race at Pimlico November 14, 1945. His license was then suspended.

The high court also made public today an opinion in a companion case. This was an appeal by W. L. Brann and Sylvester W. Labrot, horse owners, and Edward A. Christmas and Clay Sutphin, trainers.

The appellants sought a hearing in a lower court on their suit to restore their licenses unconditionally and award two purses of $2,200 due Brann and Labrot for victories at Pimlico race track last November 19.

In this case the Court of Appeals declared that the horsemen should have their day in court and that the racing commission should be required to answer their supplemental bill of complaint.

Their original bill was answered by the racing commission, and thereafter Judge Emory H. Niles of the Baltimore Circuit Court declared the rule unconstitutional.

The commission restored the horesmen's licenses conditionally, but continued to withhold the purses. From this situation the horsemen sought further relief, which was denied.

The high court reversed the lower court decree and remanded the case for further action.

Byers Given Clean Bill

"No facts or circumstances surrounding the stabling, care and attention given the horse after it had arrived at Pimlico is to be considered. The appeallee's reputation as a clean, straight, decent jockey and trainer, which he has borne among the racing world for years and which was attested to by many witnesses of high standing is not to be considered in determining his guilt or innocence.

"In fact, the commission attested to the appellee's fine record, as will appear from the remarks made by its chairman, contained in the record. All this, like so much chaff, is to be blown away as waste in the operation of the machinery set up under this paragraph. This irrebuttable presumption destroyed the right of the appellee to offer evidence to establish his innocence.xxx

"The commission is a creature of the legislature and the legislature does not possess the power under the state constitution to prevent one from making a defense to a charge brought against him by substituting an irrebuttable presumption for facts. Such a law would be arbitrary, illegal, capricious and hence unconstitutional x x x"

Court Powers Cited

The opinion, however, cautioned courts in dealing with racing commission orders: "The court has power to correct errors in law, but it cannot substitute its discretion for the discretion of the commission where there is evidence that reasonably justifies the commission's findings, even though the court may disagree with the commission.

It further said the courts might correct abuses of discretion but "must take care not to interfere with such administrative discretion, where discretion is clearly conferred."

CHICAGO, July 24. (AP)—A 4-under par 68 practice round today convinced Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Oahu club, Honolulu, pro, that his bruised foot had mended sufficiently to allow his participation in the $50,000 All-American golf tournament tomorrow.

A top golfer on the mainland before going to Honolulu two years ago, Cooper hurt his foot during the Victory Open last week and had feared he would not be able to play in the Tam O'Shanter show.

FRIDAY GAME
Jerry's vs. DeMolay (Stitcher)

Lover's Leap Service Station tossers launched the second half campaign in the Midget Baseball League with a 3 to 2 victory over Don and Bud's Confectionery at Stitcher Field.

Louie Arnone was the victor over Jackie Klosterman in a close and interesting mound duel which was decided in the fourth inning when True doubled, advanced to third on Clark's single and scored on a wild throw by Price. It was Arnone's fourth win in as many starts. He fanned seven, issued two free tickets and let the Confectioners down with three hits, one a double by Bob Price. Klosterman was touched for six hits, including a triple by Joe Reissig and doubles by True and Devault.

Lover's Leap took a 2-0 lead in the third frame when Reissig smashed a triple, McIntyre was hit by a pitched ball, Reissig registered the first run on a wild throw and Devault hammered home the other tally with a timely single.

American Tennis Players Advance In Paris Matches

Brown And Patty Subdue Britons; U. S. Women Share Spotlight

By A. I. GOLDBERG

PARIS, July 24 (AP)—Five all-United States teams and two other combinations in which Americans figured won their way into the semifinal round of the three divisions of doubles—men's, women's and mixed—in the French international tennis championships today.

In men' play one U. S. duo survived as Tom Brown teamed up with his fellow-San Franciscan, Budge Patty, to whip an experienced pair of Britons, Derek Barton and E. J. Filby, 9-7, 7-5, 6-3. The Americans' next rivals will be Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia and Draga Mitic of Yugoslavia, who turned back Jacques Sanglier and Jacques Thomas of France in straight sets.

The other men's doubles survivors are Yvon Petra, the Wimbledon singles titleholder, and his French partner, Southpaw Marcel Bernard, and Francisco Segura of Ecuador and Enruqie Morea of Argentina. Drobny, Petra, Bernard and Brown also are the suvivors in men's singles, in which the semifinal matches will be played tomorrow.

The women's competition, now an all-U. S. affair in singles, became virtually that in doubles. The American and Wimbledon champions, Margaret Osborne and Louise Brough, eliminated Monique Hamelin and Micheline Inglebert of France, 7-5, 6-1, and next will play Patricia Canning Todd and her French partner, Simone Lafargue. These two scored at 6-2, 7-5 over Dorothy May Bundy and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, the Polish star who is making a post-war comeback.

Pauline Betz and Doris Hart combined for another all-American triumph, at 6-1, 7-5 over Vera Dace and Jean Quartier of Britain. Their next match will send them aginst England's Joan Curry and Betty Hilton, winners in Roland Garros Stadium this afternoon by 6-2, 7-5 over Mrs. Genevieve Grosbois and Mrs. Claude Manescau of France.

Two U. S. twosomes, Brown and Miss Bundy and Patty and Miss Betz, won out in tough mixed doubles battles. The former turned back a stubborn British team, Jean Quertier and Tony Mottram, 10-12, 6-3, 8-6, and the latter registered a 6-3, 7-5 decision over Miss Jedrzejowska and Jean Lesueur of France.

Miss Todd also was a winner in mixed doubles, teaming with Drobny to beat Nelly Landry and Bernard Lucot of France, 9-7, 6-1.

American Tennis Players Advance In Paris Matches

Brown And Patty Subdue Britons; U. S. Women Share Spotlight

By A. I. GOLDBERG

PARIS, July 24 (AP)—Five all-United States teams and two other combinations in which Americans figured won their way into the semifinal round of the three divisions of doubles—men's, women's and mixed—in the French international tennis championships today.

In men' play one U. S. duo survived as Tom Brown teamed up with his fellow-San Franciscan, Budge Patty, to whip an experienced pair of Britons, Derek Barton and E. J. Filby, 9-7, 7-5, 6-3. The Americans' next rivals will be Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia and Draga Mitic of Yugoslavia, who turned back Jacques Sanglier and Jacques Thomas of France in straight sets.

The other men's doubles survivors are Yvon Petra, the Wimbledon singles titleholder, and his French partner, Southpaw Marcel Bernard, and Francisco Segura of Ecuador and Enruqie Morea of Argentina. Drobny, Petra, Bernard and Brown also are the suvivors in men's singles, in which the semifinal matches will be played tomorrow.

The women's competition, now an all-U. S. affair in singles, became virtually that in doubles. The American and Wimbledon champions, Margaret Osborne and Louise Brough, eliminated Monique Hamelin and Micheline Inglebert of France, 7-5, 6-1, and next will play Patricia Canning Todd and her French partner, Simone Lafargue. These two scored at 6-2, 7-5 over Dorothy May Bundy and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, the Polish star who is making a post-war comeback.

Pauline Betz and Doris Hart combined for another all-American triumph, at 6-1, 7-5 over Vera Dace and Jean Quartier of Britain. Their next match will send them aginst England's Joan Curry and Betty Hilton, winners in Roland Garros Stadium this afternoon by 6-2, 7-5 over Mrs. Genevieve Grosbois and Mrs. Claude Manescau of France.

Two U. S. twosomes, Brown and Miss Bundy and Patty and Miss Betz, won out in tough mixed doubles battles. The former turned back a stubborn British team, Jean Quertier and Tony Mottram, 10-12, 6-3, 8-6, and the latter registered a 6-3, 7-5 decision over Miss Jedrzejowska and Jean Lesueur of France.

Miss Todd also was a winner in mixed doubles, teaming with Drobny to beat Nelly Landry and Bernard Lucot of France, 9-7, 6-1.

Big Race Is Off

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Lord Carnarvon, British sportsman who acted as "go-between," declared today that efforts for an international race this year matching Assault, Airborne and Prince Chevalier — turf champions of the United States, England and France — had fallen through because John Ferguson, Airborne's owner, could not ship his horse to this country this year.

Tam O'Shanter Golf Tourney To Be On Air Today

NEW YORK, July 24—The year's second championship prize fight which was scheduled for the airways tonight over ABC has been postponed until September 26. The principals were to be Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale, with the middleweight title at stake, but Zale developed something or other at the last minute.

Like the Louis-Conn mixup, this affair besides the coast to coast description also was to have been televised.

The Tam O'Shanter golf tournament in Chicago, scheduled for NBC at 5:30 p. m. as the first of a series of broadcasts to continue through Saturday.

Continuing from Chautauqua, N. Y. for the fourth and last time, America's town meeting wants to know from its panel via ABC at 7:30 whether "We can keep on Friendly terms with Russia?" Among the arguers will be Dr. Frank Kingdon, commentator, etc.

Family Affair, a quiz series which MBS had been marking up the last two weeks at 9:30, is to be extended for two more broadcasts. Suspense mystery drama on CBS at 7 has changed its play title from "Full Confession" to "Can't We Be Friends." Actually, the piece will be the same.

An all Grieg program in musical salute to Norway will be provided in Concert of Nations on NBC at 10:30. The piano soloist is to be Artur Balsam.

Permit Is Granted To Enclose Porch

G. C. Gore, 17 South Waverly terrace, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office Tuesday to enclose a two-story porch at the rear of his home, at an estimated cost of $400.

The addition will measure 5 by 20 feet, with frame walls covered with brick siding. Work will be done by Hayes Northcraft.

So Simple To Sew

Sew this for your sunny little glamour girl! Cut top of Pattern 9052 in one piece; button for more or less sun. Dirndl skirt buttons for easy ironing, easy dressing.

Pattern 9062 comes in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 sundress takes 1½ yards 35-inch material.

Send twenty-five cents in coins for this pattern to The Cumberland News, 39 Pattern Department, 232 West 18th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Fifteen cents more brings you the Marian Martin SUMMER 1946 Pattern Book. Many brand-new, cool, easy-to-make fashions for everyone. . . And, printed right in the book: FREE pattern for ballet slippers for home and beach wear.

Classic Combination

This colorful combination of embroidery and crochet is a delight to see. Beautiful roses attract the butterflies—and compliments, too. Make your linen closet like a garden in bloom! Pattern 779 has transfer of one 7 by 18½ and two 4½ by 14 inch motifs; crochet directions.

Send twenty cents in coins for this pattern to Cumberland News, 39 Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly pattern number, your name, address and zone.

Fifteen cents more brings you our newest needlecraft catalog—the 1946 edition—112 illustrations of designs for crochet, knitting, quilts, embroidery, toys, handicraft—a free pattern for cuddle toys printed right in the catalog.

Whetsell's Liquor License Transfer Is Granted

Petition Against Application Ruled Out By Judges Huster And Capper

Charles R. Whetsell's application to transfer a Class B liquor license from Porter's restaurant to the Alibi Cocktail Lounge, 28-30 Baltimore street was approved and granted yesterday afternoon by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper after a remonstrance hearing in circuit court.

Whetsell, who formerly held partnership in Porter's restaurant, recently filed an application to transfer the whiskey licenses to the new location, after he and J. Robert Murray, the other partner, sold out.

Petition Submitted

After the application was filed May 18, a petition was submitted by Frank Molinairi, Jr., and Samuel F. DeLuca, who operate the Cadillac Cocktail Lounge next door to the site of Whetsell's new location asking that the transfer be refused. The remonstrance stated that Whetsell's application was improperly signed and further pointed out that "too many liquor stores" are operated in the proposed locality.

At yesterday's hearing William A. Gunter and D. Lindley Sloan, counsel for Molinairi and DeLuca, attempted to prove that Herbert W. Cornish, has interest, other than financial, in the Alibi, and should have signed his name to the application for transfer along with Whetsell.

On the witness stand, Cornish, admitted that he has loaned Whetsell $17,000, at five per cent interest, to buy the other half interest in the liquor license, but denied that he now is interested in the Alibi as a business.

Cornish stated that he and Whetsell have leased the Olympic hotel from Louis and Harold M. Waingold for a five year period and have paid the first year's lease. But he pointed out that under the contract with the Waingolds the building may be sublet to anyone of their choosing for any type of business.

Rules Only On Whetsell

Judge Huster in giving his opinion stated that the court at the present time was ruling only on Whetsell's application and the "applicant has at all times conducted a proper place of business and is entitled to the privilege of the license. As far as the court is concerned," Huster said. "Cornish has no interest in this business, and a new application will have to be made if he is to be included in a partnership."

The clerk of court swore in six witnesses, but Whetsell and Cornish were the only two called to the stand. Whetsell's counsel, Harry I. Stegmaier and William S. Jenkins, stated that Cornish does intend to hold a partnership in the Alibi, and a second application will be filed once Whetsell has a clear title to it.

Whetsell said he plans to have the Alibi open for business by the middle of August.

Kiwanis Sunshine Camp For Girls To Open Monday

Twenty-seven girls between the ages of 9 and 12 will leave city hall Monday at 9 a. m. for the Kiwanis Sunshine camp, MacDonald terrace, to begin their three-week camping period, according to O. J. Hale, president of the Cumberland Kiwanis club.

Transportation to the camp will be provided by club members. The girls will meet at city hall at 8:45 a. m., Monday. Several members of the group who have not yet had their physical checkups will be examined by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, assistant city and county health officer, before leaving.

Plant Blight Still Harasses Gardners, County Agent Says

The early spraying of vegetable and fruit plants hasn't eliminated the fungis blight completely, Ralph F. McHenry, county agent, said yesterday. If gardeners intend to combat the disease, they must continue to spray their crops, especially after each season of damp weather, the agent warned.

The blight has already done considerable damage, McHenry reported and said it appears to be more manifested in the state this year than ever before.

Insoluble copper materials are recommended, such as copper compounds triebasic, copper sulfate, and yellow cuprocide for spraying.

Japanese beetles and corn ear worms are beginning to appear in the area, too, McHenry said, and some damage has been done.

To prevent the attacks of these pests on corn crops, McHenry suggests placing about one-half a medicine dropper full of heavy medicinal mineral oil just inside the husk within the silk. One pint of oil will treat 100 ears of corn, the agent estimated.

LaVale Firemen Plan Two-Day Summer Festival

Band concerts both Wednesday and Thursday evenings will be one of the features of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department's two-day summer festival, July 31 and August 1, Cromwell C. Zembower, chairman said last night.

A complete program of entertainment and refreshments will be presented in addition to the concerts which will be given by the Lonaconing City band Wednesday night at 8 o'clock and by the Mt. Savage Junior Order band Thursday at 8 o'clock. Proceeds from the festival will benefit the fire department.

Besides Zembower, members of the committee include Gregory Connelly, Edward Wintermeyer and John W. Spross. The Ladies Auxiliary Association will assist.

Body Of Crash Victim Recovered At Deep Creek

Pilot Was Army Air Corps Veteran; Widow Arrives From Dayton, O.

OAKLAND, July 24—The body of Reynold Fredrick Ruffi, 28, Dayton, O., pilot of a single engine Ercoupe monoplane which hit a high-tension wire and sank in Deep Creek lake early last night, was recovered at 1:30 p. m. today about 25 feet from shore in 15 feet of water at the point where the craft crashed into the lake.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy state medical examiner for Garrett county, said death resulted from drowning. Dr. Baumgartner reported that Ruffi's left forearm was broken and that he had suffered several bumps on the head, two deep lacerations of the face and a possible concussion of the left temple. The medical examiner said that the pilot was probably knocked unconscious and drowned before regaining consciousness.

Widow Arrives

Mrs. Cecelia Ruffi, widow of the pilot, arrived here by car from Dayton tonight to make arrangements for sending the body from the Bolden funeral home by train to Dayton tomorrow. Funeral services will be held Saturday in Dayton. Mrs. Ruffi plans to return by car tomorrow morning.

Ruffi, a former second lieutenant in the army air forces, was in service three and a half years, and served three months in Panama. A native of Beaver Dam, Wis., he is survived by his father, Joseph J. Ruffi, Elcho, Wis.; his widow and two children, Allen Joseph, 2, and Charlotte Ann, 2½ months; two brothers, Joseph, Antigo, Wis., and Maurice, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; and one sister, Sister M. Narcissa, stationed at St. Joseph's hospital near Milwaukee, Wis.

Ruffi was one of three pilots ferrying Ercoupe planes from Riverdale, Md., to Dayton for the American Flyaway Service. His companions, who saw him crash into the lake, landed at Morgantown, W. Va., municipal airport and returned here by car to organize a searching party.

Watch Stopped At 7:03

The craft, reported totally wrecked, was recovered by state police and volunteer searchers at 11 p. m. yesterday. The two pilots, B. S. Carnes and Herschel Reed, Riverdale, returned to Morgantown after Ruffi's body was discovered this afternoon by Bob Wolfe, of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. Ruffi's watch had stopped at 7:03.

State police said two young men in a motorboat reported that Ruffi's plane "buzzed" them shortly before the accident.

Several sections of the Deep Creek lake area were without lights when the plane hit the high-tension wire of the Western Maryland Power Company, but the line was repaired shortly before midnight last night.

Several Pickets Quized By Police

Nine members of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local No. 453, AFL, who have been picketing the Pepsi-Cola Bottling plant on Greene street for the past six weeks, were taken to police headquarters Wednesday, for questioning and a lecture.

Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman said the proprietor of the bottling plant had complained about the men's conduct and said one of them threw eggs at one of the workers of the plant.

Eyerman said the men denied any misconduct and also denied the egg incident, but he "gave them a good talking to" and warned them against any misconduct, violence or mischief, the chief said.

Eyerman has authority, officials explained to issue permits for lawful picketing, but the permits can be revoked if there is any trouble or difficulty.

Members of the local said nine of their members were taken to headquarters, but they denied any misconduct and said their pickets have been conducting themselves properly.

Yesterday, Donald Kalbaugh, this city, truck driver, was taken to police headquarters and questioned after police were told he followed a woman customer of the plant to ask where she intended to take some soft drinks she had secured.

Police warned the strikers that only one picket will be allowed at the plant and that there must be no bunching up.

Garment Workers Return To Work, Suspend Strikers

Group Continues Picketing, Calls Meeting Today At 2 P. M.

The Cumberland Undergarment Company plant resumed operations yesterday afternoon after members of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, voted to suspend 12 pickets it charged with conducting an unauthorized strike.

Mrs. Mary Shoemaker, president of the local, led a contingent of 25 other union members into the Gay street plant which has been closed since last Thursday when workers demanded a 20 cent hourly increase and an adjustment in the piece time rates.

"As far as we are concerned, this strike is over," Irwin J. Jaffee, assistant regional director of the union asserted. Maurice Milberg, secretary-treasurer of the company, stated that operations at the plant resumed yesterday.

Union Places Charges

A statement by the union yesterday asserted members who "provoked" a strike and continued such action in defiance to the wishes of the membership were suspended and placed on trial on the charge of disrupting a local union, conducting an unauthorized strike, and breaking a valid agreement. Officers among the group were also charged with unfitness to hold office.

Mrs. Marguerite Chase, chairlsdy of the union and one of the group who applied for picketing permits, said she has called a meeting at Allegany Trades Council hall for today at 2 p. m. when she will issue a statement to members of the union.

Police reported that all was peaceful yesterday afternoon at the garment factory.

Efforts by Jaffee to have police withdraw picketing permits have so far been unavailing. Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, said he conferred yesterday with Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, concerning Jaffee's request that permission to picket be revoked.

The police chief said the permits were issued at the request of C. E. Stutzman and added they will not be withdrawn until the labor official requests such action.

Stutzman said late yesterday afternoon that Jaffee conferred with him and asked that he withdraw his name from the permits. He explained that regularly elected officers of the local asked him to sign the application and he did so.

However, Stutzman said, Jaffee's request will be taken up with officers of the Allegany Trades Council.

The labor official said that Jaffee has asked the Trades council to stop supporting the walkout and added that locals affiliated with the AFL council are obligated to comply with the request.

LaVale Residents Report Sections Without Water

A number of residents in LaVale complained again yesterday of a shortage of water, and in several sections reported there was "no water at all from 9 a. m. until about 7 p. m."

Harry B. Simpson, president of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association was contacted by the News and he said he did not receive any complaints and had water at his residence.

Simpson said the water question in LaVale is being studied and a committee headed by William A. Douglas is to make a report at the next directors meeting of the Association, August 5.

The News was also informed yesterday that some residents have "taken the matter in their own hands", and have appealed by letters directly to the Public Service Commission, complaining of the lack of adequate water supply, increase of rates, and low pressure.

One LaVale resident said he asked the commission to make an investigation into the claims of the LaVale Water Company that pipe for additional lines is not available, and to assist the company in obtaining pipe.

Another resident said he has asked the commission to relieve the company of its franchise so another company or civic company can be formed, which will adequately supply the community.

Efforts to reach D. Clifford Goodfellow last night were not successful, but about two weeks ago, Goodfellow said there is sufficient water in reservoirs which supply LaVale, but pipe lines are too small to carry the load. He declared repeated efforts to obtain sufficient pipe for auxiliary lines have been unsuccessful.

Simpson was asked last night if any further action had been taken by the LaVale Association's committee appointed to investigate the location of a proposed bus terminal in Cumberland. Many LaVale residents have objected to the establishment of a union bus terminal in the old Footer building here.

Simpson said a committee, headed by Fred Hawkins, was named to appear before the mayor and council of Cumberland, but to date has apparently not done so.

Claims Office Will Be Closed Tomorrow

Claimants normally reporting to the Maryland Unemployment Compensation office here on Friday to file their claims are asked to report today instead, according to Francis A. Kenney, senior claims examiner.

Kenney explained that the office will be closed tomorrow to permit several staff members to attend a training session in Hagerstown regarding a new telegraphic procedure to speed up interstate transfer of claims.

The office, which is closed on Saturday, will reopen Monday at 8:30 a. m.

McKeldin Says Women Can Give Government "Fall Housecleaning"

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Addresses Luncheon Meeting

Stating that "women assumed their proper place" in the state convention of Maryland Republicans this week, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, Baltimore, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday that it is confidently predicted that women "will give Maryland government the fall housecleaning it so desperately needs in November."

Mayor McKeldin addressed 106 Republican candidates for state offices and members of the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland, Incorporated, at a luncheon held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The local Women's Republican Club was hostess to the federation for the first time at its summer meeting.

Praises President

The speaker praised Mrs. W. David Tilghman, federation president, for the capable manner in which she presided as temporary chairman at the convention, and pointed out that she has been appointed vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Asserting that the Republican party welcomes the full participation of women in its affairs, Mayor McKeldin recalled that he has appointed several women to important posts in Baltimore city government.

One of them is Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore, the second woman to fill that post; Mrs. Alma Harrison Ambrose, director of public relations for the street cleaning bureau, and Mrs. Anne Bunker as a member of the park board. Mrs. Ambrose and Mrs. Bunker are the first women to fill those posts, the speaker said.

Miss Brown and Mrs. Bunker were guests at the luncheon.

"Women are entitled to the full protection of the United States Constitution and to have that docu-

Bar Association To Discuss Court Work Next Week

Gilchrist Says Request For Meeting Signed By "More Than 15"

A special meeting of the Allegany County Bar Association will be called the early part of next week, to consider ways and means of facilitating recording work in the office of the clerk of the circuit court, C. William Gilchrist, president, said last night.

Gilchrist said the request for a special meeting submitted to him yesterday bore the signatures of "more than fifteen local attorneys," but added that the meeting was not a reflection on either the clerk or court house workers.

Work Unprecedented

The work in real estate filing is unprecedented, Gilchrist explained, and the meeting will be held to try and work out a system that will assist the court workers, and make recommendations to the court officials.

Robert Jackson, clerk of the circuit court, admitted that work of recording deeds is "piling up," but placed the blame on a Maryland law that forbids the use of a photostatic machine for recording.

Jackson said the work would be cut in half if they were allowed to use a photostatic machine, but cited an opinion handed down by William C. Walsh in 1939, when he was attorney-general.

The opinion was given after Walter E. Buck, clerk of Cecil County Circuit Court asked whether there was any authority in the state law for use of a photostatic machine to be used in making records as a substitute for typewritten work.

Walsh Gives Opinion

Walsh's opinion stated "all entries and records shall be made in fair, legible hand or with a typewriting machine, such machine to be approved by the respective counties or the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, as the case may be."

Jackson also pointed out that additional clerical help in his office must be authorized by State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who also sets the salary scale.

The regular staff of clerks has been working overtime and at nights in an effort to "whittle down" the backlog of work, Jackson explained.

Jaycee Directors Complete Plans For Air Show

Members of the board of directors and the aviation committee of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce met last night and completed plans for the Cumberland Air Show at Municipal Airport, Sunday, August 4.

David Kauffman, president cautioned that persons expecting to attend the air show should come early, because the highway to the airport and entrance facilities will not accomodate a large crowd all at once.

There will be plenty of activity in the forenoon, Kauffman said, and passenger hops over the city will be available up to show time for those interested. The air show is scheduled from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Invitations to the show have been accepted by a number of officials including Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Rep. Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, the mayor and city council of Cumberland, Judge William A. Huster, Judge Walter A. Capper.

Acceptances are expected from Sen. Harley Kilgore and Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia; Sen. Millard J. Tydings and Sen. George L. Radcliffe, of Maryland; Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, William Preston Lane, Jr., of Hagerstown, George C. Doub, Baltimore; Hall Hammond, Baltimore; Alexander Grier, James J. Lacy, Attorney General J. William Curran and State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

The board of directors set August 7 as the date for the next membership meeting. The affair will be a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Club. New members admitted include William F. New, Robert J. Burkey and Robert E. Fields.

Plans were outlined for a picnic at Minke's Cottage Inn, August 11, from 4 p. m. until 10 p. m. for Jaycees and their ladies. William L. Wilson, Jr., is chairman of the social committee making arrangements.

Announcement was made that a state directors meeting will be held in Ocean City, Md., in September.

Local News In Brief

Mrs. Daisy M. C. Carr, 329 Central avenue, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to construct a four-room apartment over a garage at the rear of 416 Pine avenue, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The one-story addition, to be 35 by 20 feet, will have frame walls covered with inselbrick and a composition roof. Work will be done by Joseph Jones.

East Side Fire Company was called to the home of Mrs. Mary Boch, 402 Furnace street yesterday at 2:09 p. m. Fire fighters said an electric iron, which someone forgot to disconnect, burned in half the ironing board on which it had been placed.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county schools, and Miss Lillian C. Compton, acting president of Frostburg State Teachers college, will be among the speakers at the Maryland School Building Institute to be held at the University of Maryland, July 29, 30 and 31, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president, announced yesterday.

Ice Workers Will Act On Contract

Workers of the City Ice and Fuel Company will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Teamsters hall, North Mechanic street, to act on a contract proposal of the company, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, reported.

At a conference yesterday, company officials agreed to offer 90 cents hourly for platform men, 88 for ice pullers and $1.18 for engineers, Stutzman said. Previous rates for the first two classifications were 58 and 79 for the third, he added.

The company also agreed to a one week vacation period after one year; 10 days after two years and two weeks after five years. A guaranteed work week of 48 hours with overtime after 40 hours was also agreed upon, the union official said.

Another Increase In Milk Prices Here Predicted

Some local dairymen were unable to give any exact figures, but it was reported about the city that milk would soon be retailing for 24 cents a quart.

Presley W. Mauk of the Royale Dairy said there has been another 15 per cent increase in the cost of cream used for making ice cream and another 15 per cent increase is expected.

Ice cream sales for packaged ice cream are about 50 per cent below this same season last year, due to the recent price increase, although bulk ice cream and ice cream consumed on the premises at fountains and ice cream bars is about the same level, he declared.

Mauk stated he has no definite information about the increase of milk, but has reason to believe another jump in price is forthcoming.

He stated the withdrawal of subsidies by the federal government has caused dairy farmers and milk producers to increase their price, and the increase is passed on to the dairy processing plants, to the retailers and thence to the consumer.

"The unfortunate thing about it is," he declared, "we have always paid a false price for milk and cream and have been educated to buying milk in stores and from dairies for 15 cents or less a quart. At the same time, we were paying taxes to provide money for farm and dairy subsidies. Now we are beginning to pay the actual price for milk, based upon cost of production processing and handling, and it is difficult for us to understand. Actually, we've been paying more than 20 cents a quart for milk all along, only part of it was paid indirectly through subsidies."

Mauk said the recent price increase in the cost of milk per pint and quart to consumer has caused a large drop in the amount consumed, and added, "milk men will certainly have much less to do if the price goes up again, because many people can't and won't pay more.

Mauk was the only milk dealer the News was able to contact tonight after receiving a report that the price of milk was to be increased here again.

Stutzman Denies Meddling Charge In Garment Strike

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union and president of the Allegany Trades Council, last night denied a charge that he had "meddled" in the affairs of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Union, and said he did not intend to withdraw his name from the picketing permits issued to striking workers of the Cumberland Undergarment Company until notified to do so by the Teamsters International Union.

The union official's statement followed a conference yesterday when Irwin Jaffee, Lynchburg, Va., assistant regional director of the Garment union, asked Stutzman to withdraw his support of the walkout which union officials reported ended officially yesterday afternoon.

"It is my position," Stutzman said, that in former strikes at the garment factory here we recognized the same officers who requested our aid in the present dispute.

"We still take the position that we were not officially notified until this afternoon. So far as our organization is concerned, we are more or less obligated to help so long as the majority of these people are not satisfied with the present set up.

"Jaffee has taken the position that I am meddling. I feel that he is meddling with the local union here since our locals have to live with each other. I also feel that Jaffee is helping to set a precedent for low wages in the area.

"So far as I am concerned, I do not intend to take any more action on the picketing application until our international union requests it."

Legion Will Probe Concession Delay

Reasons for the long delay of Memorial hospital officials to take action on a blind war veteran's application to open a concession and newsstand, was ordered investigated Tuesday night by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 American Legion.

According to Phil Fleming, post commander, the application was filed last November through the Veteran's Administration, but no definite action has been taken.

The veteran, Joseph "Billy" Pratt, 251 Williams street, lost his sight when he was wounded in Germany March 27, 1945.

Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, Dr. Emmett L. Jones, Dr. Frank M. Wilson, Dr. Frank Williams and Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the United States Employment Service, were named on a committee to investigate.

Local Policemen's Art Appreciation Bad, Visitors Say

Washington Man Declares Artists Friends Humiliated While Painting

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which receives many requests for information about Cumberland, its institutions, advantages, possibilities and scenic beauty, yesterday received a letter from Washington, D. C., which denounces the Cumberland Police Department's appreciation of art, and upholds the individual right of artists to paint pictures.

The letter, a copy of which was sent to local newspapers follows:

"Although your local chamber of commerce is doing its utmost to encourage people to visit your community, it appears as though the police department is doing its utmost to discourage visitors.

"Three artist friends of mine decided to make a four-day visit to your city over the Fourth of July holiday. Being well aware of the scenic beauty of the locality, their reason for the trip was to do some sketching and paintings of the mountains, quaint architecture, historic buildings, or whatever might appeal to an artist.

Were Sketching Fire House

"On the Fifth of July, while sketching an old fire house near the outskirts of the city, they were suddenly confronted by two city police officers and a patrol wagon. The police commanded them to 'hop in', and they were carried away to the local police headquarters, as common criminals, where they were questioned by the chief, and of course released.

"No one denies that the police have a right to question a person at any time, but for them to humiliate peaceful citizens by what I consider a false arrest is another issue.

"If it is necessary for every visitor to register with the police as soon as they arrive in Cumberland, it would be well to have the police meet every train and inform visitors to that effect.

"Yours Very Truly,

"ARTHUR C. RAMIER,"
4401 Alabama Avenue, S. E.
Washington, 19, D. C.

Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman told the News last night that he recalls the three men being brought to headquarters. Chief Eyerman said the men were blocking a sidewalk and the department had a complaint.

Eyerman said no charge was placed against the men and they were told they could paint and make sketches as they wished. However, the chief said they could have avoided the situation if they had told local authorities what they planned to do before they started sketching in the city.

The three artists involved are John C. Rodgers, C. B. Nyquist and Koren D. Kasparain, of Alexandria, Va., and Washington, D. C. They are employees of the United States Bureau of Engraving.

Rodgers, who was a staff sergeant in the Air Corps during World War II, became a friend of Ralph Keiter, 321 Massachusetts avenue, also a staff sergeant in the air corps, while they were serving in the same outfit.

Keiter told Rodgers about the scenic beauty of Cumberland and suggested that he come here sometime and do some paintings and sketching.

Kasparain Leaves Hurriedly

Since Rodgers and his two artist friends had a few days holiday during the week of the Fourth of July, they came to Cumberland, registered at a local hotel, and later located Keiter.

But in the meantime, the three artists went about the city with their sketch books and artist's material and made some sketches.

They were sketching the old Canada Hose House when the city police interrupted their activity, they said.

After their "brush with the law," they were released and told they should go about their business. However, they returned to their hotel and complained to the management, Kasparain checked out immediately, and returned to Washington on the afternoon train.

Rodgers and Nyquist remained here and met Keiter who took them to several interesting places about the county, and they did some sketches, although they told the

Early Bus Terminal Decision Is Urged

In a letter to Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday, John Stewart, president of the Merchandise Mart, Inc., stated that "apparently nothing has been done in regard to the proposed bus terminal in the Footer building and will not be unless a limit of time is given the interested parties."

Mayor Post said the letter will be referred to the city council at its meeting next Monday, stating that he was inclined to feel that the bus interests have not been laggard in announcing their decision since such matters must be considered from a good many angles.

Stewart, referring to the possibility of having a new bus station established in the Footer building to replace the station now located on Frederick street, wrote, "We are reliably informed that the permit the Blue Ridge Transportation Company has, was given them for their own use and to allow the parking of two buses."

"We understand the above company pays a rental for the small 'bus office' they occupy of $100 a month. We are informed that they collect approximately $600 per month from other lines that stop at this 'bus office.' This amount is excessive of the amount they save by operating from their own bus office.

"We are informed by your tax office that neither the C. & W. Transit Company nor the Blue Ridge Transportation Company pays the city any taxes. These companies have been a serious indirect expense to the city due to the necessity of traffic regulations," the letter stated.

Whetsell's Liquor License Transfer Is Granted

Petition Against Application Ruled Out By Judges Huster And Capper

Charles R. Whetsell's application to transfer a Class B liquor license from Porter's restaurant to the Alibi Cocktail Lounge, 28-30 Baltimore street was approved and granted yesterday afternoon by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper after a remonstrance hearing in circuit court.

Whetsell, who formerly held partnership in Porter's restaurant, recently filed an application to transfer the whiskey licenses to the new location, after he and J. Robert Murray, the other partner, sold out.

Petition Submitted

After the application was filed May 18, a petition was submitted by Frank Molinairi, Jr., and Samuel P. DeLuca, who operate the Cadillac Cocktail Lounge next door to the site of Whetsell's new location asking that the transfer be refused. The remonstrance stated that Whetsell's application was improperly signed and further pointed out that "too many liquor stores" are operated in the proposed locality.

At yesterday's hearing William A. Gunter and D. Lindley Sloan, counsel for Molinairi and DeLuca, attempted to prove that Herbert W. Cornish, has interest, other than financial, in the Alibi, and should have signed his name to the application for transfer along with Whetsell.

On the witness stand, Cornish, admitted that he has loaned Whetsell $17,000, at five per cent interest, to buy the other half interest in the liquor license, but denied that he now is interested in the Alibi as a business.

Cornish stated that he and Whetsell have leased the Olympic hotel from Louis and Harold M. Waingold for a five year period and have paid the first year's lease. But he pointed out that under the contract with the Waingolds the building may be sublet to anyone of their choosing for any type of business.

Rules Only On Whetsell

Judge Huster in giving his opinion stated that the court at the present time was ruling only on Whetsell's application and the "applicant has at all times conducted a proper place of business and is entitled to the privilege of the license. As far as the court is concerned," Huster said "Cornish has no interest in this business, and a new application will have to be made if he is to be included in a partnership."

The clerk of court swore in six witnesses, but Whetsell and Cornish were the only two called to the stand. Whetsell's counsel, Harry I. Stegmaier and William S. Jenkins, stated that Cornish does intend to hold a partnership in the Alibi, and a second application will be filed once Whetsell has a clear title to it.

Whetsell said he plans to have the Alibi open for business by the middle of August.

Kiwanis Sunshine Camp For Girls To Open Monday

Twenty-seven girls between the ages of 9 and 12 will leave city hall Monday at 9 a. m. for the Kiwanis Sunshine camp, MacDonald terrace, to begin their three-week camping period, according to O. J. Hale, president of the Cumberland Kiwanis club.

Plant Blight Still Harasses Gardners, County Agent Says

The early spraying of vegetable and fruit plants hasn't eliminated the fungis blight completely, Ralph F. McHenry, county agent, said yesterday. If gardeners intend to combat the disease, they must continue to spray their crops, especially after each season of damp weather, the agent warned.

The blight has already done considerable damage, McHenry reported and said it appears to be more manifested in the state this year than ever before.

Insoluble copper materials are recommended, such as copper compounds triebasic, copper sulfate, and yellow cuprocide for spraying.

Japanese beetles and corn ear worms are beginning to appear in the area, too, McHenry said, and some damage has been done.

To prevent the attacks of these pests on corn crops, McHenry suggests placing about one-half a medicine dropper full of heavy medicinal mineral oil just inside the husk within the silk. One pint of oil will treat 100 ears of corn, the agent estimated.

LaVale Firemen Plan Two-Day Summer Festival

Band concerts both Wednesday and Thursday evenings will be one of the features of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department's two-day summer festival, July 31 and August 1, Cromwell C. Zembower, chairman said last night.

A complete program of entertainment and refreshments will be presented in addition to the concerts which will be given by the Lonaconing City band Wednesday night at 8 o'clock and by the Mt. Savage Junior Order band Thursday at 8 o'clock. Proceeds from the festival will benefit the fire department.

Besides Zembower, members of the committee include Gregory Connelly, Edward Wintermeyer and John W. Spross. The Ladies Auxiliary Association will assist.

Body Of Crash Victim Recovered At Deep Creek

Pilot Was Army Air Corps Veteran; Widow Arrives From Dayton, O.

OAKLAND, July 24—The body of Reynold Fredrick Ruffi, 28, Dayton, O., pilot of a single engine Ercoupe monoplane which hit a high-tension wire and sank in Deep Creek lake early last night, was recovered at 1:30 p. m. today about 25 feet from shore in 15 feet of water at the point where the craft crashed into the lake.

Dr. E. L. Baumgartner, deputy state medical examiner for Garrett county, said death resulted from drowning. Dr. Baumgartner reported that Ruffi's left forearm was broken and that he had suffered several bumps on the head, two deep lacerations of the face and a possible concussion of the left temple. The medical examiner said that the pilot was probably knocked unconscious and drowned before regaining consciousness.

Widow Arrives

Mrs. Cecelia Ruffi, widow of the pilot, arrived here by car from Dayton, tonight to make arrangements for sending the body from the Bolden funeral home by train to Dayton tomorrow. Funeral services will be held Saturday in Dayton. Mrs. Ruffi plans to return by car tomorrow morning.

Ruffi, a former second lieutenant in the army air forces, was in service three and a half years, and served three months in Panama. A native of Beaver Dam, Wis., he is survived by his father, Joseph J. Ruffi, Elcho, Wis.; his widow and two children, Allen Joseph, 2, and Charlotte Ann, 2½ months; two brothers, Joseph, Antigo, Wis., and Maurice, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; and one sister, Sister M. Narcissa, stationed at St. Joseph's hospital near Milwaukee, Wis.

Ruffi was one of three pilots ferrying Ercoupe planes from Riverdale, Md., to Dayton for the American Flyaway Service. His companions, who saw him crash into the lake, landed at Morgantown, W. Va., municipal airport and returned here by car to organize a searching party.

Watch Stopped At 7:03

The craft, reported totally wrecked, was recovered by state police and volunteer searchers at 11 p. m. yesterday. The two pilots, B. S. Carnes and Herschel Reed, Riverdale, returned to Morgantown after Ruffi's body was discovered this afternoon by Bob Wolfe, of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. Ruffi's watch had stopped at 7:03.

State police said two young men in a motorboat reported that Ruffi's plane "buzzed" them shortly before the accident.

Several sections of the Deep Creek lake area were without lights when the plane hit the high-tension wire of the Western Maryland Power Company, but the line was repaired shortly before midnight last night.

Several Pickets Quized By Police

Nine members of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local No. 453, AFL, who have been picketing the Pepsi-Cola Bottling plant on Greene street for the past six weeks, were taken to police headquarters Wednesday, for questioning and a lecture.

Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman said the proprietor of the bottling plant had complained about the men's conduct and said one of them threw eggs at one of the workers of the plant.

Eyerman said the men denied any misconduct and also denied the egg incident, but he "gave them a good talking to" and warned them against any misconduct, violence or mischief, the chief said.

Eyerman has authority, officials explained to issue permits for lawful picketing, but the permits can be revoked if there is any trouble or difficulty.

Members of the local said nine of their members were taken to headquarters, but they denied any misconduct and said their pickets have been conducting themselves properly.

Yesterday, Donald Kalbaugh, this city, truck driver, was taken to police headquarters and questioned after police were told he followed a woman customer of the plant to ask where she intended to take some soft drinks she had secured.

Police warned the strikers that only one picket will be allowed at the plant and that there must be no bunching up.

Garment Workers Return To Work, Suspend Strikers

Group Continues Picketing, Calls Meeting Today At 2 P. M.

The Cumberland Undergarment Company plant resumed operations yesterday afternoon after members of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, voted to suspend 12 pickets it charged with conducting an unauthorized strike.

Mrs. Mary Shoemaker, president of the local, led a contingent of 25 other union members into the Gay street plant which has been closed since last Thursday when workers demanded a 20 cent hourly increase and an adjustment in the piece time rates.

"As far as we are concerned, this strike is over," Irwin J. Jaffee, assistant regional director of the union asserted. Maurice Milberg, secretary-treasurer of the company, stated that operations at the plant resumed yesterday.

Union Places Charges

A statement by the union yesterday asserted members who "provoked" a strike and continued such action in defiance to the wishes of the membership were suspended and placed on trial on the charge of disrupting a local union, conducting an unauthorized strike, and breaking a valid agreement. Officers among the group were also charged with unfitness to hold office.

Mrs. Marguerite Chase, chair lady of the union and one of the group who applied for picketing permits, said she has called a meeting at Allegany Trades Council hall for today at 2 p. m. when she will issue a statement to members of the union.

Police reported that all was peaceful yesterday afternoon at the garment factory.

Efforts by Jaffee to have police withdraw picketing permits have so far been unavailing. Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, said he conferred yesterday with Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, concerning Jaffee's request that permission to picket be revoked.

The police chief said the permits were issued at the request of C. E. Stutzman and added they will not be withdrawn until the labor official requests such action.

Stutzman said late yesterday afternoon that Jaffee conferred with him and asked that he withdraw his name from the permits. He explained that regularly elected officers of the local asked him to sign the application and he did so.

However, Stutzman said, Jaffee's request will be taken up with officers of the Allegany Trades Council.

The labor official said that Jaffee has asked the Trades council to stop supporting the walkout and added that locals affiliated with the AFL council are obligated to comply with the request.

LaVale Residents Report Sections Without Water

A number of residents in LaVale complained again yesterday of a shortage of water, and in several sections reported there was "no water at all from 9 a. m. until about 7 p. m."

Harry B. Simpson, president of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association was contacted by the News and he said he did not receive any complaints and had water at his residence.

Simpson said the water question in LaVale is being studied and a committee headed by William A. Douglas is to make a report at the next directors meeting of the Association, August 5.

The News was also informed yesterday that some residents have "taken the matter in their own hands", and have appealed by letters directly to the Public Service Commission, complaining of the lack of adequate water supply, increase of rates, and low pressure.

One LaVale resident said he asked the commission to make an investigation into the claims of the LaVale Water Company that pipe for additional lines is not available, and to assist the company in obtaining pipe.

Another resident said he has asked the commission to relieve the company of its franchise so another company or civic company can be formed, which will adequately supply the community.

Efforts to reach D. Clifford Goodfellow last night were not successful, but about two weeks ago, Goodfellow said there is sufficient water in reservoirs which supply LaVale, but pipe lines are too small to carry the load. He declared repeated efforts to obtain sufficient pipe for auxiliary lines have been unsuccessful.

Simpson was asked last night if any further action had been taken by the LaVale Association's committee appointed to investigate the location of a proposed bus terminal in Cumberland. Many LaVale residents have objected to the establishment of a union bus terminal in the old Footer building here.

Simpson said a committee, headed by Fred Hawkins, was named to appear before the mayor and council of Cumberland, but to date has apparently not done so.

Claims Office Will Be Closed Tomorrow

Claimants normally reporting to the Maryland Unemployment Compensation office here on Friday to file their claims are asked to report today instead, according to Francis A. Kenney, senior claims examiner.

Kenney explained that the office will be closed tomorrow to permit several staff members to attend a training session in Hagerstown regarding a new telegraphic procedure to speed up interstate transfer of claims.

The office, which is closed on Saturday, will reopen Monday at 8:30 a. m.

McKeldin Says Women Can Give Government "Fall Housecleaning"

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Addresses Luncheon Meeting

Stating that "women assumed their proper place" in the state convention of Maryland Republicans this week, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, Baltimore, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday that it is confidently predicted that women "will give Maryland government the fall housecleaning it so desperately needs in November."

Mayor McKeldin addressed 106 Republican candidates for state offices and members of the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland, Incorporated, at a luncheon held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The local Women's Republican Club was hostess to the federation for the first time at its summer meeting.

Praises President

The speaker praised Mrs. W. David Tilghman, federation president, for the capable manner in which she presided as temporary chairman at the convention, and pointed out that she has been appointed vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Asserting that the Republican party welcomes the full participation of women in its affairs, Mayor McKeldin recalled that he has appointed several women to important posts in Baltimore city government.

One of them is Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore, the second woman to fill that post; Mrs. Alma Harrison Ambrose, director of public relations for the street cleaning bureau, and Mrs. Anne Bunker as a member of the park board. Mrs. Ambrose and Mrs. Bunker are the first women to fill those posts, the speaker said.

Miss Brown and Mrs. Bunker were guests at the luncheon.

"Women are entitled to the full protection of the United States Constitution and to have that docu-

Bar Association To Discuss Court Work Next Week

Gilchrist Says Request For Meeting Signed By "More Than 15"

A special meeting of the Allegany County Bar Association will be called the early part of next week, to consider ways and means of facilitating recording work in the office of the clerk of the circuit court, C. William Gilchrist, president, said last night.

Gilchrist said the request for a special meeting submitted to him yesterday bore the signatures of "more than fifteen local attorneys," but added that the meeting was not a reflection on either the clerk or court house workers.

Work Unprecedented

The work in real estate filing is unprecedented, Gilchrist explained, and the meeting will be held to try and work out a system that will assist the court workers, and make recommendations to the court officials.

Robert Jackson, clerk of the circuit court, admitted that work of recording deeds is "piling up," but placed the blame on a Maryland law that forbids the use of a photostatic machine for recording.

Jackson said the work would be cut in half if they were allowed to use a photostatic machine, but cited an opinion handed down by William C. Walsh in 1939, when he was attorney-general.

The opinion was given after Walter E. Buck, clerk of Cecil County Circuit Court asked whether there was any authority in the state law for use of a photostatic machine to be used in making records as a substitute for typewritten work.

Walsh Gives Opinion

Walsh's opinion stated "all entries and records shall be made in fair, legible hand or with a typewriting machine, such machine to be approved by the respective counties or the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, as the case may be."

Jackson also pointed out that additional clerical help in his office must be authorized by State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who also sets the salary scale.

The regular staff of clerks has been working overtime and at nights in an effort to "whittle down" the backlog of work, Jackson explained.

Jaycee Directors Complete Plans For Air Show

Members of the board of directors and the aviation committee of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce met last night and completed plans for the Cumberland Air Show at Municipal Airport, Sunday, August 4.

David Kauffman, president cautioned that persons expecting to attend the air show should come early, because the highway to the airport and entrance facilities will not accomodate a large crowd all at once.

There will be plenty of activity in the forenoon, Kauffman said, and passenger hops over the city will be available up to show time for those interested. The air show is scheduled from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Invitations to the show have been accepted by a number of officials including Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Rep. Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, the mayor and city council of Cumberland, Judge William A. Huster, Judge Walter A. Capper.

Acceptances are expected from Sen. Harley Kilgore and Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia; Sen. Millard J. Tydings and Sen. George L. Radcliffe, of Maryland; Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, William Preston Lane, Jr., of Hagerstown, George C. Doub, Baltimore; Hall Hammond, Baltimore; Alexander Grier, James J. Lacy, Attorney General J. William Curran and State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

The board of directors set August 7 as the date for the next membership meeting. The affair will be a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Club. New members admitted include William F. New, Robert J. Burkey and Robert E. Fields.

Plans were outlined for a picnic at Minke's Cottage Inn, August 11, from 4 p. m. until 10 p. m. for Jaycees and their ladies. William L. Wilson, Jr., is chairman of the social committee making arrangements.

Announcement was made that a state directors meeting will be held in Ocean City, Md., in September.

Local News In Brief

Mrs. Daisy M. C. Carr, 329 Central avenue, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to construct a four-room apartment over a garage at the rear of 416 Pine avenue, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The one-story addition, to be 35 by 20 feet, will have frame walls covered with inselbrick and a composition roof. Work will be done by Joseph Jones.

East Side Fire Company was called to the home of Mrs. Mary Boch, 402 Furnace street yesterday at 2:09 p. m. Fire fighters said an electric iron, which someone forgot to disconnect, burned in half the ironing board on which it had been placed.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county schools, and Miss Lillian C. Compton, acting president of Frostburg State Teachers college, will be among the speakers at the Maryland School Building Institute to be held at the University of Maryland, July 29, 30 and 31, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president, announced yesterday.

Ice Workers Will Act On Contract

Workers of the City Ice and Fuel Company will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Teamsters hall, North Mechanic street, to act on a contract proposal of the company, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, reported.

At a conference yesterday, company officials agreed to offer 90 cents hourly for platform men, 98 for ice pullers and $1.18 for engineers, Stutzman said. Previous rates for the first two classifications were 58 and 79 for the third, he added.

The company also agreed to a one week vacation period after one year; 10 days after two years and two weeks after five years. A guaranteed work week of 48 hours with overtime after 40 hours was also agreed upon, the union official said.

Another Increase In Milk Prices Here Predicted

Another increase in the price of milk, cream and ice cream is being anticipated by local retailers and producers, it was reported here yesterday.

Some local dairymen were unable to give any exact figures, but it was reported about the city that milk would soon be retailing for 24 cents a quart.

Presley W. Mauk of the Royale Dairy said there has been another 15 per cent increase in the cost of cream used for making ice cream and another 15 per cent increase is expected.

Ice cream sales for packaged ice cream are about 50 per cent below this same season last year, due to the recent price increase, although bulk ice cream and ice cream consumed on the premises at fountains and ice cream bars is about the same level, he declared.

Mauk stated he has no definite information about the increase of milk, but has reason to believe another jump in price is forthcoming.

He stated the withdrawal of subsidies by the federal government has caused dairy farmers and milk producers to increase their price, and the increase is passed on to the dairy processing plants, to the retailers and thence to the consumer.

"The unfortunate thing about it is," he declared, "we have always paid a false price for milk and cream and have been educated to buying milk in stores and from dairies for 15 cents or less a quart. At the same time, we were paying taxes to provide money for farm and dairy subsidies. Now we are beginning to pay the actual price for milk, based upon cost of production processing and handling, and it is difficult for us to understand. Actually, we've been paying more than 20 cents a quart for milk all along, only part of it was paid indirectly through subsidies."

Mauk said the recent price increase in the cost of milk per pint and quart to consumer has caused a large drop in the amount consumed, and added, "milk men will certainly have much less to do if the price goes up again, because many people can't and won't pay more.

Mauk was the only milk dealer the News was able to contact tonight after receiving a report that the price of milk was to be increased here again.

Stutzman Denies Meddling Charge In Garment Strike

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union and president of the Allegany Trades Council, last night denied a charge that he had "meddled" in the affairs of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Union, and said he did not intend to withdraw his name from the picketing permits issued to striking workers of the Cumberland Undergarment Company until notified to do so by the Teamsters International Union.

The union official's statement followed a conference yesterday when Irwin Jaffee, Lynchburg, Va., assistant regional director of the Garment union, asked Stutzman to withdraw his support of the walkout which union officials reported ended officially yesterday afternoon.

"It is my position," Stutzman said, that in former strikes at the garment factory here we recognized the same officers who requested our aid in the present dispute.

"We still take the position that we were not officially notified until this afternoon. So far as our organization is concerned, we are more or less obligated to help so long as the majority of these people are not satisfied with the present set up.

"Jaffee has taken the position that I am meddling. I feel that he is meddling with the local union here since our locals have to live with each other. I also feel that Jaffee is helping to set a precedent for low wages in the area.

"So far as I am concerned, I do not intend to take any more action on the picketing application until our international union requests it."

Legion Will Probe Concession Delay

Reasons for the long delay of Memorial hospital officials to take action on a blind war veteran's application to open a concession and newsstand, was ordered investigated Tuesday night by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 American Legion.

According to Phil Fleming, post commander, the application was filed last November through the Veteran's Administration, but no definite action has been taken.

The veteran, Joseph "Billy" Pratt, 251 Williams street, lost his sight when he was wounded in Germany March 27, 1945.

Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, Dr. Emmett L. Jones, Dr. Frank M. Wilson, Dr. Frank Williams and Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the United States Employment Service, were named on a committee to investigate.

Local Policemen's Art Appreciation Bad, Visitors Say

Washington Man Declares Artists Friends Humiliated While Painting

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which receives many requests for information about Cumberland, its institutions, advantages, possibilities and scenic beauty, yesterday received a letter from Washington, D. C., which denounces the Cumberland Police Department's appreciation of art, and upholds the individual right of artists to paint pictures.

The letter, a copy of which was sent to local newspapers follows:

"Although your local chamber of commerce is doing its utmost to encourage people to visit your community, it appears as though the police department is doing its utmost to discourage visitors.

"Three artist friends of mine decided to make a four-day visit to your city over the Fourth of July holiday. Being well aware of the scenic beauty of the locality, their reason for the trip was to do some sketching and paintings of the mountains, quaint architecture, historic buildings, or whatever might appeal to an artist.

Were Sketching Fire House

"On the Fifth of July, while sketching an old fire house near the outskirts of the city, they were suddenly confronted by two city police officers and a patrol wagon. The police commanded them to 'hop in', and they were carried away to the local police headquarters, as common criminals, where they were questioned by the chief, and of course released.

"No one denies that the police have a right to question a person at any time, but for them to humiliate peaceful citizens by what I consider a false arrest is another issue.

"If it is necessary for every visitor to register with the police as soon as they arrive in Cumberland, it would be well to have the police meet every train and inform visitors to that effect.

"Yours Very Truly,

"ARTHUR C. RAMIER."

4401 Alabama Avenue, S. E.
Washington, 19, D. C.

Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman told the News last night that he recalls the three men being brought to headquarters. Chief Eyerman said the men were blocking a sidewalk and the department had a complaint.

Eyerman said no charge was placed against the men and they were told they could paint and make sketches as they wished. However, the chief said they could have avoided the situation if they had told local authorities what they planned to do before they started sketching in the city.

The three artists involved are John C. Rodgers, C. B. Nyquist and Koren D. Kasparain, of Alexandria, Va., and Washington, D. C. They are employees of the United States Bureau of Engraving.

Rodgers, who was a staff sergeant in the Air Corps during World War II, became a friend of Ralph Keiter, 321 Massachusetts avenue, also a staff sergeant in the air corps, while they were serving in the same outfit.

Keiter told Rodgers about the scenic beauty of Cumberland and suggested that he come here sometime and do some paintings and sketching.

Kasparain Leaves Hurriedly

Since Rodgers and his two artist friends had a few days holiday during the week of the Fourth of July, they came to Cumberland, registered at a local hotel, and later located Keiter.

But in the meantime, the three artists went about the city with their sketch books and artist's material and made some sketches.

They were sketching the old Canada Hose House when the city police interrupted their activity, they said.

After their "brush with the law," they were released and told they should go about their business. However, they returned to their hotel and complained to the management. Kasparain checked out immediately, and returned to Washington on the afternoon train.

Rodgers and Nyquist remained here and met Keiter who took them to several interesting places about the county, and they did some sketches, although they told the

Early Bus Terminal Decision Is Urged

In a letter to Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday, John Stewart, president of the Merchandise Mart, Inc., stated that "apparently nothing has been done in regard to the proposed bus terminal in the Footer building and will not be unless a limit of time is given the interested parties."

Mayor Post said the letter will be referred to the city council at its meeting next Monday, stating that he was inclined to feel that the bus interests have not been laggard in announcing their decision since such matters must be considered from a good many angles.

Stewart, referring to the possibility of having a new bus station established in the Footer building to replace the station now located on Frederick street, wrote, "We are reliably informed that the permit the Blue Ridge Transportation Company has, was given them for their own use and to allow the parking of two buses."

"We understand the above company pays a rental for the small 'bus office' they occupy of $100 a month. We are informed that they collect approximately $600 per month from other lines that stop at this 'bus office.' This amount is excessive of the amount they save by operating from their own bus office.

"We are informed by your tax office that neither the C. & W. Transit Company nor the Blue Ridge Transportation Company pays the city any taxes. These companies have been a serious indirect expense to the city due to the necessity of traffic regulations," the letter stated.
